Foolish Kidnaping Idea.
The 5-Day Week.
Sunshine in Wall Street.
The Sherman Law Fetish.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LOS ANGELES reports a plot to kidnap Harry Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, the kidnapers to hold him for ransom. Several men have been arrested.

The would-be kidnapers made a foolish mistake in the selection of a victim. Such a kidnaping would mean a permanent hunt for the criminals, by newspapermen that understand their business, and would mean ultimate detection.

PAUL MAZUR, of the able firm of Lehman Brothers, says the five-day week should be adopted universally, to concentrate working, selling and buying in five days, giving everybody two days to spend what they earn, in health and efficiency. Such a plan, according to Mr. Mazur, would encourage spending and increase buying at least twenty per cent.

THE SLUMP in employment should convince the feeble-minded that keeping out immigration does not "guarantee steady work for everybody in the United States."

To guarantee steady work you need buyers for goods produced, and to increase the buying you must increase the purchasing population.

If this country had 50,000,000 more population of the right kind it would be 50 per cent better off in every way.

WHEN THERE were only 4,000,000 people in the United States, many were idle, many were poor, many were drunken, and only one mechanic in the whole country was able to earn as much as one dollar a day the year round.

THE GREATEST unemployment problem is much improved so far as it affects the deserving Wall Street brokers. For two days in succession the stock market has been cheerful, prices "buoyant."

You may think it makes little difference whether a broker earns one thousand or two thousand dollars in a day.

But, Wall Street is a barometer for prosperity. When the street is happy prosperity often follows.

WALL STREET'S cheerful mood came too late for Bart H. Manning, once vice president of the Union Trust Company in Detroit.

Last Tuesday Manning wrote to an undertaker enclosing "directions for finding my body." He was found in a swamp near the Detroit Country Club, with a bullet near his heart, and soon died.

He is said to have lost $2,000,000 in stock speculation.

IF MEN WOULD buy stocks, carefully selected, of sound value, as they buy real estate, within their means, every intelligent man today could lay the foundation of future independence.

But, in stocks or in real estate, if you gamble, you are gone. Any one of 10 million ghosts that float around the back door of the stock exchange at midnight could tell you that.

IT IS TIME for this country to get rid of its Sherman law fetish and allow great industrial, railroad and other concerns to make combinations in the interest of economy.

Our railroads, lacking apparently the intelligence to meet automobile, motor bus and motor truck competition, are in a bad way, in spite of greatly increased rates.

And the government, living and thinking in 1880, not in 1930, will not permit railroads and industries to get rid of useless overhead, expensive business solicitation and wasteful competition, by combination.

AN EXTRAORDINARY feature of our foolishness is the fact that a Dutch-British concern like "Shell Oil' can operate in the United States on an economical monopoly basis forbidden in the case of an American enterprise.

IT PAYS to improve your city, if the improving is done in even a moderately honest and efficient way.

After a long delay, New York and New Jersey decided to build a vehicle tunnel under the Hudson River.

In three years 31,000,000 automobiles have used the tunnel, paying $15,500,000 in tolls.

THE TUNNEL cost $54,000,000, and is taking in $6,000,000 a year. In 10 years it will pay for itself.

If cities were run by competent business men instead of being run, as is usual, by graft-

EX-STATE TROOPER INDICTED

Capt. T. J. McLaughlin, former commander of Troop A, State Police, at Greensburg, today was indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of evading payment of income taxes on $133,689.19.

McLaughlin's salary as captain was $3,000 a year.

He left the state police last April. Officials at Harrisburg today said McLaughlin had been questioned on expenditures apparently far beyond those justified by his salary.

REFUSES TO EXPLAIN

The former captain was quoted as saying that his financial transactions "were his own business." He was said to have left the service rather than give any financial statement.

Soon after the indictment was handed down, United States Attorney Louis Graham asked that a bench warrant be issued for McLaughlin's arrest. Judge F. P. Schoonmaker made the order and the warrant was placed in the hands of the United States marshal for service.

The indictment charges that McLaughlin failed to pay income tax for the years of 1924 to 1929, inclusive.

The amount of his income for each of these years, according to the indictment, was: $23,046.33, for 1924; $10,706.14, for 1925; $17,278.97, for 1926; $34,164.02, for 1927; $26,678.86, for 1928, and $21,814.87, for 1929, a total of $133,689.19.

NINE COUNTS

The indictment contains nine counts, three for failing to file income tax reports for 1927-8-9, and six for attempting to evade payment of taxes from 1925 to 1929, inclusive.

Capt. McLaughlin was said to have recently filed belated tax returns with the collector of internal revenue, and to have paid more than $10,000 in taxes and penalties. The indictment followed an investigation by the intelligence unit of the Treasury Department.

Army, Navy To Play for Jobless

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—A football game between the Army and Navy academies, to be played December 13 for the benefit of the nation's unemployed, was arranged definitely today after an exchange of telegrams between Maj. Gen. William R. Smith and Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendents of the two service schools.

The game will be played in New York, probably in Yankee Stadium, which will accommodate the largest crowd possible in that city.

Details will be worked out by the respective athletic departments of the two schools in the next few weeks.

The meeting of the teams probably means a resumption of football relations which were broken two years ago because of a dispute over eligibility rules. Even though there is nothing of a per-

Singer, Canzoneri Both Under Weight

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Al Singer, world lightweight champion, who will defend his laurels tonight against Tony Canzoneri in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden, scaled in at 134 pounds today, a pound under the class limit. Canzoneri weighed 132.

Singer ruled a 2-1 favorite to win.

DUKES, BUCKNELL STAGE WORKOUTS

Two College football squads drilled here today for their week-end clashes tomorrow.

While the Duquesne University Dukes were putting in their final practice licks on the Bluff field for their crucial tilt with Geneva College at Beaver Falls, the Bucknell University squad, of Lewisburg, Pa., was going through its limbering-up paces at the Stadium.

COLUMBUS AWAITS PITT

By Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—Fair skies and Indian summer atmosphere greeted the early arrivals for the Pitt-Ohio State football game here today. The football game is an event of tomorrow, and, if today's weather holds out, a crowd of better than 50,000 is almost certain to attend the festivities.

Coach Sam Willaman called the final secret practice prior to the game for the Buckeye warriors for this afternoon, and all newspapermen, both local and foreign, have been barred.

MT. LEBANON SCHOOL DAUBED BY RIVALS

Rivalry between Mt. Lebanon and Dormont high schools, which has attained a high pitch over the annual gridiron skirmish between the two football teams this afternoon, brought an army of Dormont supporters to the Mt. Lebanon school last night—armed with red paint.

The sidewalks and walls of the Mt. Lebanon building accordingly were decorated with the customary "Beat Mt. Lebanon," "Dormont Will Win" and other similar slogans. This aroused the Mt. Lebanon principal, who notified the Dormont principal.

So the Dormont school head asked the guilty to volunteer to cleanse the Mt. Lebanon school, but the culprits ignored the request. The Four-and-a-Half-Year Club, of the Dormont High School, volunteered to wash the scarlet stains from the Mt. Lebanon, and early this afternoon several students, armed with gasoline, mops, brushes and soap, were busy, hampered to some extent by the jeers of the Mt. Lebanon student body.

Students of both schools are now seeking the artists who decorated the building.

DAVIS WILL CONSULT VARE ON PATRONAGE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—William S. Vare, nominal Philadelphia G. O. P. chieftain, will be consulted by Senator-elect James J. Davis concerning ferderal patronage of Philadelphia and vicinity, according to reports in political circles here today.

Two federal posts of more than passing importance, the naming of a new postmaster and the appointment of U. S. district attorney for the Eastern Pennsylvania district, are at stake. These posts have been vacant for some time and Vare is expected immediately to suggest applications for the positions after Davis takes the post next month.

World-Wide Rioting Flares

Disorders, riots, intrigues, threats of revolution and war upset a large portion of the world today, these events being outstanding in the foreign news.

JAPAN—Premier Yugo Hamaguchi was near death from an assassin's bullet.

SPAIN—Labor riots threw Madrid into turmoil and caused many casualties. Cavalrymen with slashing sabres dispersed crowds demanding establishment of a republic.

CUBA—Troops kept Havana quiet after fatal student riot and the suspension of the constitution by President Machado.

PERU—Americans had fled the scene of rioting which cost the lives of 15 persons.

INDIA—"Civil disobedience" continued as hopes of immediate dominion status were blasted at the London round table conference.

RUMANIA—A plot by political opponents to blow up a great assembly of Masons failed through improper timing of two bombs.

Several peasant villages have been completely wiped out by Soviet artillery fire, according to travelers arriving from Moscow. Numerous peasants suspected of complicity in the revoldt have been executed by firing squads, while others have been deported.

Armored troop trains were reported en route from Moscow to the scene of the disorders.

SMOOT TO OPPOSE CONTINUED TAX CUT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Chairman Smoot, of the Senate Finance Committee, today announced he would oppose any effort to continue for another year the emergency income tax reduction granted last year.

Senator Smoot, whose voice goes a long way in fiscal affairs, asserted that a continuation of the tax cut would mean a treasury deficit and he added "the country will not stand for it."

Although President Hoover and Secretary Mellon last summer expressed confidence that the tax cut could be continued next year, the pessimistic attitude of Senator Smoot and Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, also a member of the Finance Committee, is believed at the Capitol to foreshadow a recommendation by the administration against continuing the one-half per cent rate of tax on incomes, which was in effect this year.

$652,000 PLEDGED TO WELFARE FUND

With more than 40 per cent of the total amount raised, the 8,000 volunteer workers of the Welfare Fund continue their work today. Reports received at fund headquarters from workers in all parts of the county indicate that generous contributions will continue.

At the third day's report luncheon today $652,660.95 was reported raised in the campaign for $1,520,248. The day's total was $70,405.25. The drive will continue until November 25.

It was announced that Donahoe's Fifth avenue store will contribute 3 per cent of all sales next week. This amount will reach about $3,000 and in addition the store employes will make personal contributions.

Employes of the Peoples Natural Gas Company contributed 100 per cent, giving a total of $1,900, as compared with $950 last year, it was announced. The Mellon Institute of Industrial Re-

TROLLEY COMPANY CHARGED WITH FORCING USE OF BUSES

STREET CAR SERVICE CUT ASSAILED

Schedule Reduced to Give High-Fare Vehicles Trade, Shadyside Residents Aver

Residents of Shadyside district are protesting an alleged attempt by the Pittsburgh Railways Company to discourage use of trolley cars in favor of motor coach travel at three times the fare.

City-bound buses are now operating during the rush hour more frequently than trolley cars, they assert. The coach fare is 25 cents compared with three fares for a quarter on the trolley, or a weekly pass at $1.50.

CHECKUP SUBSTANTIATES

This charge was substantiated through a checkup by a Sun-Telegraph reporter in face of testimony by Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president and general manager of the railways company, in the recent bus fare protest hearing before the Public Service Commission, that the company's plan was to make the buses supplementary rather than competitive.

A Sun-Telegraph reporter checked inbound buses at Ellsworth avenue and Colonial place one morning and found city-bound coaches passing at 8:29, 8:34, 8:41, 8:46, 8:55, 9:03 and 9:09 o'clock. The intervals ranged from five to nine minutes.

FEW STREET CARS

At the same hour a check on trolley cars revealed a train, car and trailer, of line No. 75, Oakland, East Liberty and Wilkinsburg, passing at 8:28, followed by one-man cars at 8:39, 8:49, 8:56, 9:05 and 9:15 a. m. The intervals were from seven to 13 minutes.

A similar check another day at Ellsworth and South Aiken avenues, showed city-bound buses passing at 8:03, 8:09, 8:14, 8:21, 8:24, 8:33, 8:38, 8:46 and 8:56 a. m.

Trolley cars passing the same point were trains at 801, 8:11 and 8:20 a. m. and one-man cars at 8:27, 8:36, 8:51 and 8:55 a. m.

The buses are thus seen to have passed at intervals from three to 10 minutes and trolley cars from four to 15 minutes.

EXCEED SCHEDULE

Inquiry at offices of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company disclosed the official schedule called for operation of buses over this route at intervals of 15 minutes, but the actual operation proved much more frequent. At the Craft avenue car barns the dispatcher's office stated trolley cars were supposed to run on an eight-minute schedule.

Residents along Ellsworth avenue told the Sun-Telegraph they had recently given up travel by trolley and, rather than pay the 25-cent coach fare, which they deemed exorbitant, were walking to the Shadyside or Roup stations of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

search of the University of Pittsburgh doubled last year's donations, giving $500. Capt. L. A McKee, of the Standard Oil Company, reports subscriptions of company employes will more than double last year's.

Additional employe groups reported as organized for the campaign and not previously listed are McCann Company, Sun Oil Company, Taylor & Deane, Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway, American Bridge Company, Carnegie Steel Company, Crucible Steel Company and the Atlantic Refining Company.

PITTSBURGHER SEES SOVIET OVERTHROW

Son of Princess to Join Royalist Revolt; Tells Of Massed Army Waiting

Possibilities of war and details of an intrigue against the Soviet were discussed today by John J. K. Chapel, KQV radio announcer, who said he was preparing to join fellow Russians in New York to hold a council of war.

He says.

Russia is tottering, starving, and ready for a new government, adding:

"We of the Royalist forces are ready. Hundreds of thousands of men, more than anyone outside the party knows, are massed on the Serbian, Bulgarian, Chinese frontiers. They need money and equipment. These will be forthcoming, from rich Russians, from capitalists, from other sources."

Chapel identifies himself as the son of Countess Josephine Coupatvitch Chapel, head of the Russian Authors' League, a national society of Russian royalists purporting to exist for the continuation of Russian culture in the United States. He makes it no secret that the society also keeps members in touch with one another, and seeks friends for their cause.

A cablegram from Col. A. F. Analovitch, one of the leaders of the Royalists in Europe, informed Countess Coupatvitch, Chapel says, of the party's readiness for war. A council of leaders in this country was called. Plans for raising money, for mobilization of the Royalists sojourning here, will be mapped.

Biarritz, France, is the point of principal concentration for the leaders, Chapel says, with the Russian front a gathering place of huge unarmed forces, eager for action. He declares:

"The Russian people have lost faith in the Commune. Starvation, illiteracy, a dictatorship more pitiless than that of the czars, have worn on them.

"I am not a Czarist. I am a democrat, educated in America, drilled at West Point. My family has been militaristic for many generations. My grand father, Gen. A. N. Kuropatkin, whose memoirs I have translated, was a leader of my people for many years.

Mr. Chapel

"We will overthrow Russia. It may mean another World War, it may mean infinite hardship for us, but this time we will win. The time is ripe, or nearly ripe."

STATE G.O.P. WOMEN ELECT

Miss O'Hara Is President; Wife of Pinchot Not Included in Directors

HARRISBURG, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women closed today with the unanimous re-election of Miss S. M. R. O'Hara, Wilkes-Barre, a deputy attorney general, as president.

Among directors re-elected was Mrs. J. Willis Martin, of Philadelphia, who opposed the election of Gifford Pinchot, the Republican gubernatorial nominee. Mrs. Martin, one of the organizers of the council, it was learned, had recently submitted her resignation from the board of directors, but the other members refused to accept it.

MRS. MARTIN CHEERED

There was no comment on the situation when her name was placed in nomination, but it was greeted with applause. Mrs. Martin did not attend this year's sessions of the organization.

Mrs. Pinchot, the wife of the governor-elect and active during the first Pinchot administration in affairs of the council, was not included among the directors elected. She was dropped from the board last year.

A prediction that the Republican party would regain the ground lost in the recent election was made last night by Vice President Curtis in an address at the annual banquet.

Mr. Curtis declared:

"All of us are greatly surprised at the reversal of public opinion in the recent election, which was brought about by the business depression and loss of confidence and it will take the united efforts of the men and women of the entire country to restore confidence, but when this confidence is restored, as it will be, our party will regain the ground lost November 4, 1930."

WORLD-WIDE UPHEAVAL

Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, Republican national chairman, said the Democratic victories at the polls were the result of the general world-wide political upheaval. The upheaval represented an accumulation of conditions, economic and otherwise, which were outside presidential control. He added:

"President Hoover in two years has had more bad breaks than any other man in the history of the United States and there is no man who wants to do more for his country than our President."

Turning his remarks to the position of women in government in this country, Mr. Curtis said no evolution in human history was more important than the expansion of the powers and privileges of modern women.

RESOLUTION BEATEN

A resolution favoring legislation to require signing the voting list before voting was defeated by the assemblage following speeches opposing it by several leaders of the council, including Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Republican national committeewoman; Mrs. Charles F. Etter, vice chairman of the Republican state committee, and Mrs. Hannah M. Durham, Allentown, a retiring vice president.

All other resolutions submitted including one drafted at the last minute as "a courtesy to Governor-elect Pinchot, embodying his platform declaration for abolition of the transfer inheritance tax on estates of less than $10,000," were approved.

In addition to Miss O'Hara, other officers elected, all without opposition, included: First vice president, Mrs. Scranton, and fourth vice president, Mrs. Clifton A. Verner, Pittsburgh.

HOODLUMS BEAT PATROLMAN

Beaten unconscious by a band of hoodlums who attacked him at Lorigan and Edmond streets early today, Patrolman Alphonse Paccella, 29, of 436 Pearl street, was rolled down an embankment into Junction Hollow, where he was found three hours later by a brother officer.

Paccella is in West Penn Hospital suffering from severe bruises of the arms and body and lacerations of the face and head. Jacob McCausland, 22, of 6617 Rowan street, arrested as a suspect, was taken to Paccella's bedside, and, police at the Forty-third street station say, was identified as one of the men who attacked the officer.

Patrolman Paccella was returning to his home in the Bloomfield district early today after work when he passed a half dozen young men standing on the corner, he reported. They were disorderly, he said, and he requested them to change their conduct.

As he turned to leave, Paccella reported, he was knocked down by the men. His mace and revolver were stolen and while, he was lying on the pavement, the men continued to kick and beat him. He was then rolled over the hillside where he was found three hours later by Patrolman Frank Waite.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Now that the Army and Navy have agreed to meet in football game here December 13, New York finds itself with two benefit contests scheduled for the same day.

Both the Polo Grounds and the Yankee Stadium would be available, but to avoid staging the two games as competing attractions those in charge of unemployment relief here are expected to attempt to shift the all-star game to another date.

DO-X OVERDUE IN FRANCE

frankly worried when the giant seaplane failed to put in an appearance.

The ship had been unreported in French stations since she passed above Douarnenez this afternoon.

Experts were certain that in the calm weather prevailing, the DO-X could safely alight at several points along the Atlantic seaboard and be perfectly secure until sunrise.

The official launch conveying Mayor Marquet, of Bordeaux, and an official welcoming party returned to Bordeaux from Gauriac where the plane was to land. Hope was given up that the DO-X could reach the Gironde estuary this evening.

The chief harbormaster of Bordeaux had raised hope that the ship had landed at St. Nazaire, but a telephone call directly to that port, 190 miles north of Bordeaux, brought the information that there was no news of the DO-X there.

DUE AT 7 P. M.

The ship was exected to arrive here about 7 p. m. (2 p. m. eastern standard time).

The air ministry warned all coastal radio stations and semaphores to watch out for the passage of the DO-X and endeavor to give it aid if necessary.

The German seaplane, en route here, earlier had asked permission to alight at Hourtin Pond because of the coming of darkness.

Hourtin Pond is about 35 miles northwest of Bordeaux.

The message from the DO-X was received from the radio station at Bouscat and read:

"Ask for authority for us to alight at Hourtin Pond. We are late."

It was signed by the commander of the ship, but did not give her position.

PREPARE FOR PLAN

The commanding officer at Hourtin Pond, which is a large body of water just off the French coast, informed The Associated Press that authorization for the DO-X to land there had been received this morning from the French air minister. Apparently the commander of the DO-X did not know of this.

The commander of seaplane base at the pond immediately gave instructions that a launch with a powerful searchlight cruise the pond, directing its light so as to show the surface of the water.

DO-X BRAVES FOG

CALSHOT, Southampton, England, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Braving a heavy fog over the English Channel, the giant German flying boat DO-X hopped off from here today for Bordeaux, France, on the third leg of a projected flight to New York.

The start was made at 11:45 a. m. (6:45 a. m. eastern standard time), after the 12-motored plane had made several unsuccessful attempts to rise from the water.

There were 12 passengers aboard in addition to the regular crew. A large crowd gathered and witnessed the take-off.

During the early morning it seemed unlikely the DO-X would be able to make the jump to Bordeaux today because of the fog, but Commander Friedrich Christiansen decided that conditions were sufficiently favorable.

EX-CONFIDANTE TO SUE CLARA

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 14.—(INS.)—As the aftermath of the row between Clara Bow, film actress, and her former companion and secretary, Daisy Devoe, the latter today said her attorney was preparing to file a number of suits for damages.

Miss Bow said she discharged Miss Devoe for "personal reasons," but declined to say what they were.

The first suit, according to Miss Devoe's attorney, will be directed against the district attorney's office in an effort to regain some of Miss Devoe's personal property.

A second action may be filed against Rex Bell, described by Miss Devoe as "Clara's new boy friend"—and a third will be against Miss Bow herself.

Miss Devoe stated that officers from the district attorney's office compelled her to open her safety deposit box in a Hollywood bank and, despite her protests, removed and took possession of her property, including jewelry, cash and a number of documents. She said she had been unable to regain possession of the property.

Tragedy of Andree Balloon Shown in Film Due Here

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Fresh light on the cause of disaster which overtook the aerial Polar expedition of Salomon Auguste Andree and his companions 33 years ago was shed when 20 photograph films taken by the explorers were successfully developed, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen.

One film, taken immediately after the landing of the Andree balloon, shows unmistakably that the the descent of the craft was caused by loss of gas and the weight of ice and snow which had accumulated on the balloon cover, the dispatch said.

The remains of Andree and his two companions, discovered on White Island last August, were recently brought back to Norway for interment.

Coolidge Sees Danger In Sherman Act Change

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 14.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Every little while it is claimed that old economic principles are outgrown and do not fit modern conditions of trade. Recently that was constantly asserted about business. The past few months have shown the contention was untrue.

Calvin Coolidge

Now it is proposed to stimulate business by modifying the Sherman anti-trust law. That statute is little more than a codification of the common law, which resulted from centuries of bitter commercial experience. Its object is mainly to prevent those conspiracies in restraint of trade, commonly called monopolies, which always have in them an element injurious to the public welfare. Otherwise no legal monopoly exists.

If monopolies were permitted a few men in key positions would soon control our economic and probably our political destinies. Open opportunity would be gone. About the only remedy would be a revolution. The alternative would be a rigorous and blighting government control.

Present conditions are far from perfect but the rule against monopolies is sound. If we need conservation of natural resources, let it be secured in less hazardous ways. A bill to amend the Sherman law in one particular is certain to produce all kinds of modifications. It is a dangerous proposal.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

STATE TO JOIN POWER FIGHT

HARRISBURG, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—The commonwealth of Pennsylvania will seek to intervene in the Clarion River Power Company suit, brought to test the authority of the Federal Power Commission, Attorney General William A. Schnader announced here today, through a petition filed with the Supreme Court in the District of Columbia.

The action was decided upon, Schnader announced, after a conference with Gov. Fisher.

The case, the attorney general said, is important since it challenges the federal commission's power to fix the value of the Clarion River Company's property and under the federal water power act the state can purchase the property after a lapse of 50 years.

The Clarion River Company filed a certificate valuing its properties at $11,000,000 and the commission reduced the valuation nearly $6,000,000.

ing and ignorant politicians, taxes would be cut down 50 per cent and more; prosperity and values would increase gigantically.

THE BRITISH are interested in the amount of money this country spends for drink and think it may have something to do with our prosperity slump.

Prohibition authorities believe that the United States is now spending two billion eight hundred and forty-eight million dollars a year for drink, whereas in 1913 the country spent only one billion eight hundred and seventeen millions.

That is an increase of a thousand million dollars a year under prohibition.

AND WORSE than this spending of money, is the fact that the two billions eight hundred and forty-eight millions are spent for poisonous whisky, and the money goes to build up a gigantic crime organization.

BRITAIN HAS a race problem that will interest the South.

The British Kenya colony in East Africa contains 2,500 British white settlers and 1,000 times as many, 2,500,000, black inhabitants, also British subjects.

The 2,500 whites demand the right to run the country, and, of course, by hook or by crook, they will have that right.

Britain's Labor government talks moral platitudes, but to let the 2,500,000 blacks rule would drive out the 2,500 whites, and there would be nobody to hire the blacks and help them to escape from savagery.

SOLDIERS END CUBAN RIOTS

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Havana's normal atmosphere of peace had returned today after the series of student disorders which resulted yesterday in suspension of the constitution for the city and the establishment of martial law.

Troops patrolled the streets, challenging suspicious persons and forbidding public gatherings, but since 10 o'clock last night, when a 14-year-old boy was fatally wounded, the situation has been extremely quiet.

Physicians reported improvement in the condition of Arturo Tagle y Soria, a relative of former President Menocal, who was wounded last night when police dispersed a band of students. His chances for recovery appeared excellent, and the American consul was permitted to take a deposition from the patient.

No disorders of any kind were reported today, and the government was confident the situation would be cleared within a day or two.

BILL WOULD BAN SHORT SESSIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Efforts to secure congressional approval of the Norris resolution to eliminate short sessions of Congress and permit newly-elected members to take their seats two months after election are to be made at the December session.

Representative Cochran (Dem.), Missouri, today said sentiment for the measure was growing. It should be enacted, he said, at the coming session.

The Missourian noted that about 70 members of the present Congress would drop out next March 4 as a result of defeats in the November elections and the primaries, while their successors will not be seated until December, 1931.

The Norris resolution has received Senate approval several times, but has met defeat in the House. At present, it is before a House committee. It would provide that the president and vice president take office January 12 instead of March 4, while senators and representatives would be seated January 2, following elections.

VETERAN LEAPS TO DEATH

Having placed his hat, cane and checkbook on the floor of the Ninth Street Bridge, Cadwalader Patton, 88, climbed to the rail and jumped into the Allegheny River before pedestrians could balk him today.

The aged man, a Civil War veteran, struggled in the water until Patrolmen Sylvester Stoehr, John Hooper and Louis Dribbs reached him in a rowboat. He was dead when the officers took him to the Allegheny General Hospital.

Mr. Patton had resided in Monongahela, but more recently had made his home on the North Side. His daughter, Mrs. James A. McKay, said he had made his home at 320 Cedar avenue.

Patton retired from business several years ago. He received a pension for his war services.

Aside from his daughter, Mr. Patton leaves two sons, Detective Lieut. Robert Patton and William Patton, of Pittsburgh.

Christmas Clubs Show Thrift of 11 Million Ants

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Here's an umbrella for a rainy day.

Banks will distribute six hundred million dollars in Christmas club savings.

Wall Street published a terrific squawk last year because our savings banks refused to join its panic.

But when Wall Street hears about this six hundred million it will polish up its grappling hooks and mend its butterfly nets.

It's the old story of the ant and the grasshoppers. The grasshoppers ate on margin while the ant bit outright.

When winter came the ant had six hundred million picnic plates put away.

All the grasshopper had was a picture of a derby hat floating on the surface of the river. His broker was still wearing the hat.

As we say in the suburbs, he that hath shall receive. And he that hath not shall have a receiver.

Eleven million ants saved up that six hundred million. An average of fifty-four dollars per.

That six hundred million must be handled with a pitchfork now. But it was saved at the rate of a teaspoonful every day.

It will go back into circulation inside of five weeks. And when you reach for a handful of turkey feathers this Thanksgiving, remember Irene Franklin's old song:

"You can't get anywhere with a wishbone where your backbone ought to be."

ARRANGE RITES FOR PLAYFORDS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 14.—Over five coffins, each containing a member of the R. W. Playford family, wiped out yesterday by the crazed husband and father, the Rev. Donald Kent Johnston, rector of the St. Peter's Episcopal Church, tomorrow afternoon will hold services in the home.

The bodies were removed from the morgue to the Playford mansion in Oakland avenue today, where friends of the two families assembled.

The funeral arrangements were made after the arrival from Baltimore of Charles Playford, brother of R. W. Playford, and Campbell and Mathiot Stirling, brothers of Mrs. Playford.

There was some talk of taking Mrs. Playford's body to Baltimore, but it was decided that the five bodies should rest beside another child in Oak Grove Cemetery.

At an inquest today, a coroner's jury found that Playford had killed his family and died of a self-inflicted wound.

FANATIC SHOOTS TOKIO PREMIER

By JAMES R. YOUNG.

TOKIO, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—With an assassin's bullet in his abdomen, Premier Yugo Hamaguchi, of Japan, battled bravely for his life today.

Hours after he was shot down by a young political fanatic while ascending the steps of the Tokio railway station, the Premier's life still hung in the balance, with physicians unable to predict whether he would recover.

Premier Hamaguchi was shot by a 23-year-old youth, who gave his name as Tomeo Sakyo, and said he came from Nagasaki. He was believed to have been employed by the prefecture there. Sakyo was a member of the Aikokusha (Love of Country Association), a reactionary patriotic organization.

The Premier had just reached the head of the railroad station stairway, accompanied by his secretary, Foreign Minister Shidehara and other members of his political party, when Sakyo fired.

Sakyo was seized immediately and taken to the police station, where he readily confessed the crime.

This was the second attempt made upon Premier Hamaguchi's life since he took office July 2, crime, but gave no motive.

Sets Age of Earth By Test on Mineral

Prof. Kovarik announced he has developed a formula for determining the age of minerals containing radioactive elements, and by applying this forumla to uraninite was able to calculate its age.

FREE MEDICAL SERVICE FOR NEEDY

Helping Hand Society Adds Aid for Jobless; Street Begging Held Unnecessary

The Helping Hand Society at 439 Water street, organized several weeks ago to give food and lodging to needy persons, has added another aid to their routine assistance. A medical unit was installed at the instigation of Dr. C. B. Schildecker, of the staff of West Penn Hospital.

A room has been partitioned off the main room on the first floor, and equipment necessary for giving first aid and emergency medical attention has been installed.

The clinic is open daily from 7 to 9 p. m. During this period Dr. Schildecker has arranged to have two doctors and two nurses there to examine and attend lodgers who need medical aid. The doctors are from city hospitals and include internes and established physicians. The services are free.

When patients need further medical attention, or are suffering enough to demand further aid, they are assigned to some city hospital.

Equipment for the medical service has been donated by drug companies, organizations and medical supply companies.

NO SOLICITING

It has been reported that unauthorized persons have been operating in several sections of the city, notably in Oakland and East Liberty, asking funds for the society, which, according to officials, does not solicit for its work.

Harry I. Miller, secretary, said the society is housing more than 1,000 persons a night, and feeding 2,000 daily, with facilities for furnishing food to 5,000. He called attention to an order given police by Mayor Charles H. Kline, Safety Director James M. Clark and Supt. Peter P. Walsh to arrest panhandlers on the streets.

Mr. Miller said:

"Street begging in Pittsburgh is unnecessary. The Helping Hand Society and other welfare agencies are thoroughly equipped to care for all emergency cases where food and lodging are needed."

The people of Pittsburgh are asked to report anyone soliciting for the Helping Hand, for when it becomes necessary to solicit, if it ever does, the public will be given notice to that effect.

PRIEST'S FUND HELPS MANY

Quick response by business leaders of Pittsburgh to the request for aid by his relief campaign was lauded today by Father Cox. Hundreds of needy are being given food and clothing each day at the headquarters of the campaign in the basement of Old St. Patrick's Church, Seventeenth street and Liberty avenue.

Only one salary is connected with the campaign, that being a man employed in the kitchen. A quantity of clothing has been given to needy persons.

U. S. INDICTS 28 MORE OVER RUM

The federal grand jury continued investigations of illegal liquor traffic and returned 24 more indictments in which 28 persons were charged with violations of the national prohibition act, making a total of 43 indictments, naming 58 defendants, in two days. United States Attorney Louis E. Graham is personally presenting the casts for investigation.

Among those indicted was Don Collins, alleged to have sold a pint of whisky on May 4 and another May 8. Both sales were said to have been made on the Showboat, Allegheny River, foot of Sixth street, to prohibition agents. The boat was shortly afterwards raided by Harold D. (Three Gun) Wilson, assistant administrator.

One indictment charged Thomas Brennen and Martin Aubele with operating the Owls Club, Merchant street, Ambridge, as a nuisance.

Kin Best Friends, Will Snubs 'Reds'

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The will of Charlotte S. Weiss, spinster, who died at 60, records a change of mind toward intellectual radicals, as she called them. The document sets forth that in a former will she executed trust funds for the I. W. W. Anarchists, Communists, Socialists and Pacifists, but has found relatives were her true friends, and therefore she was leaving the radical element little. Her estate is valued at $160,000.

BAKER MURDER STORY DOUBTED

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Police and county officers said Harry Allard, 24, confessed here he was the slayer of Mary Baker, clerk in the naval offices at Washington, D. C., whose murder last April 12 has not been solved.

However, the officers put little faith in the verbal confession, believing Allard was only trying to stave off going to prison in this state for five years for theft of an automobile, and a possible additional sentence of five years for having a gun in his possession in the Schenectady county jail here.

This is the second murder they said Allard had confessed.

FIGHT BEQUEST TO SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Charging their brother was influenced by his secretary to leave her the residue of his $350,000 estate, estimated to be worth $300,000, Mrs. Emma G. S. Grove, Williamsport, Pa., and Mrs. Grace W. S. Yount, Norristown, Pa., today petitioned District Supreme Court for permission to contest the will.

George B. Schadmann, the brother, head of a preparatory school for boys here, died September 21. His will named the secretary, Miss Katherine R. Pike, and George White executors.

The will bequeathed Mrs. Grove $12,000 and Mrs. Yount $3,000 and $1,000 for each of her children. Other bequests were: Raymond A. Schadmann, brother, Emporia, Pa., $10,000; Harry D. Schadmann, Waterloo, Ia., brother, $2,000; two nephews, $2,500 each; $200 to each of Harry's children.

Blast, Injury End Colorado Oil Test

GREELEY, Colo., Nov. 10.—(INS.)—There is no doubt about the inflammability, volatility and explosiveness of crude oil found in the new Weld County oil well near Cornish, Colo.

Oliver N. Seneschal, owner of the light plant at Briggsdale, Colo. experimented with the oil and qualities. It exploded, burning his hands and face and setting his clothes on fire.

LEAGUE FIGHTS ANNEXATION BY FORCE

Boroughs-Townships-Cities Group Elects, Adopts Motions at Sessions Here

About 280 officials of municipalities of the county attended the dinner last night in the Fort Pitt Hotel of the League of Boroughs, Townships and Third-class Cities of Allegheny County.

The slate of new officers, headed by Joseph T. Miller, of Edgewood, as president, was elected and a series of motions expected to strengthen the power and broaden the scope of the organization were adopted unanimously. One of these was designed to frustrate forcible annexation. The Metropolitan consolidation plan was not discussed.

OTHER OFFICERS

Aside from Miller, who is father of the metropolitan plan being sponsored by the organization, other officers are George Monroe, Wilmerding, treasurer, and James A. Fulton and Enoch Pitts, McKeesport; J. O. Jones, North Braddock; A. L. Humphrey, Edgewood; W. F. Pugsley, Wilmerding; S. A. Taylor, Wilkinsburg; Horace Crider, Munhall; H. N. Michael, Homestead; J. S. Crawford, Duquesne; S. J. Wilson, Clairton; W. E. Armstrong, Baldwin Township; W. E. Best, Dormont; John Rebman, Jr., Crafton; S. C. Lampe, Greentree; C. W. Scheck, Mt. Lebanon; E. A. Sefler, McKees Rocks; M. C. Smith, Shaler Township; C. P. Howe, Tarentum; D. L. Starr, Bellevue, and Charles A. Woods, Sr., Sewickley, vice presidents.

TO FIGHT ANNEXATION

The first motion dealt with a decision to oppose and defeat any measures of forcible annexation; to procure enactment of legislation to prevent piecemeal annexation of one municipality by another unless with the consent of the majority of the voters in the municipality affected; to act as a clearing house for measures desired by the municipalities outside Pittsburgh; to help in the procuring of the legislation their needs require, and to co-operate with the state associations of boroughs, cities of the third class and of townships of the first and second classes as the executive committee of the league may direct, and as recommended by the county branches of the organizations.

Another motion adopted was one in which the organization thanked Senator Herman P. Brandt for the bill he introduced in the Legislature to preserve the integrity of the boroughs and townships. The motion states that it is hoped Senator Brandt will introduce his bill at the next session.

In the final motion it was asked that:

"Since it has been decided to continue the league and its work, that the league shall call upon the municipalities of the county to contribute to the financial support of the league."

RELIEVE NEEDY IN WILKINSBURG

Headquarters for the distribution of relief to the needy and unemployed in Wilkinsburg have been opened in that borough by business men, civic leaders and representatives of veterans' organizations. It is planned to raise money within the various organizations making up the relief body.

The organization was formed Wednesday night and Burgess William M. Turner was named president. Samuel Mawhinney is vice president; Barton W. Stear, treasurer, and George Rankin, Jr., treasurer.

Sun-Telegraph Doll Lady Introducing 'Tickletoes'

Dear Little Girls:

If you knew how many letters I had to write today in response to the coupons and notes my little girl friends have sent to me you'd be amazed. It looks as though every little girl in Pittsburgh and vicinity wants one of my "Tickletoes" wonder dolls. Thank goodness, I have a big supply on hand and there will not be a single disappointment.

All the little girls who have seen "Tickletoes" can't resist loving her, and naturally they would love her because she's so life-like, and what little girl doesn't love a real live baby? She is the happiest doll you ever saw, dressed elegantly in pink organdie with real stockings, cute little moccasins, rubber panties and a darling cap with lace ribbons on it. Her legs and arms are of rubber and her soft little toes and fingers are just like a real live baby's. She is unbreakable and has three different voices and is 21 inches tall—just about as long as this newspaper page.

Now, little girls, let me hear from you. Lovable "Tickletoes" is going to be very easy to get and with just a very little effort you can have her all for your very own long before Christmas. I am not asking so much that there is any little girl who can't do it. In fact, I am making it very easy for you to get a "Tickletoes"—to love and to keep.

Don't delay! Write today to the SUN-TELEGRAPH DOLL LADY.

GRID BUS LOADS PROTESTED

Officials of the Monongahela Valley Bus Company yesterday attempted to refute allegations of the Pittsburgh Railways Company that in transporting three bus loads of Olympic football team rooters from McKeesport to West View, September 28 last, the bus company violated its certificate as a common carrier.

Commissioner Charles A. Young, of the Public Service Commission, heard the railways company complaint, but decision was reserved. Witnesses for the railways company testified they shadowed the three big loads on the day in question, because of advertisements that rooters would be carried from McKeesport to West View for $1 a round trip.

President Albert Wilson, of the Valley Bus Company, testified that he had chartered six buses to F. M. Iverson, manager of the Olympics, to transport the party, but only three buses were filled.

The railways company claimed it has a direct route. Attorney H. M. Jones, representing Wilson, asserted that there is no direct route from McKeesport to West View. It was claimed by the bus people that riding on street cars necessitated a change of cars, with patrons compelled to walk four blocks.

As a result of a complaint by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company that August Bamford & Brothers were carrying passengers to points out of Homestead without a certificate of operation, the defendants agreed to stop the practice. Commissioner Young heard the complaint.

BURRESS HEADS KIWANIANS

Officers and directors were named at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club, of Pittsburgh, in the Fort Pitt Hotel yesterday. The speaker was Holtly Myers, of Los Angeles, president of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations. Officers elected were:

President, William F. Burress; vice president, Alfred H. Meyers; treasurer, William L. Phipps; secretary, Ed Kliment; district trustee, Edward E. Ludwig; directors, James W. Bamford, James C. Bingham, Leonard N. Brooks, P. A. Freyvogle and Arthur M. Tanner.

Rival Grid Teams Feted by Kiwanis

Football squads, cheer leaders and coaches of the Dormont and Mt. Lebanon High School teams were guests of honor yesterday at a dinner of the South Hills Kiwanis Club in the United Lutheran Church, Mt. Lebanon. The two teams meet in their annual game this afternoon on the field of the Mt. Lebanon High. Dr. H. C. McKown, of the University of Pittsburgh, spoke on "Cooperation." Clarence Grass, of Dormont High, was toastmaster. N. H. Tressler, vice president of the Kiwanis Club, presided.

NEWARK PLANS BULLFIGHT

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The Newark Ledger says the first bullfight to be held in the United States will take place here November 30, according to an announcement made by Dave MacKay, Newark promoter.

Sydney Franklin, of Brooklyn, who has achieved a wide reputation in Spain as a toreador, will make his first American appearance at the event. Four blooded fighting bulls will be imported from Madrid for the occasion, and two Spanish matadors have also been engaged.

A bull ring, 150 feet in diameter, will be built in the Newark baseball park for the event.

The Ledger says there is no state law to prohibit the fight, and that it has been sanctioned by the city authorities.

SUES FOR SHARE IN ESTATE

Alleging he was victim of a scheme to defraud him of his property and a share in the estate of his wife, the late Mrs. Mary Jane Wilwohl, who lived at 802 Maryland avenue, a petition was filed in Common Pleas Court by George Wilwohl, 353 Spahr street, seeking to vacate a decree of feme sole trader.

The petition, filed by Attorney Oliver K. Eaton, charged Mrs. Wilwohl obtained a decree as a femme sole trader November 7, 1923, without the knowledge of Wilwohl or legal service of notice upon him. Wilwohl averred he had been driven from home by the conduct of his wife.

The femme sole decree was fraudulently obtained and was invalid, according to Wilwohl.

The petition recited that under Mrs. Wilwohl's will $1,000 each was left to three sons, George F., Edward and Raymond, with the residue in trust for two minor sons, Herbert and John Albert, until they reach 30, and that Aaron Seligsohn was left her personal effects.

Mr. Chesterton will be accompanied by his wife and a secretary, according to Dr. Carroll.

OIL SHALE LAW RULE URGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Suggestions for clarification of laws governing the oil shale reserves have been transmitted to congressional committees by Secretary Wilbur.

The administrative position of the department, the secretary explained, has been difficult since a recent decision by the United States Supreme Court.

To clarify the position, particularly with reference to claims to 1,500,000 acres of shale oil lands which the government has challenged, suggestions were forwarded without recommendation to chairmen of the Public Lands Committees of the Senate and the House.

It was suggested that Congress specifically state that the general leasing act changed the policy of the mining laws and that a claim is subject to forefiture to the government for failure to perform annual assessment work.

RICHMAN BROTHERS
221-225 FIFTH AVENUE

It's the Richman Spirit

True, we have the largest and most efficient clothing manufacturing plant in America ... True, we have a factory to wearer system of selling, without middlemen's profits ... True, our vast purchasing power enables us to buy better woolens for lower prices ... but ...

Unless you know the Richman Spirit, and what it means to you, you do not know the most important feature of Richman Brothers.

The Richman Spirit is the electric motive power of the great Richman organization .... It is a definite, living force that manifests itself in the form of contented worker-partners, smooth team work and a whole-souled devotion to the task of producing fine clothing.

The Richman Spirit takes material form in an industrial democracy, in which every worker is a stockholder. Every worker's interest in the Richman product and the Richman future is identical with that of the president or chairman of the board.

That explains why conventional adjectives like "quality", "smartness", "value", simply cannot do adequate justice to Richman Brothers. The truth is that Richman Clothes are incomparable, for they are in a class entirely by themselves ... like the incomparable organization that stands behind them.

Overcoat Suggestions

Our blue overcoats lead in popular favor ... Blue Meltons of fine Australian wool, fast indigo dyed ... double breasted box back models and slightly fitted velvet collar styles in sizes to fit all figures ... tall, short, slender, stout or regular. A splendid selection, too, in Oxford, medium and light grays .... Scotch tweeds .... fancy mixtures .... and the popular 100% Camel Hair and Alpaca overcoats. In fact, we can fit any man or young man in a pleasing choice of style, fabric and color.

XTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS UNLIKELY

oover Receives Democratic Assurance Appropriation Bills Not to Be Blocked

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Despite fresh signs f Democratic restiveness un- er the non-obstruction pledge f party leaders, it appeared oday there would be no organed effort at the December erm of Congress to force an xtra session in the spring.

President Hoover announced reipt of assurance yesterday from aders in the Senate of both pares that no effort to block the nnual appropriation bills would e countenanced. Upon these easures operation of the government depends and if their pasage were prevented by filibusterng, the new Congress would have o be called into session.

ILIBUSTER DOUBTFUL

The Democratic willingness to o-operate left only the Western epublican independents uncomitted. Senator Brookhart (Rep.), f Iowa, is one of those who has roposed an extra session, but ithout Democratic support the ndependent group would have a ard time putting over a successul filibuster.

Disposal of this first hazard to he administration program for he short session left the President ree to lay plans to attack another bstacle—the conference deadlock ver the Muscle Shoals legislation. A compromise between the Norris roposal for government operaion of the Alabama nitrate and ower plant which the Senate aproved, and the House plan for easing it to private interests, is hoped for by some. The Republian Independents plan to insist pon action, and word has been taken to the President that the question requires serious thought.

RANKIN RAISES PROTEST

Another objection to the cooperation pledge recently issued by seven outstanding Democrats was voiced last night by a House member of the party, Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, who demanded that instead of supporting the administration the Democrats "militantly strive to reverse the Hoover policy."

Dr. Cain died October 18, leaving a $500,000 estate. Mitzi was bequeathed $15,000 cash and Dr. Cain's San Gabriel home "for the purpose of providing upon said premises a home and proper care for my cat Mitzi."

Mrs. Pauline Agnes Goetze will receive $25 monthly while she lives in the house and cares for the cat.

WORK IN STATE INCREASED

Although the trend of manufacturing activity and employment is slightly irregular in some industries of Pennsylvania, the report of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, released today, shows improvement in many industries during the past month.

According to the report, the construction of steel barges and river towboats remained brisk. Many furloughed workers in the New Castle pottery industry were recalled to work during the past month. One of the greatest improvements in operation and employment was made by plants manufacturing gear products at Warren. These companies already have sufficient orders to keep hundreds employed for many months.

Structural steel shops in the Pittsburgh industrial district continued busy with labor well employed, the report reads. In the state's building trades a demand for painters, paperhangers, plumbers and pipe fitters was also reported.

Following upon this optimistic note is Secretary Davis' report of the program of public works designed to aid in relieving unemployment in Pittsburgh. Approximately 5,000 will be furnished with work by this extensive improvement plan to be soon started.

FRENCH RESALE OF DRUGS AIDS ILLICIT RING

Government Redistribution Of Seized Dope Burdens Market Already Glutted

How large quantities of drugs confiscated by police authorities find their way back into illicit narcotic trade is told in the following article, the second of three, based on an investigation of the narcotic traffic in Marseilles.

By GEORGE W. HINMAN, JR.
Universal Service.

MARSEILLES, Nov. 13.—Resale by governmental authority of contraband drugs confiscated by vigilant agents searching incoming ships today turned into an already glutted market a flow of narcotics beyond the capacity of the legitimate trade to consume.

International investigations have convinced experts that, so long as drugs are produced in quantities many times in excess of the needs of legitimate trade, those drugs are certain to find their way into the illicit traffic.

This conviction and the insistent demand of world public opinion finally resulted in the decision of the League of Nations to call an international conference for the limitation of manufacture to the legitimate requirements of the medical and scientific fields.

SEIZURES RESOLD

The urgent necessity of this restriction is revealed here by the amazing total of the seizures made by the French authorities. In the United States, perhaps, such seizures of contraband narcotics destined for the illicit trade might be destroyed. But it is traditional of the Frenchman that he never throws anything away. The confiscated narcotics here are destined for resale by the authorities.

Of course, the official intention is that these confiscated drugs shall go only to physicians, hospitals and reputable druggists. But there are more drugs in Marseilles than the legitimate trade can absorb. Moreover, the legitimate trade will pay only legitimate prices, while the profits and prices in the illicit traffic are almost without limit.

TRAFFIC BENEFITS

The result is that the illicit traffic benefits from this redistribution, either indirectly through the addition of large quantities to the already glutted market, or even directly through actual acquisition. Indeed, investigation by police agents had disclosed that in some cases the confiscated shipment, after sale, finds its way through devious channels to the original consignee, who merely raises his price to cover the additional costs.

The force of detectives assigned to the task of coping with the flood of illicit narcotics is hopelessly small. The whole city has a police force of less than 300.

It is rarely that any consequential member of the illicit drug ring is actually brought into court and tried for his offenses. When he receives a notice from the police of the confiscation of a shipment, the illicit consignee considers his situation. If he thinks he can work out an "arrangement" he comes forward and claims the order. If, however, he has doubts, he merely replies that he was expecting no such shipment and so is not interested or concerned.

And the police detective here, like many a police detective in America, finds little encouragement in pressing an investigation that is likely eventually to run against the stone wall of money and influence.

Hoover Conqueror In Boyhood Row Arrested

WEST BRANCH, Ia., Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Newt Butler, the fellow who "licked" Herbert Hoover when they were boys, must face court for having a slot machine in his soft drink parlor.

It was rumored that school boys were patronizing the machine and a deputy sheriff walked into Newt's establishment, gave Butler a court summons and confiscated the machine. The raid likewise revealed two slot machines in the Hoover Hotel, which is just across the street.

Meadville Ex-Banker Indicted in Theft

14 LEAVE FOR DEPORTATION

United States immigration inspectors last night left Pittsburgh for New York with 10 aliens, where today they will be placed aboard steamers for deportation to various countries in Europe. Another party of four aliens were taken to Buffalo, where three of them will join a deportation party en route to Montreal. One member of the Buffalo party, a Canadian, will be left in Canada.

A deportee in the New York group was Silipo Ionadi, 52, an Italian, who had been posing as an American citizen by using a certificate of naturalization that had been awarded a deceased cousin. DOUBTED STILL OWNER FINED

Frank Owens, of 1428 Bedford avenue, was fined $100 or 30 days in jail on a charge of violating the Snyder act by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Station today.

A police squad under Lieut. Jack Lavery raided the Bedford avenue place yesterday and reported finding a liquor "steaming" plant.

Owens and six other men were said to have been arrested. When Owens' case was called for hearing yesterday, Lieut. Lavery said the man who answered was not Owens and that someone else was trying to "take the rap."

Magistrate Rothenberg postponed the hearing. Today the same man appeared. The magistrate was satisfied and imposed the fine.

ALIEN INDICTED IN FRAUD CASE

Ahmad Hohamad Hassan Bedwan, 37, a Syrian, was indicted by the Federal grand jury on a charge of fraudulently obtaining naturalization in the United States court here January 24, 1928. He was arrested last month at Dothan, Ala.

He was said to have obtained naturalization papers after fraudulently representing that he had been a resident of Pittsburgh five years, and by alleged false testimony given before an examiner for the Bureau of Naturalization.

He was said to have been aided and abetted by William H. Gabriel and Teddy Tedrus, who last May pleaded guilty in Federal court of conspiring to obtain illegal naturalization for John A. Totah and other aliens.

Jazz Rumblings, Gershwin Chair.

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—It is still a perplexing matter to us that rumblings against jazz are still heard in the land, though jazz is the only original contribution America ever made to music.

American jazz has penetrated every corner of the civilized world. Its technique has been adopted by those foreign composers whose ears are tuned to the groundswells of restlessness, and while the foreigners have not yet improved upon the American masters, they are working furiously to overcome racial and geographical handicaps.

To date the foreign jazzbos are too imitative. They have cupped their ears too long to American styles. As a result, their work reflects too much an American snap-your-finger spirit.

The best foreign jazz at present is being written in Moscow chiefly because the Russians are attempting to strike out into new channels. They have discarded the old Russian traditions of music, the brooding sombreness, the impenetrable melancholy and despair. But even they, if the recent fox trot, "Hello Moscow," is any criterion, are paying too great heed to the musical methods of Harlem and Hollywood.

Gershwin Chair May Yet Be Established

When the time arrives that jazz is recognized by the leading educators of the republic—and it can't be far off—it should be accompanied by a movement for the establishment of a Gershwin chair in the musical conservatories.

It was Gershwin, with the approving nod of Whiteman, who toned down the shrieking voice of jazz, who removed its loud and tawdry garb and dressed it up in respectability. In spite of its repetition on the air the "Rhapsody in Blue" still remains the most colorful, the most fascinating, and withal, the most original jazz composition yet created.

Yet I never heard the rhapsody that I do not question whether jazz would have had a greater development from a concert standpoint in this country had the composition never been written. It seems to mark a definite barrier to the ambitions of other composers to experiment in the new technique.

The melody men invariably convey the impression that they cannot improve upon the Gershwin masterpiece, that anything they do will fall far short of its brilliant blend of rhythm and melody, its ingratiating expression of American restlessness and humor with its occasional undertone of frustration and sadness—an undertone which is said to bring tears to the eyes of Whiteman whenever he plays it.

'Disraeli' Wins Film Popularity Award

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—George Arliss' talking picture, "Disraeli," has been awarded the "Photoplay" gold medal of honor as the best moving picture of 1929, that magazine announces. The award is based on ballots taken in theaters throughout the United States. The picture was produced by Warner Bros. and directed by Alfred E. Green.

7% Investment Return is 16⅔% greater than 6%—and 40% greater than 5%—well worth realizing!

Your dollars can be made to work for you—bringing to your home, four times each year, checks aggregating a full 7% annually. Like every careful investor, however, you want to be assured of the security behind your investment.

With eleven dominant newspaper properties, having an average age of 46 years, and an established, tremendous earning power—

Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.

7% Cumulative Participating Class A Stock

Preferred as to Assets and Dividends

is an outstanding investment for the saver of funds—whether small or large.

As America's inevitable growth continues, the newspapers comprising this group are in a position to earn even greater profits than those shown in the past. The actual record of earnings for the last four years is the acid test of capability of the management, and the most impressive safeguard of the future. It shows that dividend requirements on the total issue of Class A stock to be presently outstanding were earned well over three times each average year.

Consider well this record:

	EARNINGS (after depreciation, interest and Federal Income Tax)	Dividend Requirements of Class A Stock Offered for Sale
		Amount	Times Earned
1926	$10,009,806	$3,500,000	2.86
1927	10,162,284	3,500,000	2.90
1928	11,044,777	3,500,000	3.15
1929	12,854,626	3,500,000	3.67
Average	$11,017,873	$3,500,000	3.14

Besides this fixed rate of return, 7%, shareholders of Class A stock are entitled to share equally with the common stock in additional dividends declared up to an extra 3%

APPEALS COURT COSTS RULING

An appeal is on file today in Superior Court making a test case of the power of a jury to place the costs on the defendant where a judge has instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

The appeal was taken by Jacob Cohen, 5435 Jackson street, over $63 costs. Cohen was tried February 20, before Judge James H. Gray on a charge arising from the issuance of a check.

After the Commonwealth had presented its side Judge Gray instructed the jury that no crime had been shown and directed a verdict of not guilty, but told the jury it could dispose of the costs as the members saw fit. The jury placed them on Cohen.

Cohen, by his attorney, J. I. Simon, filed a motion to strike off the costs, claiming none can be levied on an innocent defendant. The question was argued before Judges H. H. Rowand, A. B. Reid, Frank P. Patterson and James H. Gray, and on October 30, in an opinion by Judge Gray, the motion was refused. From this order the appeal was taken to the Superior Court.

CONVICT SEEKS TO ENTER PLEA

Michael A. Ruscille, 45, former manager of the foreign department of the First National Bank of Ellwood City, Pa., serving a four-year term in Atlanta Penitentiary, imposed in the Federal District Court, for passing counterfeit Federal Reserve bank notes, now desires to return here to plead guilty to a charge of embezzlement.

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, on petition of United States Attorney Louis E. Graham, signed an order for Ruscille to appear in court November 24. The government attorney's petition said Ruscille asked to be permitted to enter a plea of guilty.

After being sentenced March 26 for passing the counterfeit notes Ruscille was indicted on a charge of embezzling $10,500 funds of the Ellwood City bank, which charge he now wishes to admit. He was under bond on that charge when he was arrested by federal secret service operatives for possessing and passing the spurious notes.

Union Dispute Delays Work on Gulf Building

M'KEES ROCKS OFFICER SHOT BY FRIEND

SIDEWALKS —of— PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

William Pfarr

Miss Rose Danahey, secretary to County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, is wondering whether it pays to look ahead.

A few days ago, with the cold weather, Miss Danahey bought $5 worth of a non-freeze liquid and poured it into the radiator of her car.

She drove home and parked the car in the Danahey backyard.

An hour later she was enjoying the evening paper when her brother entered the house with this reassuring message:

"Rose, it looks like it's going to be freezing weather tonight, so I just drained the radiator of your car."

If you walk along Fifth avenue (or, for that matter) choose your own street, you're almost certain to see somebody who looks like somebody else. Jimmy Wall, for instance, is the image of Jimmy Walker, the mayor, and Bill Ryan, the insurance man, also looks like Walker. Bill Oliver, of Jones & Laughlin, resembles Lindbergh, and Vir Drayne, the advertising man, could pose as Tunney, almost. Pete Zachary, assistant manager of the William Penn Hotel, suggests, but just suggests, the late Valentino, but the elevator man at the same hotel frowns like Mussolini.

WASN'T THAT WALKER?
YES, I THINK SO!

The applause at the symphony concert Sunday night at the Mosque was overwhelming. We alone sat unmoved, but everybody else was able to appreciate the music. This clinches our position as an outstanding member of the League for Lower Lowbrows.

However, the evening was not wasted. It was saved by the harp—a quiet golden harp which stood alone on the stage. We watched the harp intently all through the night. Why, we wondered, was it there? Where was the harp player—or, as they say in symphony circles, the harpist?

We began to conjecture about the harpist. Had he been taken ill suddenly? Had he missed the train? Why, then, shouldn't Mr. Goosens explain the absence and ask whether there was a harp player in the house who would care to fill in for a few movements?

Well, things went on like that in our mind for approximately three movements and then we asked ourself: What if the harp were missing and the harpist were up there alone?

We tried to picture Mr. Goosens striding sharply over to the idle harpist and saying, sharply, "Where is your harp?" And the harp player perhaps answered, "I forgot to bring it."

Just as we were wondering what the harpist could say to this he appeared from nowhere and started playing his harp.

There are certain matters which are—er, a bit indelicate to be gone over in print. For instance: We can't decide whether our — er, readers would be offended if we were to tell about the young woman whom Darrell Martin, the radio editor, saw trimming a window in Grant street. She was moving about in the window in her stockinged feet, and, as window trimmers go, she was a good one. She was swift, alert and conscientious. She knew where each object was to be placed so as to catch the eye, but (and this is what we're afraid to print) from the upper right corner of the sole of her right stocking her big toe—was er, protruding. Have we offended you?

YES SIR—IN HER RIGHT STOCKING!
NO KIDDIN'?

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 14.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

It kinder looks like we might get a little touch of good times pretty soon, if we can only stop these "big boys" from predicting it.

They say Al Capone is here in Los Angeles. Guess he is figuring on opening a western branch here. This branch idea has just got this country by the nape of the neck. Now it looks like the little home talent bootlegger who lived among us, raised his family, and paid his taxes, is to go the way of the local banker and little groceryman. There is no chance for personal initiative any more, we are all just a cog in a big machine that's controlled from New York or Chicago.

Yours, WILL.

Will Rogers.

PILE DRIVING FOR BANK PROTESTED

Steel Men Oppose Crew Employed on Another Job By Same Contractor

A contest between the building trades is holding up the steel work on the new 40-story Gulf Building, Seventh avenue and Grant street. Steel workers have not been on the job for 10 days, claiming that the iron piling on the site of the new Federal Reserve Bank Building is being driven by carpenters and not by steel workers.

The piles are being driven by members of the Sheet Pile Drivers and Dockmen's Union, affiliated with the carpenters. This was looked upon with disfavor by the steel workers, who promptly laid down their tools on the Gulf Building adjoining.

The Mellon-Stuart Company has the contract for both buildings. Officials of Mellon-Stuart claim they do not care who drives the piling as long as the two labor organizations get together and reach a decision. It is believed that the dispute will be settled within the next few days.

MOVIE BENEFIT TO AID NEEDY

The Welfare Fund of Clairton will hold a benefit in the Capitol Theater Sunday afternoon and evening, when 10 reels of moving pictures will be shown. The theater, has donated the auditorium and the films. Proceeds will aid the needy and unemployed in that section. The affairs sponsored by the police and fire departments of the city, will be in charge of Chief of Police James Brenner, Sergeant Fred Young, Constable John White and Fire Chief Fred Batchelor.

The Welfare Fund, organized three weeks ago, has taken care of many famlies. A relief store at 638 Miller avenue supplies food and clothes to the needy. Meals and lodging are given to anyone who asks for it. Mayor J. R. McVay is general chairman of the fund, and City Clerk P. G. Miller is secretary.

TAX BOOST HIT IN BROOKLINE

A meeting to protest the proposed increase in property valuations in the Brookline district in the triennial assessment now in progress will be held tonight in the Brookline public school auditorium, Woodbourne and Pioneer avenues.

The assembly called by the Brookline Board of Trade, is expected to draw up resolutions against the contemplated general increase. An owner of a vacant lot found his assessment raised from $450 to $1,500, it was said. Attorney William J. Blakeley, president of the trade organization, will preside.

VOTE CONTEST CASE ARGUED

Arguments on the contested Wilmerding election of 1926 were begun in Quarter Sessions Court today before a full bench composed of Judge Elder W. Marshall, Allegheny; S. J. Morrow, Fayette, and J. A. McLaughry, Mercer.

The case grew out of charges of illegal voting in the November, 1929, election in the borough. Election of Harry Biggs as justice of the peace is disputed by W. C. Schubert; election of W. C. Shiring as tax collector is disputed by James F. Richards, and election of James Volpe and Stuart B. Brodie to council is disputed by Charles H. Ray and Joseph R. Dick.

After the election, 50 Wilmerding citizens filed a petition to void the election on charges that 250 illegal votes had been cast for the cussessful candidates. The latter countered with a charge that 500 persons had voted illegally for the defeated men.

Missing Grid Star's Trail Thought Found

State police searching for Robert Hines, 17, missing Slippery Rock High School fotoball star, today learned a youth answering his description stopped at the Echardt Hotel, Canonsburg, Wednesday. Hines disappeared Friday following a game at Slippery Rock. Mrs. Echardt said the youth had a severe cut on his forehead, which he said had required eight stitches. The boy said he was hitch-hiking to California.

1 DEAD, 8 HURT IN AUTO CRASHES

North Braddock Bus and Truck Collide; Woman Hit By Car Dies in Hospital

One death and eight injuries as a result of automobile accidents in this district were reported to authorities last night.

Mrs. Ella Dunbar, 40, of Germantown, Pa., died in St. Joseph's Hospital last night from injuries suffered early Monday morning. The report states a machine in which she was riding struck a safety platform in West Carson street near the Point Bridge.

BUS, TRUCK CRASH

Three of six persons injured last night when a North Braddock bus and a truck collided on the Mill road, Dooker's Hollow, were in the Braddock General Hospital today.

They were Robert Tottinger, 25, alleged driver of the truck, of 523 Bessemer avenue, East Pittsburgh; Mrs. Josephine Catone, 30, of 1415 Brinton avenue, and John Schultz, 21, of 1736 Wolf avenue, both of North Braddock, passengers on the bus. Three other passengers, Mrs. Cecelia Kwitkowski, of 1024 Washington avenue, Braddock; Anthony Sansa, 35, of Grandview avenue, North Braddock, and Frank Brizewinski, 26, of 1002 Cherry way, Braddock, were able to leave after being treated at the hospital.

DRIVER UNINJURED

James Dawson, of 813 Main street, East Pittsburgh, driver of the bus, was uninjured. Other passengers in the bus were shaken up.

Nellie Medwed, 15, of 541 Fourth avenue, Homestead, a high school girl, suffered injuries to the head and right leg when she was struck by a motorcycle at Eighth avenue and Ann street, Homestead, yesterday. The motorcycle was said to have been driven by Edmond Blackovich, 22, of 115 Union place, Duquesne.

Struck by a truck at Eighth avenue and Amity street, Homestead, yesterday, Mrs. Nellie McKelvey, 56, of Pine street, Homeville, was taken to the Homestead Hospital. Ray Sauer, of 2909 State street, Pittsburgh, driver of the truck, was released on a forfeit, police said.

Accused of having driven recklessly in Bigelow boulevard and to have failed to stop after his car struck and damaged three other machines, Raymond Blumentritt, 30, of 38 West Bellcrest avenue, Brentwood, was arrested by police who chased him for several squares. He was lodged in the Center Avenue Police Station on a charge of violating the automobile laws. Neither of the accidents was serious.

Girl Tells Court She 'Pays a Cop'

Protesting vigorously at being fined $10 in Morals Court today, Dolores Nixon, 26, of 39 East General Robinson street, shouted back to Magistrate T. D. Jones, as she was led from the room:

"I pay protection to a cop on Cedar avenue."

Patrolman Joseph Lewinski had testified he had arrested her last night for accosting men in Cedar avenue.

Morals Court records show the woman had been arrested three times previously on similar charges.

Traffic Survey In Elliott Ordered

At the request of Councilman W. Y. English, Council has ordered an investigation of traffic conditions at the intersection of Lorenz and Chartiers avenues, Elliott, where William Gill, 6, was struck and injured Wednesday. English asked that either a traffic signal be installed or an officer assigned to the intersection.

FUNDS TO BURY DRUSIN LACKING

Joseph Drusin, who hanged himself rather than face trial for the theft of a loaf of bread from a neighbor is not even assured of a final resting place beside his wife.

Burials cost money, and money in Rural Ridge these days is spent for bread and other essentials for the living. An effort is being made to bury the miner beside his wife, who, nine years ago, is reported to have ended her life by hanging.

For $20, according to the oldest child, Mrs. Herman Gottenthaler, 21, the mother of a one-year-old baby, her father can be interred beside the mother.

To this end, John, 20, oldest son, canvassed the neighborhood today to borrow funds, without success.

From a standpoint of money, the Drusin family is better off today than usual. The plight of the family, which was without the necessities of life, touched the purse-strings of some persons who read of the tragedy in their home, and small money offerings found their way into the Drusin household yesterday.

More than that, two county detectives called at the home yesterday to announce they had found employment in the city for Betty Drusin, 16.

BEATEN MAN HELD FOR ATTACK

Clubbed After Arrest, He Fires at Policeman, Tells Captors; Victim Serious

Shot by a friend whom he is alleged to have arrested early today, police say, Patrolman Grover Wolfe, 40, of McKees Rocks, is in a critical condition in the Ohio Valley Hospital, with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Otto Parson, 58, of 701 Island avenue, his head and face bearing evidences of a severe beating, is being held by McKees Rocks police, charged with the shooting.

ARRESTED, CLUBBED

According to the story Parson is said to have told the police, he passed Patrolman Wolfe on his way to a speakeasy shortly after midnight. As he was entering an undertaking establishment in Island avenue, he said, Officer Wolfe arrested him, and was taking him to a patrol box two blocks distant when Parson, clubbed by the officer, drew a revolver, which he used in target practice with members of the police force, and fired one shot. The bullet pierced Wolfe's liver.

BLAMES OFFICER

As they were being carried into the hospital, Parson was heard to mutter to Wolfe:

"You started this."

Wolfe replied:

"Shut your mouth."

The two had been friends for 10 years, according to police. Parson recently had returned from a hunting trip and night before last he and McKees Rocks officers held target practice in an alley behind Parson's home.

Police said they knew of no reason for ill feeling between the two.

LAKE COAL RATE RULE DELAYED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—A decision in the long-standing controversy over lake cargo coal freight rates will not be reached by the Interstate Commerce Commission before July, it was learned today.

Hearings conducted by Commission Examiner Bardwell extending over several months, were concluded today. The next step will be the filing of briefs on behalf of northern and southern coal operators, together with the railroads handling lake cargo coal. Bardwell has set February 1 as the time limit in which to file briefs.

The issue is the differential of 35 cents per ton which Ohio and Pennsylvania operators have over the southern operators.

Man Asking Divorce Tells Of Fake Death Message

A fake telegram stating that his wife had died figured in the testimony of William H. Sharff, 40, of 1903 Irwin avenue, seeking a divorce from Mrs. Bessie Sharff, 50, in Common Pleas Court before Judge Harry H. Rowand.

Sharff testified he was the target for numerous missiles, including an alarm clock, dishes, a shoe brush and hair brush, during their married life. He said he left her after being hit on the head with the alarm clock in February, 1929, when they resided in Alliance, O. He said a telegram from that place, saying Mrs. Sharff had died was received at his home two months later, but a telephone call proved the news false. His wife had been married twice before, he said.

ESCAPE FOILED BY OFFICER

An attempt to escape from a constable who had arrested him in the East End district, was made by Peter Palmer, 23, of 227½ Renfrew street, last night, when he fled from the office of Alderman P. Kearcher, South Thirteenth street, only to be captured by Constable Steve Zasadny, who has but one arm. Palmer was lodged in the South Side Police Station.

Constables from Kearcher's office have sought Palmer for eight months, to answer an information preferred by Clara Kileber, 18, of Meredith street, for an alleged attack last April. Last night Constable Zasadny and Elmer Passante, a friend, located Palmer in an East End pool room and took him to the South Side alderman's ofice.

While Zasadny was filling out commitment papers, Palmer dashed from the office into Thirteenth street. Zasadny and Parsante followed and they were joined by police from the South Side station. Zasadny overtook his prisoner at Enon and Breed street and the two fought. In spite of his handicap, Zasadny succeeded in subduing Palmer and lodging him in the station house.

'13' JINX DEFIED BY DINNER HOST

The old superstition about "13" was disregarded last night when Herbert L. Spencer, principal of the H. C. After the dinner, guests attended a lecture by Miss Rose Fyleman, English author of children's literature. Miss Fyleman, here through the united auspices of the Pittsburgh Kindergarten Alumni, Carnegie Library School and the Frick Training School, spoke on "Children's Stories."

JEWEL DESIGN ART EXHIBITED

By PENELOPE REDD.

The exhibition of jewelry designed by Edward Everett Oakes, of Boston, at the Miller-Burgwin shop, brings us back to the art of personal adornment—the mother of all the decorative arts.

Penelope Redd

This exhibition, sponsored by Frederick Clayter, of Carnegie Tech, is the first of Oakes' work to be shown in Pittsburgh. He is the only contemporary American jewelry designer to be represented in the decorative arts collection of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Mr. Oakes differs from the majority of designers in his medium. He neither imitates the jewelry of the Egyptian princesses in museums or of the Italian duchesses in Renaissance portraits.

His designs are always naturalistic. Frequently he chooses a leaf form for the decorative theme to surround his jewels, thus effecting a relation similar to that of the leaf and flower in nature.

His designs, from modest ring to jeweled casket, have a logical compactness and a superiority of craftsmanship that heighten the quality of the gems.

The jeweled casket, ornamented with gold and set with amethyst, black onyx and pearls, avoids the ornateness of complicated bijouterie and enjoys the dignity of architecture.

PRESBYTERIANS WORK ON UNITY

Merger of the major branches of the Presbyterian church was still undecided today as members of a sub-committee of the Joint Committte on Presbyterian Unity prepared to hold meetings to thresh out matters still in dispute.

The joint committee, numbering about 70, representing a membership of more than 3,000,000 in the United States, adjourned yesterday, after agreeing on a number of important doctrines and principles.

The meeting was held in the First Presbyterian Church. Most questions still pending concern administration and organization.

Accepting reports recommending merging of the educational institutions of the churches, setting forth church policy, and naming questions to be asked candidates for ordination, the committee agreed that the new church should not be concerned with political matters.

The committee accepted, as evidence of the spirituality of the church, principles of the Heidelberg cathecism, the Canon of the Synod of Dort, the Belgic confession, the Westminster confession of faith, the longer and shorter catechism, and the doctrinal statement of the United Presbyterian Church. These, it is understood, will be combined into one doctrinal statement after consolidation.

The room occupied was unneeded space, until now, for the county controller.

"Pittsburgh has long needed a more complete business library in the downtown section. We are installing a system of home reading of books from all phases of business reading. We have added Brookmire's Economic Service and the Standard Statistics Service in our new branch. These are recognized as best information as guides to investment."

Tech Students Win Fame Designing Foot Bridges

Carnegie Tech's sophomore class in architecture has used a foot bridge as a path to fame, if not fortune, by annexing three first mentions in a contest of the Beaux Arts Institute of Design of New York.

Mildren, Steubenville, O. Mildren, a sophomore at Tech, competed with 427 sophomores in American architectural colleges.

Two other first mentions went to Tech men when John Perras, 434 Atwood street, and Robert Law, 7615 Kelly street, turned in outstanding foot bridge designs, according to the judgment of the Beaux Arts committee.

Honoring 1930 Buds

Every hour, I do believe, new plans are being made to divert the debutante. Added to the gay list of events in honor of the buds is a buffet luncheon Mrs. William B. Todd, of Park Mansions, will give December 20 in honor of Frances Kier, Jane Marshall and Elizabeth McKay.

And on December 24, the J. Hartwell Hillmans, of Fifth avenue, will give a dinner-dance in the Pittsburgh Golf Club honoring Elizabeth McKay.

The girls of the school set will have a foretaste of their coming debutante whirl during the holiday season when party after party will be given for boys and girls home from finishing and prep schools. Mr. Taylor Allderdice will give a buffet luncheon December 19 for her granddaughter, Jane Martin Travers, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward S. Travers, of St. Louis, Mo. Jane, who is a student at the Masters School at Dobbs Ferry, will be the Yuletide guest of her grandparents.

12 AIRPLANES TO FLY OCEAN

ROME, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Twelve Italian seaplanes under the command of Air Minister Italo Balbo will start a flight from Orvetello to Rio de Janeiro on December 15, it was announced today.

The largest fleet yet to attempt an Atlantic crossing will fly in formation, each plane carrying two pilots, a mechanic and a radio operator. Stops are to be made in Spain and Portuguese West Africa and the actual Atlantic crossing is to start about January 5.

Gen. Valle, the aviation chief of staff, is to be second in command, and Maj. Maddalena, who has flown to Brazil before, is to be adjutant.

As the fleet moves down the African coast, two repair ships will follow close upon their tails, and there will be a general overhauling before they turn westward across the sea.

Port Natal, Brazil, will be the first American port of call.

Italo Balbo, the youthful, black-bearded commander of this expedition, was one of Mussolini's "quadrumviri" in the march on Rome.

Curse of Gypsies Ignored; Judge Fines Five

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Evanston was under a gypsy curse today, but apparently no one was getting excited about it.

It all happened when five gypsies, charged with speeding a motor car, sprinkled incense about the courtroom of Magistrate Harry H. Porter, explaining that this was a curse on the city which would take effect if, and when, they were fined or given other treatment they considered unfavorable.

Magistrate Porter thought about it briefly and then decided he would take a chance by fining them a total of $35.

U.S. JOINS HUNT FOR 6 FLIERS

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Two United States Navy seaplanes have been ordered to Northern British Columbia where they will join the search for six fliers who have been missing several weeks. The planes were expected from San Diego in the next few days, orders for their departure having been issued by the Navy Department in Washington, D. C., after arrangements for their entry into Canada were completed.

Two feet of snow covered the isolated bench country north of Atlin, B. C., where Pilot E. J. A. (Paddy) Burke, Emil Kading, his mechanic and Bob Martin, a prospector who chartered Burke's plane, have been missing 34 days.

Sixteen days have passed since Pilot Robin Renahan, Frank Hatcher, his mechanic, and Sam Clerf, wealthy Seattle mining man, disappeared near Prince Rupert to join the search for the Burke party.

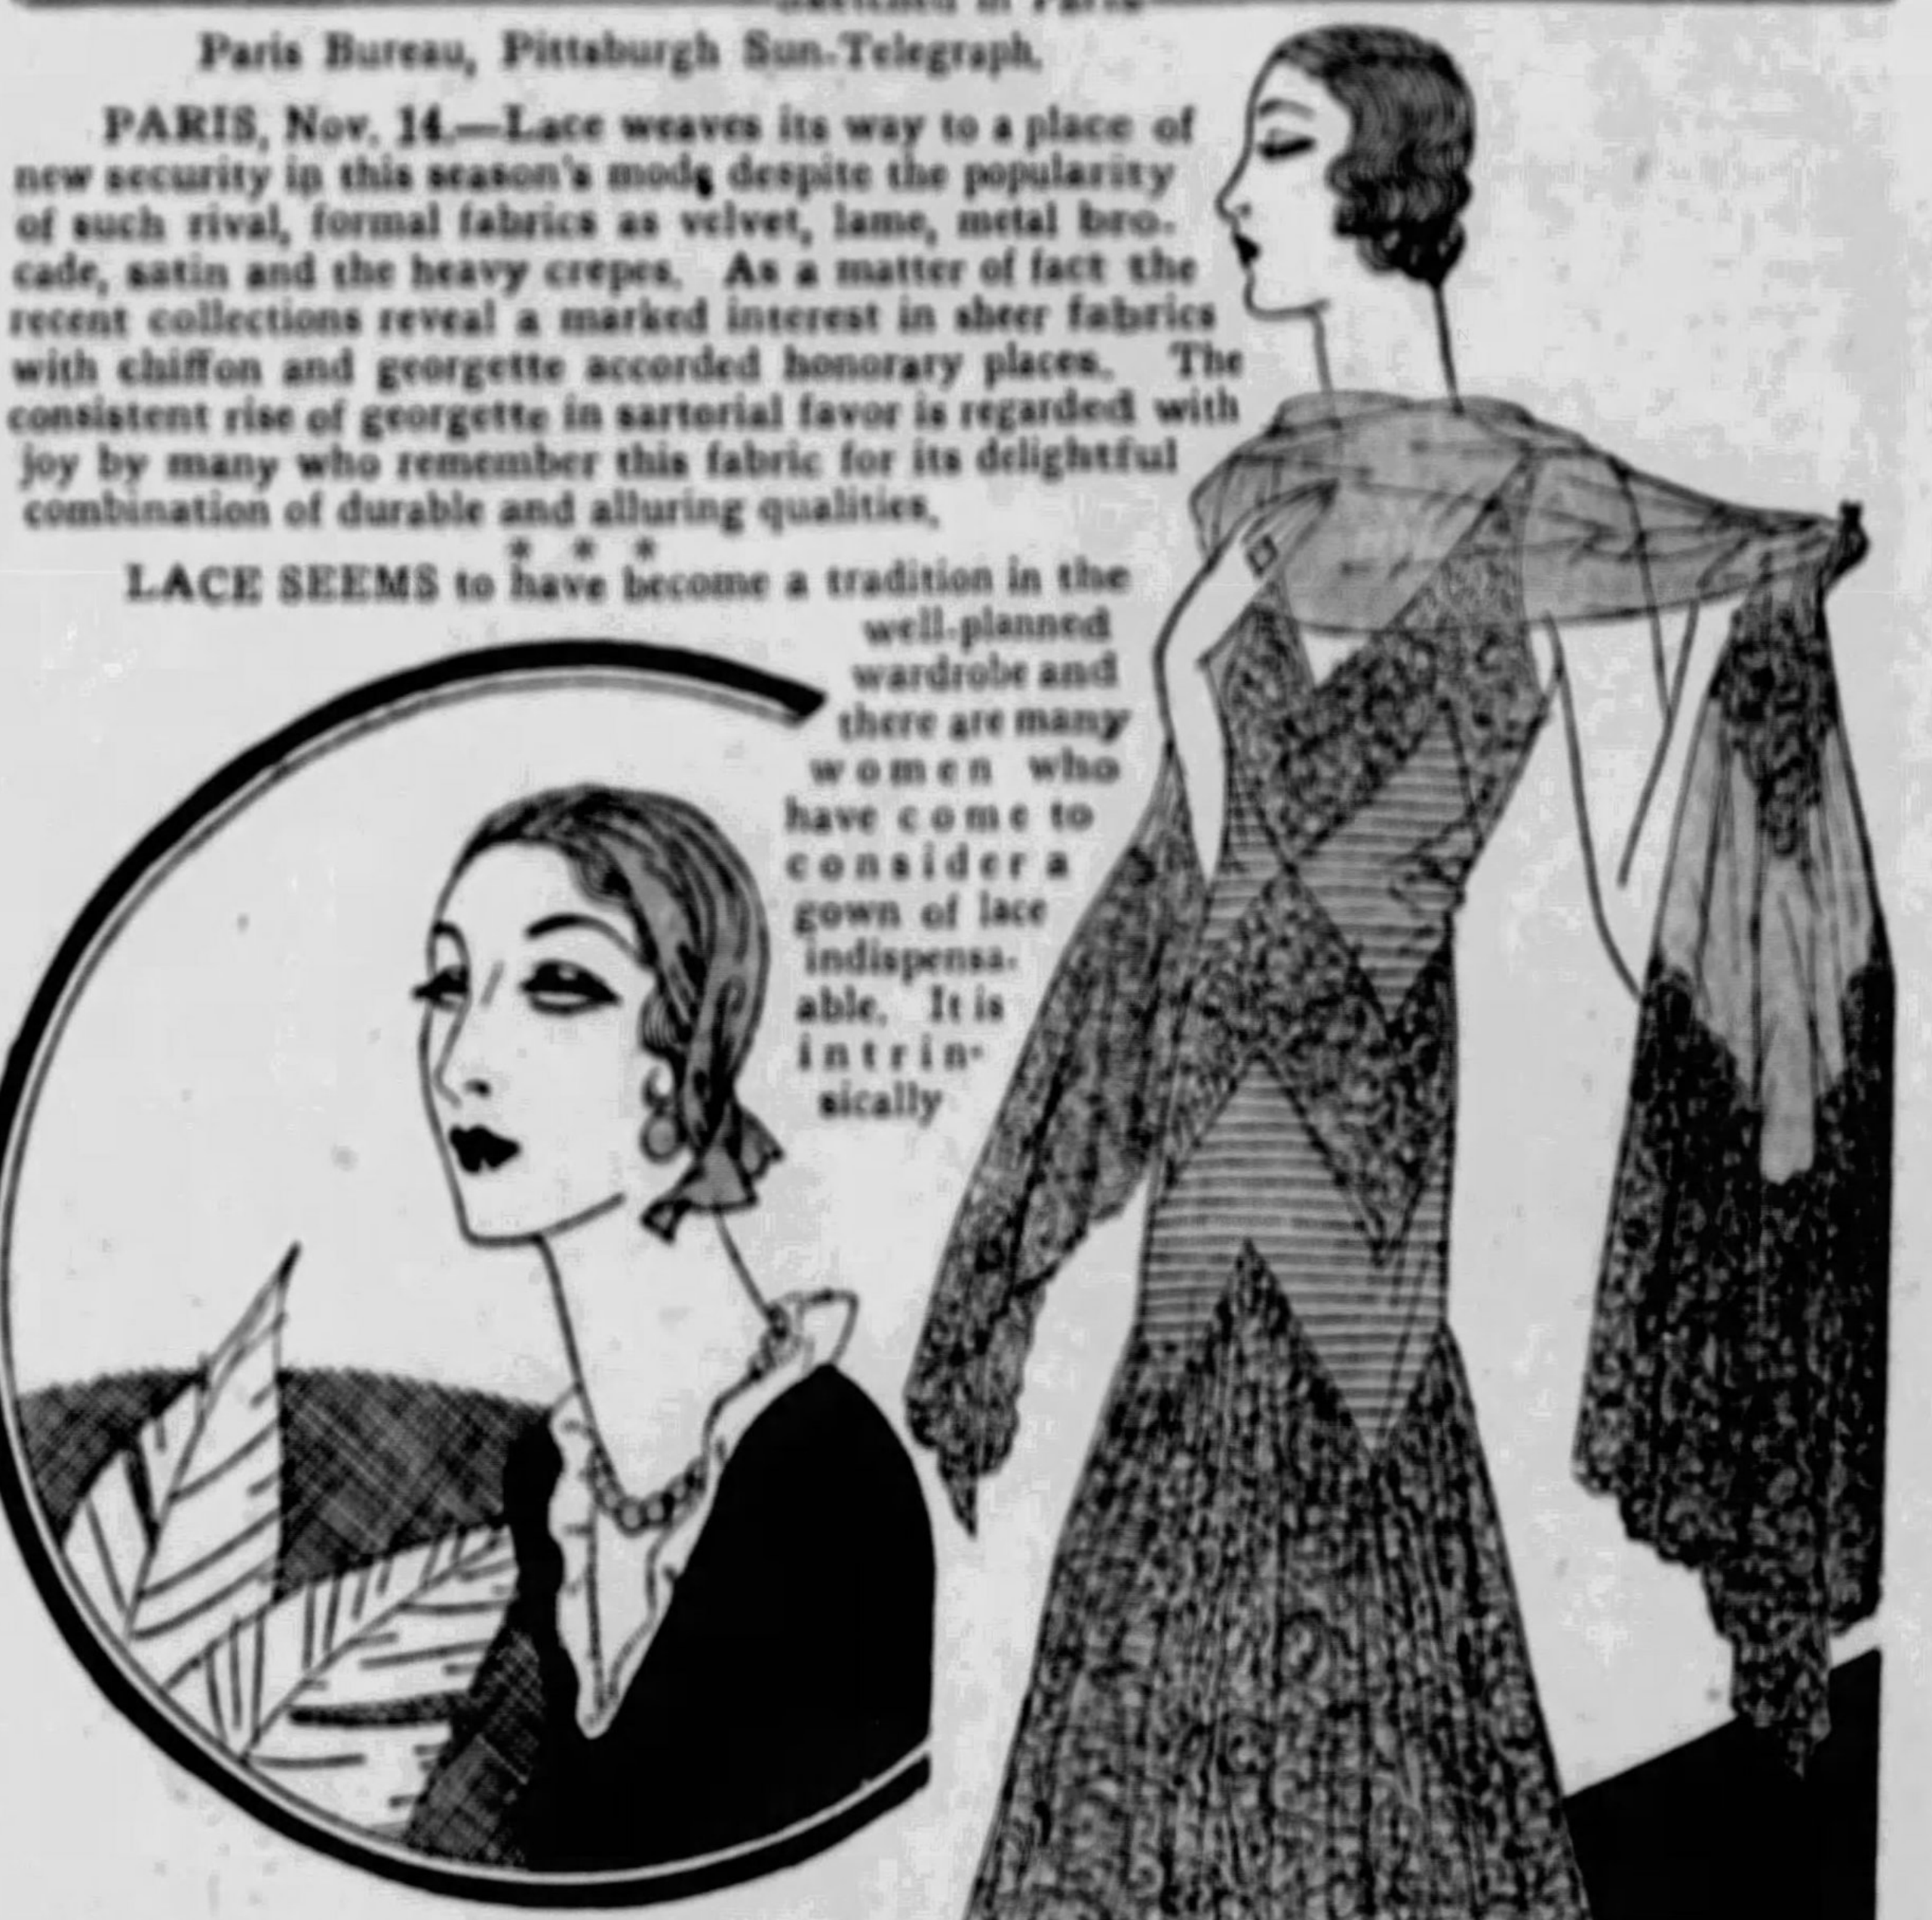
SHEER FABRICS GAINING NEW SARTORIAL HONORS



—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Lace weaves its way to a place of new security in this season's mode despite the popularity of such rival, formal fabrics as velvet, lame, metal brocade, satin and the heavy crepes. As a matter of fact the recent collections reveal a marked interest in sheer fabrics with chiffon and georgette accorded honorary places. The consistent rise of georgette in sartorial favor is regarded with joy by many who remember this fabric for its delightful combination of durable and alluring qualities.

LACE SEEMS to have become a tradition in the well-planned wardrobe and there are many women who have come to consider a gown of lace indispensable. It is intrinsically feminine and lends itself so admirably to the demands of a varied social calendar where formal and semi-formal events pyramid upon one another in bewildering confusion. Ingenious couturiers frequently offer gowns of lace that may be worn from 4 to midnight so deftly do they combine the formal and semi-formal elements. For this type black is the obvious color choice, but Chanel for one, is enthusiastically sponsoring lace gowns in a variety of colors, for formal wear.

IT IS WORTH who gives us this charming evening gown of black Chantilly lace that we are showing today. The lace is combined with black chiffon, finely tucked by hand. An interesting decorative effect is obtained by the zigzag encrustations of the chiffon and lace on the slightly fitted top of the dress. The long, flaring flounce which develops the skirt is completely of lace. A feminine fancy of interest is the filmy scarf of the same fabrics.

* * *

AND TO REMIND you how smart women on this side of the Atlantic are keeping their heads despite the bewildering array of intriguing millinery offering, we are showing a model from Marie Guy that is enjoying popularity. It is of moss green velvet drawn down at each side from beneath a transverse fold crossing the top of the head at the side front. At the back it is twisted into a loop with a single end drawn forward toward the left ear.

HE THOUGHT IT WAS JUST "HARD LUCK"

"I never get a break" is standard equipment in Jim's conversation.

Jim thinks straight—works hard—is very likeable—has a host of friends, but is standing still.

The vital defect in Jim's make-up is his inability to see the connection between the five dollar bill he can afford to save NOW and that business of his own which he dreams about.

His own common sense should tell him that Opportunity always demands a substantial down payment in CASH.

Jim will get the "breaks" only after he breaks his own careless spending habits.

W. C. T. U. PLANS PRAYER WEEK

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 14—(AP.)—Expressing no discouragement at anti-dry gains in the recent general election, officials of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union approved plans for a world-wide week of pentecostal prayer.

Before entering the pre-convention meeting at which the prayer week was authorized, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president, said the election had not changed the status of the United States Senate. Dry losses in the House "were too small to be of real significance," she continued.

As many as 2,500,000 members of the W. C. T. U. may participate in the prayer week, it was said. The plan will comprehend sending a message of temperance, identically worded, to sister organizations all over the world for reading probably in the week of January 8-15.

CO-EDS HEAR MRS. EDISON

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Girls from 41 colleges gathered here to attend the twenty-third annual convention of the Women's Intercollegiate Association for Student Government, which opened a three-day session.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison was the guest of honor. She spoke briefly, telling the girls to cultivate gentility and reverence for the finer things of life, and warning them against misuse of woman's new freedom. She said:

"Women can be a great influence for good in the world with the right use of their new opportunities, but the misuse of the same opportunities can do great harm."

Prof. Irving S. Kull, head of the history department at the New Jersey College for Women, told the girls not to confuse drivvel with sound philosophy, pointing out that the ability to distinguish the two is the test of an educated person in the present age of transition.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

All too frequently the American housewife depends almost entirely upon salt and pepper for seasoning. All too often the third member of the trio of fundamental seasonings—sugar—she sometimes fails to think of at all, looking upon it merely as a seasoner.

In this respect the French cook is wiser than she; it grieves me bitterly to say it, but it's so. A dash of sugar is used by the French to bind and accentuate the flavors of the various ingredients; not enough to sweeten, but just enough to make a delicious difference in the final flavor of the dish.

Peppercorn, mace, allspice and a large group of other seasonings are also used by the French to achieve those delicate flavors that have brought French cooking to its high, proud peak.

CAULIFLOWER BEARNISE—Wash thoroughly 1 large of cauliflower and separate into clumps. Drain and place in a greased casserole. Mix together 2 cups of peas, 1 large slice onion, 2 peppercorns, 2 cloves, ½ teaspoon of salt, a tablespoon of sugar. Simmer in a cup of water until the peas are very soft. Melt 3 tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, add 3 tablespoons flour and stir until smooth. Strain pea mixture and press through colander, blending it with 1½ cup of milk. Season with ½ teaspoon of salt and add to butter and flour. Stir until completely blended. Pour over cauliflower and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Brown in a quick oven not more than 8 minutes.

CUCUMBER A LA GIVERNY—Pare and cut into small pieces a large cucumber. Cook until tender in boiling, salted water. Drain. Beat an egg lightly and add 2 tablespoons vinegar, ½ teaspoon of salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and ½ teaspoon sugar. Boil until mixture thickens and pour over the hot cucumbers. Serve immediately.

TOMATOES BERNADOTTE—Cut into eighths 2 pounds of fresh tomatoes. Place in a saucepan. Add 1½ teaspoons of salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon of sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 6 cloves, ¼ teaspoon paprika, and a 1-inch piece of cinnamon. Cook slowly, without water, until tomatoes are tender. An equivalent amount of canned tomatoes can be used in place of the fresh, if desired.

Want a receipe for a new and delicious dainty? Try this one! Cocoanut jelly balls are one way of answering the dessert problem; and if you have a child who must carry his lunches to school, wrap one of these edible tid-bits in waxed paper, slip it into his lunch box and he'll thrill with joy.

COCOANUT JELLY BALLS—Three-quarter cup sifted cake flour; 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter or other shortening, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg unbeaten, ½ cup moist cocoanut, ¼ cup milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup tart jelly.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat until light, then add ½ cup cocoanut. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in greased muffin pans in a 350 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Here's a dessert that can be made speedily and which is perfectly delicious. Place in a small mixing bowl the whites of 2 eggs and ½ glass of any kind of jelly. Whip to a stiff meringue, then fold in a cup of whipped cream, a cup of crushed pineapple, 6 macaroons—or you might use vanilla wafers or lady fingers—broken into small bits. Put into tall glasses and dust the top with grated sweet chocolate. Serve ice cold. This will make 6 portions.

EGGLESS CAKE—1 cup brown sugar, a cup of raisins; ½ teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, allspice, salt, ½ cup shortening; ½ cup cold coffee; ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder; 2 cups flour.

Combine sugar, shortening, raisins, coffee, spices and salt and boil for 10 minutes. Cool. Add the soda and baking powder, which have been sifted with the flour. Mix well. Bake as a loaf cake at 375 degrees.

LIVER LOAF WITH BACON, TOMATO SAUCE — Put 1½ pounds of liver through a food chopper with 1 sprig parsley, 1 small onion and ½ green pepper. Beat 1 egg and add 1½ cups bread crumbs and add to the meat. Add 1 cup meat stock, ½ cup milk, 2 tablespoons fat, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and ¼ teaspoon dried celery. Mix well. Turn into a loaf pan and bake 1½ hours in a slow oven. Serve hot with tomato sauce, to which ½ cup of diced bacon is added just before serving.

SOUR CREAM COOKIES—2 tablespoons fat; 1 cup fat; 1 egg; ½ cup sour cream; 2½ cups flour; ½ teaspoon soda; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon vanilla; ⅛ cup shredded cocoanut.

Cream the fat, add sugar gradually, a little of the sour cream and then the beaten egg. Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Add alternately with the remainder of the sour cream. Add vanilla and cocoanut. Drop by teaspoonsful on a greased baking sheet. One-fourth cup cocoanut may be sprinkled on the cookies before baking. Bake in a hot oven (400 to 425 degrees) for about 10 minutes. Makes about three dozen cookies.

TOMATO AND LIMA BEAN SALAD—Four tomatoes, 1½ cups cooked lima beans, 1 tablespoon parsley. Salt and pepper to taste; 1 small onion, grated; ½ cup chopped nuts, 2 tablespoons minced celery or a little celery salt.

Cut a slice from the top of each tomato and with a teaspoon remove the pulp. To the beans add the onion, parsley, nuts, celery and a seasoning. Mix a little French dressing with these ingredients and fill the tomatoes with the mixture. Pour more dressing over the top or serve it separately. Any dressing desired may be used.

The tomatoes may be peeled and cut in thick slices and the other ingredients piled on them if preferred.

MEAT SOUFFLE — Chicken, veal or lamb is the most suitable meat for souffle. The meat is minced very fine, and with it are mixed finely chopped parsley, a little onion, pepper and salt, and a little green pepper. A cupful of white sauce of flour, milk, butter and the yoke of 2 eggs is then made, stirred in with the meat, cooked for a few minutes, and set away to cool. When the mixture is cool, the beaten whites of 2 eggs are added. It is put into a baking dish and baked for 20 minutes in an oven that is moderate at first.

COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD—1 package lemon-flavored gelatin, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup canned pineapple juice and cold water, 1 cup grated pineapple, 1 cup cottage cheese, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne, strips of red or green pepper.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add pineapple juice and water. Chill. Combine pineapple, cheese, salt and cayenne. When slightly thickened, fold in pineapple mixture. Decorate mold with strips of pepper.

BRAN BREAD—Mix and sift together 1½ cups flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt. Cream 4 tablespoons butter, add 1-3 cup sugar; then add 1 egg, well beaten, and the flour mixture alternately with 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk. Mix well and then fold in 1½ cups bran flakes, rolled. Bake in greased loaf pan, 9x4x3 inches, in moderate oven, 350, for 1 hour and 15 minutes.

* * *

BRAN WAFFLES—Sift and then measure 1½ cups flour, add 1 teaspoon salt, ½ tablespoon sugar, 4 teaspoons baking powder; mix well and add ¾ of a cup of bran, 2 eggs, well beaten, 1¼ cups of milk and 4 tablespoons melted butter. Beat well. Bake in hot waffle iron. Makes 5 waffles.

BRAN MUFFINS—Cream 2 tablespoons butter; add ¼ cup sugar and mix until soft. Add 1 egg, well beaten. Mix and sift together 1 cup flour, ½ teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon baking powder. To the creamed mixture add the bran then 1 cup sour milk alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Pour into greased muffin tins and bake in moderate oven, 370 degrees, for 20 minutes. Makes 8 large or 12 medium size muffins.

BRAN GRIDDLE CAKES—Mix and sift together 1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt; add 1 cup bran. Combine 1 well-beaten egg and 1½ cups of milk and add to the dry ingredients. Add 1 tablespoon melted shortening. Beat thoroughly and bake on a hot griddle. Makes 10 griddle cakes.

PECAN CUSTARD ROLL—Prepare a sponge cake batter and bake in a shallow tin making a sheet about a half-inch thick when baked. Turn from the pan immediately and spread with the cream, made as follows:

Scald 2 cups of milk. Mix 1 cup brown sugar, 1-3 cup flour and 1-8 teaspoon salt. Add a little of the hot milk at a time, mixing thoroughly until all the milk has been added and the mixture is smooth. Cook 15 minutes in a double boiler and add 1 tablespoon butter. Pour over 2 well-beaten eggs and cook 2 minutes longer. Partially cool before using. Add a teaspoon of vanilla. Spread on the cold cake and sprinkle with chopped pecan meats. Roll as for a jelly roll. Wrap in waxed paper and a towel to keep in a roll. Slice in ½ inch slices for serving. Top each slice with whipped cream and a whole pecan.

POTATO FRITTERS—Peel and grate 3 medium potatoes into a mixing bowl; add 4 tablespoons flour, 2 eggs well beaten and ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and ½ teaspoon chopped parsley. Stir until thoroughly mixed, then add ½ teaspoon baking powder and stir again. Heat 3 tablespoons cooking oil in a frying pan and drop in the mixture in 12 equal cake-forms and fry slowly for 6 minutes on each side. Drain and serve on hot plate. Serves 6.

* * *

BANANA SALAD—Remove the skins from ripe bananas, cut in thirds cross-wise; then cut in pieces length-wise and roll in finely chopped peanuts. Arrange with slices of chilled orange or tangerine on a bed of lettuce leaves and serve with French dressing.

GANGSTER GIRL

By JACK LAIT

Tom Has First Encounter With Freeman's Gang

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Polack Annie, notorious gangster girl, flees Chicago and seeks the protection of New York's biggest racketeer, "Silk" Freeman. Freeman is fascinated by her beauty and provides an expensive hotel suite for her. At a night club the admiration of the young and wealthy Tommy Gillespie for Annie arouses Freeman's jealousy. Tom learns of Freeman's plan to get in on his father's trucking business and vows to fight it. He enlists the aid of "Cyclone" Tim McCloskey, leader of a tough river gang.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VIII

The boss stevedore, a thin, wiry little fellow with cunning black eyes that shot quick glances from beneath a natty slouch hat, stood upon the tail-gate of a truck, his left hand full of numbered brass checks. Massed before him was a dirty carpet of faces—white, yellow, black—faces with hungry, eager looks.

Leisurely, with a gesture which might have graced a potentate, his right hand clawed off one of the checks, and with deft certainty sent it spinning into the mitt of the fortunate stevedore. This was how he would glean out as many as were needed to unload the gray-bowed banana boat, which was being wharfed up by two noisy tugs.

The last tag was caught by a husky on the outskirts of the mob, and the boss stevedore hopped lightly from the truck. The remainder of the polyglot crew broke up with that confusion that tails a circus parade, and some went to another dock where luck might be better, and others to sit in the sun on the sidewalks in front of the warehouses.

"Well," chuckled Cyclone Tim, slouched beside Tommy Gillespie in one of the waiting trucks, "he's got his gang picked right. Not a man he threw dem metals to but what's a Bridge Twister. I know eve'y one of 'em. Looks like a busy day, youngster."

Tim's Men Work

"And we've got a few men on the trucks," laughed Tommy, starting the motor of the tractor and backing the trailer, a huge, box car affair, smack into the curb of the dock warehouse.

"But, dese guys is out fer hell," grunted Cyclone Tim, as two men uncoupled the trailer. "I know 'em." He laid a grimy paw on the solid-muscled arm of Tommy. "Lissen, kid," he confided, "I ain't losin' no love on dis Biff Glasson guy. Like I told you. An' I ain't no simp to be buckin' no guy like Silk Freeman. But I like you. You're a hundred per cent O. K. wid me—an' I'm wid you. Take it or leave it. An' don't leave it. I'm tippin' you."

"I'm taking it," and Tommy laid his own tanned, sinew-knitted hand over the hairy one of the older man. "Silk Freeman," he mused, "he's got a beautiful, red-headed gal——"

"I don't know nuttin' about no wimmen," growled Cyclone Tim. "Don't bring in no wimmen. Here's me mitt. It's dirty—an' I keep it clean."

They shook. The bargain had been struck the day before, when Tommy had ferreted out Cyclone Tim in the dingy little dive on Water street.

It was a bargain in which coin started, but didn't finish. It was a contract built on that peculiar friendship which springs up between men of different castes and different strata of society—a friendship born of respect for the physical prowess of one for the other, and recognition of courage. It was then that Cyclone Tim had agreed to man a score of the Gillespie trucks with his own mob, and to make them work at the regular scale—forty-five smackers for drivers of five-ton trucks and fifty for drivers of 10-ton trucks—and not a nickel more. And the loaders were to get their regular three cents a hundred—the "hi-jackers" as they were known in truckese, who cheated and double-crossed on the weight and "took the rest with a gat."

Trouble Starts

Cyclone Tim was to get his divvy off the men—and he got plenty more besides . . .

Already, a score of the Metropolitan Trucking Corporation's trailers were jammed against the opened warehouse-doors. Already, the little steamer had been pushed against the dock. Already, the 50 longshoremen were forming their queue to board the boat and drag from its vitals the tropical-green fruit, which they would load upon the trucks.

Tommy, wised through the underworld grapevine, which trickled into the flap ears of Cyclone Tim, waited for the trouble to start. Trouble that was to be the first move to disorganize his father's trucking business on the water front, a business that netted a million a year. He waited with tingling nerves and tightening muscles.

As the first of the longshoremen, heading the line from the hold of the ship, led the way through the breezy, ample, spice-odored warehouse, came up to the first truck he heaved his stalk of bananas the full length of the van. Those who followed him threw their loads with all their force against the sides, others stripped the stalks and scattered the fruit and kicked everything into the truck and around the floor.

Cyclone Tim and Tommy had been standing by, watching them. When the first man had thrown down his load the giant gang leader stepped from behind a trailer and placed two closed fingers between his lips. There issued forth a blast—piercing, shrill, startling—the battle call of the mobster.

They leaped from tractors, popped from behind trailers, leaped from the very street—a hundred of them, privates of the River Rats, armed with two-by-fours with rusty, murderous nails bristling from the ends; carrying truck cranks, bricks and cobblestones.

From somewhere Cyclone Tim dragged out two pairs of brass knucks—weapon of suzerainty of the old time slugger. He pressed one into Tommy's hand, but Tommy looked once at it and shivered. He clenched his own husky fists and jumped up on the concrete floor of the warehouse. He, at least, would fight fair. So Cyclone Tim armed his both hands with the brutal metal which would have put to shame the leathern, iron-loaded fist of the Roman cestus.

Tommy Beaten

The River Rats swarmed into the warehouse, which became an arena of knock-down, drag-out, skull-crushing fighting. Above the din could be heard the bellowing of Cyclone Tim, who was splintering jaws and slicing faces with his brass-clad hands. Tommy had hardly taken a step before a huge man rammed his head into the pit of his stomach. But the head hit muscle and sinew used to grid-iron bolts, and it received the blow like a brick wall. A lightning uppercut clipped the man unconscious.

Tommy, mauled and beaten around, tasted the salt of his own blood as it trickled down his cheeks into his mouth, and he went wild. How long it lasted, what happened, he would never know, because when a sudden flash of intelligence illumined his brain he found himself thrashing out his huge arms at his own father.

"Easy there, my boy," chortled Tall Tom Gillespie. "I think you've done enough damage for one day."

Tommy blinked. An ambulance surgeon was trying to daub at a gash on his temple.

"Where's Tim?" Tommy asked, blinking and relaxing.

"I'm copesetteer, kid," said Cyclone Tim, who was right in front of him. "I gotta hand it to you, boy—I've seen plenty o' rough 'n' tumble mills, and I've seen plenty o' tough guys meet tough guys—but, Tommy, mitt me!"

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Formal Acknowledgment

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

1. Will you please write a note, accepting a wedding invitation written in the third person?

2. Also will you please advise me if it is necessary for all guests at a wedding party to wear full evening dress when the bride and groom are so attired?

KIRSTY.

If the invitation is to the wedding ceremony, it does not need an acknowledgment. But if it is for the reception also, this is the form of acceptance (to be written on the first page of a double sheet of letter-paper):

Miss Edna Kirckland accepts with pleasure Mr. and Mrs. Bride's Parents' kind invitation for Wednesday, the first of March at five o'clock.

2. Yes.

Using the Butter Spreader

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When crackers and butter are served with soup, is it correct to lay the knife on the plate under the soup bowl, or must you put it on the butter dish? I have found it inconvenient to place it on so small a dish.

PUZZLED.

A.—On your bread and butter plate, on the left of your plate, will be your butter spreader. You put the butter on your crackers with the butter spreader, and then rest the spreader on the bread and butter plate.

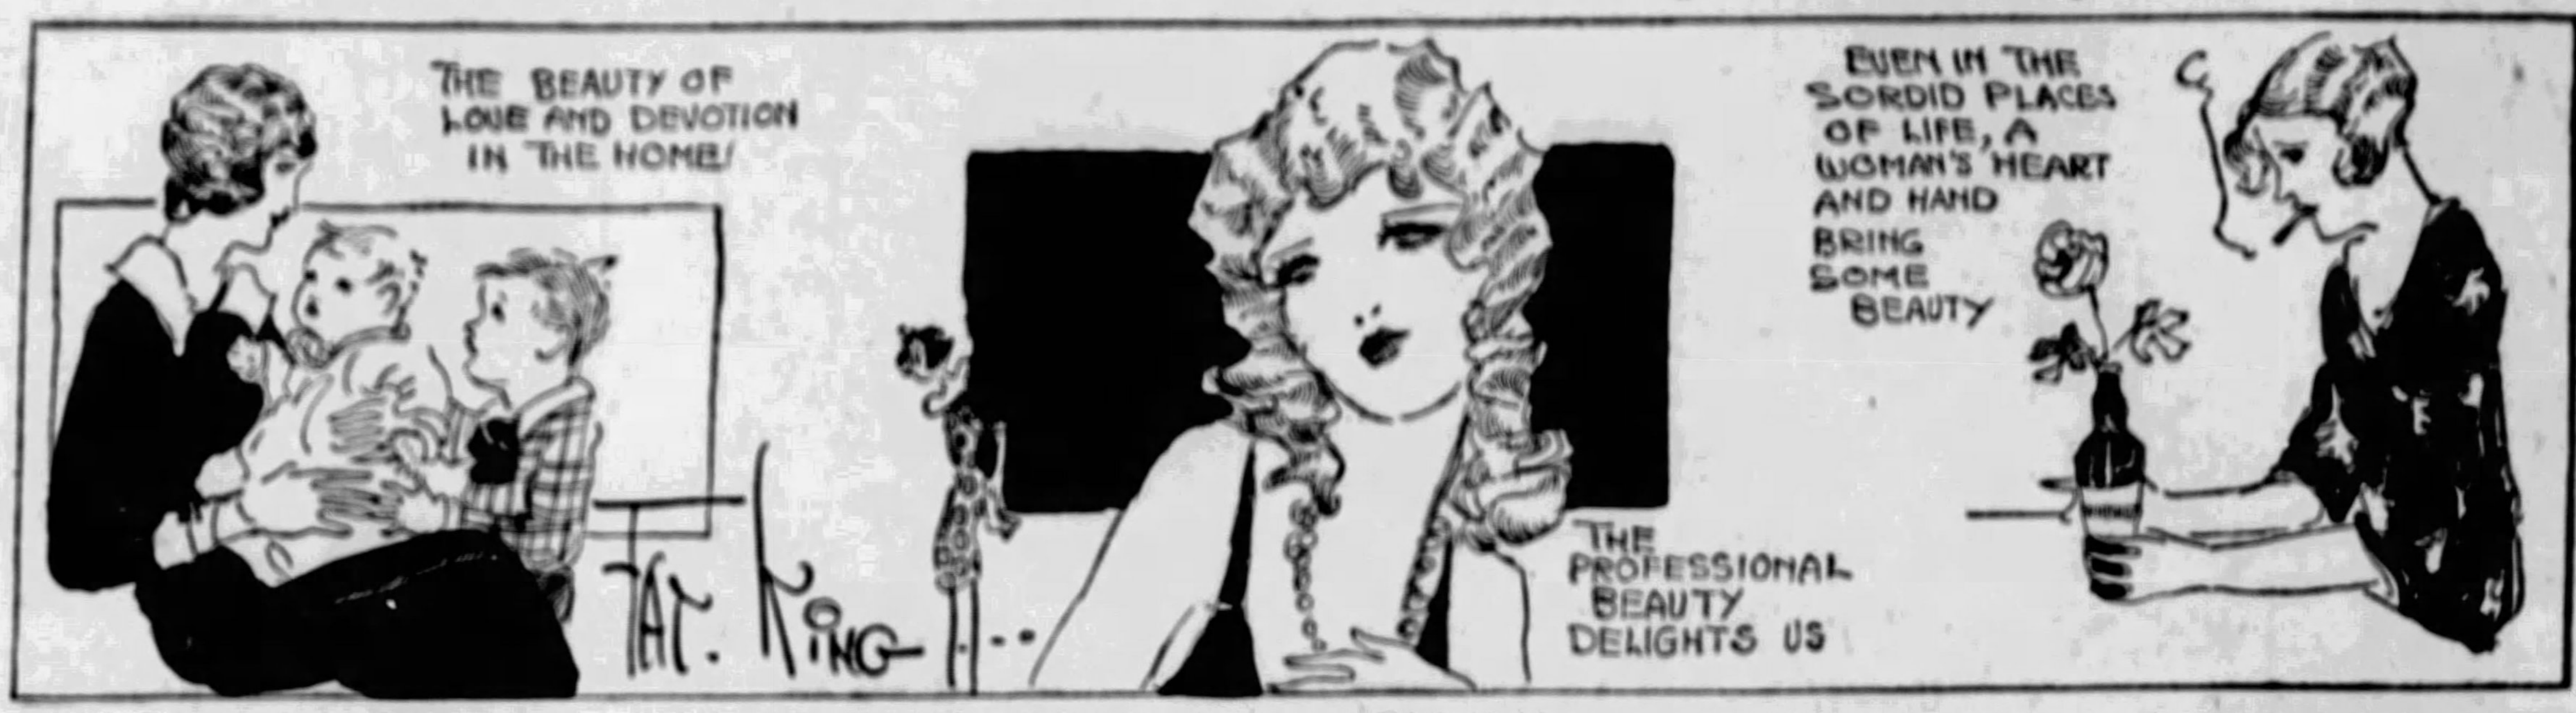
Women's Mission in Life Is the Creation of Beauty, Observes Fay King



THE BEAUTY OF LOVE AND DEVOTION IN THE HOME!
FAY KING
THE PROFESSIONAL BEAUTY DELIGHTS US
EVEN IN THE SORDID PLACES OF LIFE, A WOMAN'S HEART AND HAND BRING SOME BEAUTY

By FAY KING.

Beauty is women's mission in life.

Whether it is beauty expressed in perfection of face and form or the beauty of character expressed in sympathy and understanding, beauty is expected of her everywhere.

And where there is a woman we usually find beauty.

Even in the sordid places of life, a gentleness of heart and hand still survives, and one finds expression of woman's birthright to bring a touch of beauty into her surroundings.

Many women, plain of feature, have had great beauty of soul which was an inspiration to men to do fine works for the world.

Everywhere in the world we see beauty that women have created. No place so isolated, so barren but that a woman can make it beautiful.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation Of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Noel Presents a Problem.

I left Mary feverishly dressing for her shopping tour with me and went back into the living room, where I had left Lillian and Harry Underwood. Their chairs were drawn companionably close and Lillian was knitting—I surreptitiously had slipped a piece of her work into her bag when we started for the Catskills in the hope that before the journey's end her frayed nerves would be glad of the relaxation which the homely old art affords—while her husband was reading aloud. I stopped short, partly because I did not want to disturb them and partly from sheer reluctance to have Mr. Underwood stop reading. He has one of the most resonant speaking voices I ever have heard, and to hear him interpret a poem, as he was now doing, is a privilege—a rare one—for, unlike most people even remotely connected with the theater, he does not crave an audience.

"Bravo!" I said as he looked over at his wife after the last words of the poem, and his eyebrows narrowed into a frown at the word. But he grinned the next instant as I put up my hands with a hasty "Kamerad!" and I perched on the arm of Lillian's chair.

"I want your attention and your help," I said hurriedly. "I've made up my mind to give Mary a party—dinner, dancing and theater—either tomorrow night or the night after—the Brixton crowd and two or three others, a little older, if you know of any. I shall need your help, both of you."

"Granted, you know that," Lillian said warmly. "But you don't want any older than a college crowd—unless—but what are you going to do about Noel?"

"I don't know," I said. "That's one thing I want you to do for me—keep Mary up here while I telephone to Katherine from the booth downstairs. I may read the riot act to the youth——"

"Probably be the best thing for him," Lillian put in, and her husband nodded an assent. Then he rose and put his arms high above his head with a stretching motion.

"I'm betraying my sex," he said, "but what you want to make the party a success is more boys than girls. I happen to know of two West Point cadets from the far West who are going to be in New York for the Christmas vacation. Suppose I have them come to the party—in uniform, of course."

"You'll probably have to fish them out of the Hudson after the party has broken up and the other boys get through with them," Lillian said dryly. "But you have the right idea, of course. The only real trouble will be Noel—he's so moodily jealous."

"I don't think he will mind anything like that, now that he's sure of Mary. Prince Georges was a different sort of affair, of course."

"Better call up Helena Brixton at once," Lillian suggested. "Allah only knows what she has planned for the next two nights, and you don't want any conflicting dates."

"How much does Mary know about the affair?" Mr. Underwood asked.

"Just that I'm going to give one for her," I answered.

"You're not keeping the personnel secret?"

"Oh, no."

"Then wouldn't it save time for Lil to telephone Mrs. Brixton while you're downstairs talking to Katherine? You wouldn't mind Mary's overhearing that conversation, would you?"

"Indeed no," I answered, and left upon the word, thankful to have gotten away before Mary should come in.

Fortunately there was less than the usual delay in getting the farmhouse, and Katherine was most reassuring in answer to my questions as to how things were going.

"Couldn't be better," she said. "Oh, did Mr. Underwood connect with the friend who was so anxious to find him. A man who said he had urgent business with him kept the telephone wires sizzling here until I finally remembered the name of Hasbrouck, and that you might stop there if you stayed all night in the Catskills."

"Yes, Harry saw him," I said as the quickest way to end that discussion. I neither had time nor inclination to comment upon this confirmation of Harry Underwood's prophecy of what Katherine would tell me concerning the private detective who had trailed us.

"Tell me quickly," I went on, "how much can Noel stand?"

"Physically, mentally or spiritually?" she countered.

"A little of all three."

"Physically he's all right," she said. "There really is no need to treat him as an invalid any longer. But he is so depressed and moody that I am getting worried. He needs something to rouse him."

"He's going to get it," I said a little grimly. "Is he able to come into the city tomorrow and attend a theater and dancing party in Mary's honor tomorrow night or the next?"

"My word, but you are drastic," she said. "But—yes, he's able to go if he only thinks so."

"Then please call him to the phone," I said imperatively. "I want to talk to him."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Prompt Care Important in Cancer

Years ago the word "cancer" brought horror and fear to everybody. Cancer seemed about the worst thing that one could have. Today, this disease is still greatly dreaded, but it is handled more successfully.

Many of our best doctors and research workers have devoted their entire lives to the study of disease. Some have died in their efforts to solve the many problems met within the cure of this disease. This is particularly true of the X-ray workers. As a result of much exposure of to the rays, they suffered great burns and permanent bodily damage. These martyrs achieved much and their efforts were not in vain. Today, as a result of their work, we have much definite knowledge regarding this disease and how to control and apply the X-ray in safety.

I am often asked whether there is a cure for cancer. At present we know of no medicine, serum or inoculation that will cure cancer. Much valuable work is being done, but assertions or claims of cure are not to be accepted in the light of present knowledge.

I am sorry to say this, but, unfortunately, the "cures" offered the public are a snare and a delusion. Medical societies are endeavoring to place vendors of useless nostrums in the hands of the proper authorities.

Aside from the proper use of the X-ray and radium in certain types, surgery is the only cure for cancer. Cancer that is recognized in its early stages and removed immediately by operation will lead to cure in almost 100 per cent of cases.

As soon as you suspect something is wrong, no matter what it is, consult your doctor. The chances are you have no cancer, but if you have, and he advises operation, have it done immediately.

If we could only make everybody understand that surgery in the early stages of cancer is a simple procedure we could remove the terrifying and bitter effects of advanced cancer. Many finally submit to operation after having suffered untold misery not only for themselves, but for their families. It is then often too late to operate.

Sudden swellings, tumors, sores, abrasions and ulcers are not always true cancer. Delay in treatment of what in the beginning is a harmless thing increases the chances of development of the disease at a later time. The cure of cancer depends on early recognition of the disease and early operation. If surgery is the cure and must be done, why delay? Surgery will only cure if applied in time.

An early small operation often saves the necessity of having a larger operation done later. The sooner you have proper treatment the less the seriousness of the operation, the less the expense and the less the loss of time from your work. Take heed of all warnings that your body gives you. Above all things take advantage of all that modern science has to offer you.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, November 15

A fairly favorable state of affairs may be expected from the prevailing lunar transits, but the movement will probably be in a smooth running of things in mediocre grooves. Employment and finances may show some benefits, growth or advancement, but a peculiar or restless state of mind may have a tendency to negative these beneficies.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of fair conditions, with employment thriving favorably and with the finances showing some increase or small expansion. But these benefits may not be appreciated by a peculiar or erratic state of mind, which will lean to the occult or mysterious.

A child born on this day may have an unusual mental outlook, leaning to the occult or the unusual. It may have a fair success in employment and reach a small competence in life.

Charm—the Magic Gift

At 20 a woman is what God made her; at 40 she is what she has made herself. Unless, of course, she was born with "charm."

* * *

Charm has been called by a number of names—"IT," personality, magnetism; but it is a little of all of these, and no one of them quite covers it.

Charm is as potent at 60 as at 16, and as irresistible in a chromo as in a living-picture. Charm needs no make-up, no style, no pose and no publicity. It "gets across" all by itself. It is that intangible thing which gives one woman in a hundred a handicap over all the others in the race for love, power and admiration.

You may acquire beauty and cultivate personality. But charm is not a matter of rare beauty, superior mentality, genius or even sex-appeal. If you have it, you have it; if you haven't no beauty specialist or psychologist can tell you how to acquire it.

* * *

Charm is that indescribable quality in a woman's voice, manner and facial expression, which makes a man forget that her coloring is anemic, her mouth is too large, her hair is dull and her name is Susan.

It is that irresistible force which draws a man away from a group of laughing flappers to the side of a woman 10 years his senior, and makes him forget his dinner date.

* * *

It is that magnetic current, which benumbs a man's commonsense and lures him away from his own fireside to the hearthstone of a woman, who hasn't half his wife's looks or one-third of her talents.

Charm is that smoke screen, which sometimes hides a shallow soul, a childish mentality and a selfish parasitic nature. It is that anaesthetic which lulls a man's suspicion or distrust to sleep, robs him of his resistance and leaves him powerless in a woman's hands.

Charm is that indefinable fascination which unlooses in a man all the gallantry, the devotion and the generosity, which no amount of comradeship, loyalty or even beauty could inspire, without it.

Charm is not confined to good women or to bad women, to blondes or to brunettes. It is not confined to women. Lots of men are born with charm. Lots of beautiful women are born without a grain of it.

* * *

Charm cannot be acquired—and is never lost. It radiates through and around its fortunate possessor in invisible waves and washes up its trophies—love, adoration, popularity, devotion—at his or her feet.

* * *

It is a gift of the gods—as intangible as the X-ray, as powerful as radium—and as dangerous as both!

Tell It to Sally

By SALLY MARTIN

Should a Wife Play Up to Hubby's Tyrannical Whims?

Must mamma mind papa? Does the question make you snort and gnash your teeth, lady? Then tune in on Mary Jane's broadcast on the subject.

Frankly, we thought that the word "obey" had been left out of all up-to-date weddings . . . but evidently we've been misinformed, because here comes Mary Jane to tell us that she should. And she offers herself as Exhibit A. In fact, if she doesn't mind her "better half," he spanks her till she does . . . in spite of the fact that she's a hefty missis of 32 . . .

It was Loretta Brown who started this debate. Loretta had an acidulous tongue and a taste for tantrums . . . and when she got going, her husband slapped her and locked her in the closet to cool off. Whereat she flew to us with loud moans of indignation . . . and we told her to pipe down and act regular—for it was our personal belief that if a lady asked for a smack on the ear she should get it.

But we weren't prepared for this:

"Dear Sally:

"'Should Ladies Be Slapped?' I agree with you that they should—if they don't behave and mind their husbands.

"I don't want to set myself up as an authority, but I can give you the personal experience of a lady who occasionally gets . . . not slapped . . . but spanked. Yes'm. This lady gets spanked right across her husband's knee, just like a 6-year-old kid.

"I'm not saying that I crave this experience at all, naturally, because apart from the indignity of it, it is a painful process. But I have come to believe that certain things go together, and that I had it coming to me.

"It's my idea that when a girl has a sure-enough provider, that provider has to have a say, and a whole lot of say, about what she can and can't do. And if she doesn't mind him, well, it's just too bad for her, that's all. If he says 'no drinks' or 'no smokes' or 'don't go'—it's got to be 'nothing doin'' for little sweetie. And if sweetie doesn't want to follow papa's orders, let her step out and provide for her own self.

"But so long as Sweetie sits in Papa's Lap of Luxury, and lets him put up the money for what she eats and the roof over her head, then she should do what he says, within reason, of course. She shouldn't be asked to do anything wrong. And if she doesn't, then he's got a right to make her.

"That's why this lady doesn't do a lot of things she might do, and would like to do. Because if she does 'em, than Papa spank—and how Papa can spank!

"MARY JANE,

"Spanked at Age 32."

Phew! You certainly are a meek little girl, aren't you?

Should Mary mind Bill, just because she married him? What for? Why should she mind him any more than he should mind her? A woman is not a child, to be watched and scolded and ordered around, any more than a man is. Personally, it seems to me that any grown woman of 32, who allows herself to be bossed around and spanked like one, is a pretty spineless specimen.

Ladies are people, even though they're married, and so long as they're not criminals, they have a right to do their own thinking and to stub their own toes. And nobody, not even a husband, has any right to ride herd on them.

As for the theory that a wife can't call her soul her own simply because her husband pays the grocery bills—what's the big idea? Any woman who makes a home for her husband is contributing exactly as much to that marriage-partnership as the man who supports that home. She is under no obligations to him for said support—and she has exactly as much right to her "say" as he has to his.

And any woman who thinks otherwise, and who submits to spankings "rather than pay her own way, is my idea of nothing-at-all.

Is this all I'd like to say? No, it isn't, dearie—but I'm going to let the lady have a chance. Come on, girls! Mary's waiting!

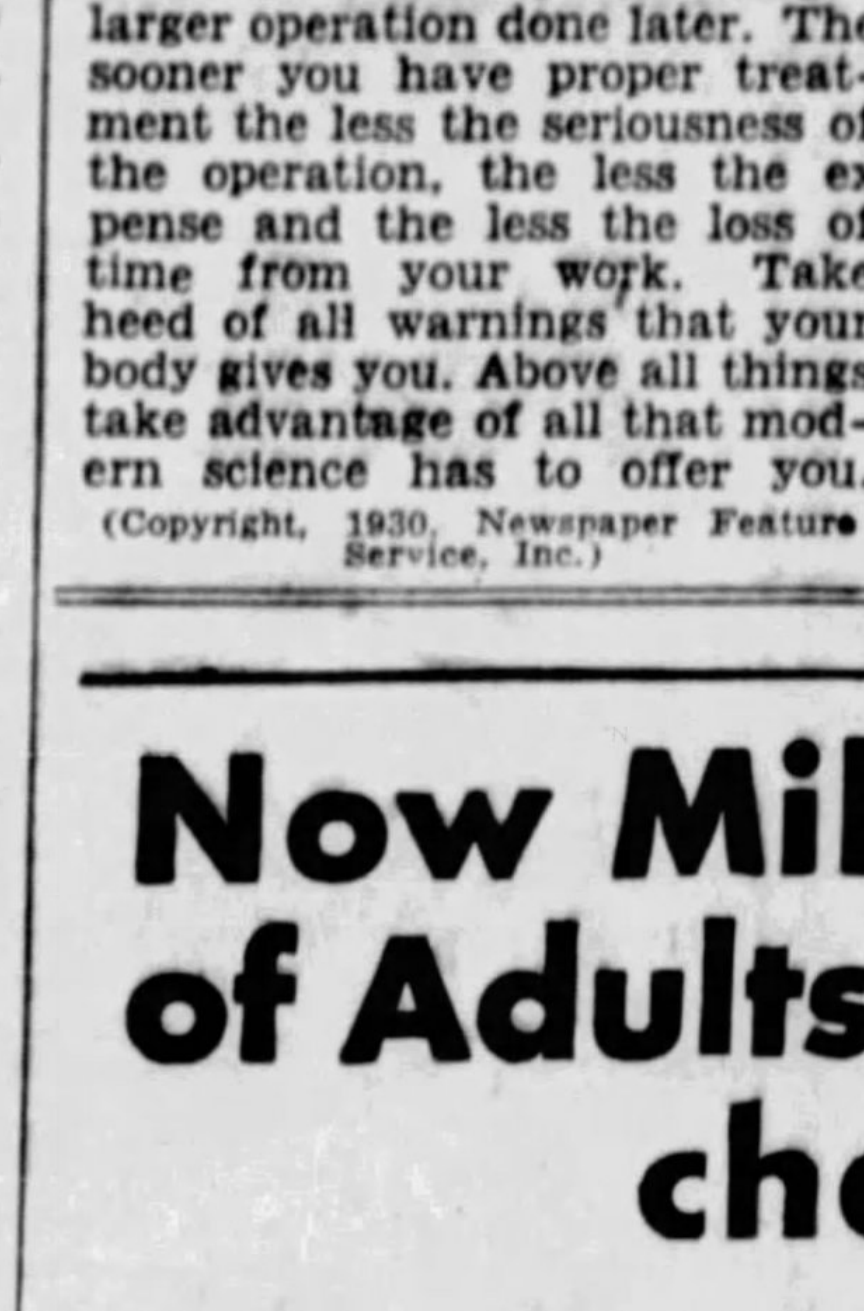
Now Millions of Adults, too, check Colds 2 WAYS at once!



To relieve that "stuffed up" feeling in the head, snuff Vicks up the nostrils; also melt a teaspoonful in hot water and inhale the steaming medicated vapors.

Mothers were first to appreciate the modern method of treating colds externally, because it avoids the constant "dosing" so upsetting to children's delicate stomachs.

Now millions of adults, too, prefer Vicks for their colds, because, just rubbed on, it brings relief two ways at once:

(1) Its medicated vapors, released by the heat of the body, are inhaled direct to the air-passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the breathing.

(2) At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster, thus helping the inhaled vapors to break up the congestion.

Milk Is One of Our Most Precious Foods

Every child should have at least a quart of whole milk every day—and the habit might well be carried on into adult life

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City
United States Senator From New York

Two factors have led to a steady increase in milk consumption within the past few years. They are the improvement in the milk supply and the educational propaganda which had gone forth from health departments, doctors and health agencies. The slogan, "Drink a quart of milk a day," has greatly increased the use of milk.

Milk is the most precious food we have. Its great nutritional value lies in the high quality of its proteins, it richness in mineral elements and the vitamins. Then too the fats are easily digestible. By that we mean the completeness and ease with which its food elements are appropriated by the body. Milk is classed among the "protective foods." It protects and guards the health by its many nutritive features.

Every child should have at least a quart of whole milk a day. Sherman, the well-known nutritionist, endorses this view. Speaking of the importance of the quantity of milk to be consumed, he said, "It seems a mistake to limit the recommendation of a quart of milk per day to the ages from infancy to puberty. Undoubtedly it would better be extended, probably to all ages. Certainly, it seems to me the boy should have his quart of milk per day until he is a man full grown, and the girl should continue to take her quart of milk per day until as a woman she has weaned her last child."

HARDY RACES

If we go far afield to the pastoral peoples who live largely on milk and milk products, we find what superior physical development and stamina are theirs. The peoples of Sweden and Switzerland, where there is approximately one cow to every two of the population, are hardy races.

Milk is an economical food. The protein of milk costs less than lean beef. It has been said that a good cow returns in the form of milk 20 per cent of the energy of her food, and the poor cow 12 per cent, while the beef steer, in the form of meat, returns only 6 per cent of the energy it consumes.

But it is not alone that the good dairy cow is highly efficient in her yield of entrgy. She is able to transmit for human consumption, the vitamins and mineral elements of her food to a much greater degree than the beef steer.

MILK MADE SAFE

There are many elements that enter into making this chief food of man palatable and wholesome. The first consideration is its sweetness, its cleanliness.

Science has brought pasteurization to make safe the milk supplies of the great cities and towns. Pasteurization has made safe the raw milk. It must be kept in mind that milk after being deposited on your doorstep, should be kept cool and be used within 36 hours. Beyond this time it is dangerous.

If you give the household supply of milk the proper care, keeping it always cool in the refrigerator until time to serve it, then you will have a palatable, body-building substance, as nearly as possible like nature intended you to have. I know of no better health-promoting habit for man, woman and child than that of taking a quart of milk a day.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

I feel so sorry for people . . . I mean those people who are incessantly afraid of something . . . Or somebody . . . Like the radio officials who deleted my opinion of the apple growers the nother night.

"You do not understand," they told me. "Radio is government controlled. The apple growers have power. If you offend them—they will get a Congressman to get up on the floor at Washington and make trouble for us. You mustn't say anything about them robbing profits from the unemployed apple sellers."

It would be all right, they inferred, if I booted obscure people—those without "power" . . . Omyes! . . . But I must never offend people like the apple growers . . . No? . . . Who says? . . . Who the hell are the apple growers? . . . You don't say??? . . . heheheh . . . Kick the little guy, but be careful of the biggie . . . Izzatso? . . . Well, they couldn't keep it out of the newspaper chain, by golly . . . No wonder the radio "personalities" are dull . . . They are handcuffed by men who are afraid of "power" . . . Schiller knew:

"The man who fears nothing is as powerful as he who is feared by everybody."

It is safer to be feared than to be loved.

It is more interesting sometimes looking at the audience on first nights . . . At the Cort, frixample . . . I counted at least a dozen married couples who weren't bored with the play as much they were bored with each other . . . Wonder if this unemployment situation isn't being exaggerated a little? . . . The Club Richman prepared enough food to feed 1,000 hungry people and only 200 showed up . . . That dame who tells fortunes or whatever it is in the Paramount Theater ought to be suggested for Vanity Fair's "We Nominate for Oblivion" page . . . But so should the dopes who listen to her . . . Wonder how come the rags haven't played up the $16,000 stick-up at the hotel on Lexington Avenue over 10 days ago?

Jay O'Brien, the playboy of two decades ago . . . Now 54, who doesn't appear to be over 30 . . . Once the husband of Mae Murray and now Dolly Fleischman's . . . Whose husband gracefully stepped aside, leaving her eight millions, when he realized that O'Brien, his "best friend," loved her . . . And then, two months later, died from grief . . . Love is like that, is it? . . . Wonder why love wilts? . . . And men like Russell Sard, who was Renovated the other day, spend $2,500 on a party at Guinan's to celebrate the event! . . . Kay Carroll of "Vanities" is "living" . . . It must be grand being contagious looking like Kay and having one man give you five thousand dollars in a lump every time he sees you . . . And orchids, and goodies and things and stuff and adoring you incessantly . . . Wonder if Kay's head spins every time he puts his paw in his pocket?

Jim Tully is an engaging bird, at that . . . His chief regret, he says, is that most of the written knocks are dull . . . And that editors would do much better if they would let him write them . . . "I am such a bad actor," he says, "that I am afraid I will be flooded with offers" . . . Heheheh . . . Didn't George Moore say, "Acting is the lowest of the arts?" . . . And that you can teach a child to act, but you cannot teach it to write or paint? . . . Tully dismisses the remark that he is the most hated man in Hollywood with: "Oh, well, there are a lot of us" . . . It makes me titter everytime I read that George Jean Nathan walks out on a new play after the first act if he no likes . . . George usually sticks it out until the very end if it is a poor show—just to observe how low some intellects are . . . Fiction is always interesting, anyway . . . The Chinese romance always ends with the hero triumphantly marrying both heroines.

Funny place Broadway . . . You're never missed. But so few of them realize it.

"What a guy you are!" groaned one long absent brother last night. "I'm gone from here nearly two years and you don't even welcome me back!" . . . Gone? . . . For two years? . . . Really? . . . "Where the grade is hard and the friends are few—where you're soon forgotten when your time is thru—that's where Broadway begins!"

He is merely one of the bulbs on the Great White Way and it pains him because no one knew he was gone for two days! . . . Mayor Rolfe of San Francisco, was here for a week and what paper mentioned it? . . . Cholly Knickerbocker defends a pet who is slammed in a new book with a long paragraph in his column by calling attention to the rap . . . Who was it said that: "Please never disgrace me with a defense!" . . . The pace is too swift on Broadway to remember things . . . Or people . . . And their achievements . . . Anderson of the Journal, Brown and Waldorf of the Post and I wasted five minutes the other night in front of a theater between acts trying to recall the name of the dramatic critic who led Variety's box score three consecutive times—when he was on the Evening Mail . . . And who was fired!

So New York dramatic critics are tough, eh? . . . In Chicago they're tougher than Capone, considering what one of them said about a star in a N. Y. hit show: "He shouldn't be allowed to wear the U. S. soldier's uniform!" . . . Mary Garden has mellowed. She says she never reads what the critics write about her any more, "because their abuse no longer interests me" . . . I think I understand . . . When you have enough security everything rolls off your knife . . . Wonder why the Dagmar Godowsky mix-up in Paree didn't land on the news cables? . . . Dagmar and her rich Argentinian were night-loafing it, when a waiter "insulted her . . . The Arge lost his nut and knifed the waiter thru the heart . . . Then Dag and the pash were jailed as "material witnesses" until things were silenced.

Three Film Parts Await Charlotte Greenwood, Lanky Comedienne

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1930, by [illegible] Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14.

A stage success in Los Angeles is almost sure to bring a player a bid from the movies.

Charlotte Greenwood is the latest example. Long neglected by film producers, the lanky comedienne can now choose from three offers as soon as she finishes her engagement for Henry Duffy in "Parlor Bedroom and Bath."

Buster Keaton

One of these offers is to repeat her current role when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer makes its talkie version of the seasoned farce. As printed heretofore, Buster Keaton is to star in this picture.

Still another offer is to play in a forthcoming John Murray Anderson picture at Universal. Mr. Anderson produced "The King of Jazz" for the Laemmles. His next picture is described somewhat cryptically as a "novelty." Universal offers the assurance that this is not another name for a musical.

Miss Greenwood's third offer is to play in a feature-length Christie comedy, "Meet the Wife."

Before she can accept any of these roles, the star will have to play a San Francisco engagement in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath."

PARENT-THETICALLY SPEAKING

Bill Parker likes to take his young daughter to the theater.

"The trouble," he complains, "is that the legitimate shows are too illegitimate these days."

FIGURES DO LIE

An obscure but ambitious employe of a local theater chain recently took up numerology.

One morning he announced that his parents had made a big mistake in naming his Harry. Hereafter, he would be Norman.

Three days later he was fired.

SEEK LILY DAMITA

Talk is in the air of Lily Damita doing a French version of "The Divorcee."

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is said to be negotiating with Sam Goldwyn.

And inasmuch as the Jolson picture has been postponed, there is no reason why Lily shouldn't have the role.

It is common knowledge that "The Divorcee" has been one of the big money-makers of the year. Likewise, it was the instrument of Norma Shearer's winning the Film Academy's award for the best performance of 1929.

Lily is now completing "Fighting Caravans," opposite Gary Cooper.

WHEN IS A STUNT MAN!

"Suicide" Buddy Mason, who recently was married astraddle a beam on an unfinished skyscrapper, suggests a measuring-stick for motion picture daredevils.

"When they pack you into the receiving hospital and the attaches greet you by your first name, then you're a full-fledged stunt man."

The trouble, of course, is that it is so simple to become an ex-stunt-man.

SPARE THE CHILD

Despite Fox's cajoling, Ann Harding will not allow her 2-year-old daughter, Jane, to play a part in "East Lynne."

Ann Harding

It isn't prejudice against an acting career, but fear of the effects of the child's working under the bright studio lights.

According to the blonde star, "East Lynne" could scarcely be recognized in its present guise. A complete modernization has been effected.

DO YOU KNOW that Lupe Velez' mother was a Mexican opera singer?

Tear Gas Routs Bank Robbers Second Time

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The Highwood State Bank at Suburban Highwood probably was saved from robbery by tear gas for the second time this year.

Four men attempted to hold up the bank. Two entered, one stood guard outside and the fourth waited in an automobile, the motor running.

Edgar Benson, assistant cashier, released the tear gas, and the would-be robbers coughed, cried and fled. They fired six shots at Benson, but none took effect.

Prominent

Mildred McCoy has a prominent role in "It's a Wise Child," Belasco comedy production coming to the Nixon next week.

PLANE TO LAND ON ROOF BUILT

OIL CITY, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—A new style airplane, designed to take off and land on buildings, has been invented by Charles Delo, of Knox. Patents on the plane have been issued at Washington.

The craft has two propellers, a large one in front and a small one in the rear. It also is equipped with an air funnel which takes the air currents from the propellers and releases them under the plane to assist it in rising. The same funnel, when closed, is aimed to assist the ship in settling down without approaching a landing place at an angle as in the case of the regular airplane.

REOPEN CHURCH IN OAKLAND

The Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, delivered the principal address at the re-dedication of the Oakland Presbyterian Church last night. The church, in which Dr. Kerr started his career 33 years ago, has been moved and remodeled.

The address of welcome was delivered by the Rev. George L. Clunt, pastor. Several of the oldest members of the congregation spoke on the early days of the church.

The Oakland Presbyterian Church has been moved to Ward street and the Boulevard of the Allies from Ward and Wilmot streets to make way for the Boulevard of the Allies extension.

ASKS BUSINESS TO ADVERTISE

Advertising to stimulate business and overcome the mental attitude of merchant and buyer is the solution of commerce, according to F. B. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register Company, here today for a meet of local sales staff in Hotel William Penn.

Mr. Patterson asserted:

"Today's depression is entirely a mental attitude. The merchant fears to purchase stock. Let him go out for business, advertise to bring the buyer to his store and the situation will change. October was the largest month's business this year for our company, exceeding the same month last year, which was the highest record.

"We are employing 6,400 workers, the same figure as 1927-28, operating on a five-day week."

Clark for Cleanup Of 'Filthy' Stations

Cleaner police stations, or a new force of janitors, was the edict today of James M. Clark, director of public safety, when he called in 30 janitors and cleaners and told them:

"No police station in this city is clean enough for outside visitors without embarrassment to Pittsburgh officials. If you men cannot clean those stations and keep them clean, get out. I will fire every man who lays down on the job."

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 14.—The body of John Hadjau, of Pricedale, mechanic at the West Side Transit Company, Charleroi, was found yesterday under a bus on which he had been working. Carbon monoxide was given as the cause of death. Hadjau having speeded the motor of the bus to help his work.

KILLS WIFE, SELF OVER $16 AUTO

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Driving home from Erie yesterday, Harmon Heddrick, a farmer, suggested to his wife that they sell the family car for $16. Mrs. Heddrick objected. They quarreled. A half hour later Heddrick shot his wife, mother of eight, and himself. He died instantly; she died early today in a hospital.

Neighbors told state police they saw the couple quarreling as they reached their home. A short time later, they said, Mrs. Heddrick ran screaming from the house, her husband in pursuit, gun in hand.

In a field, almost a mile from the house, Heddrick fired, his wife fell, wounded in the back. Then Heddrick fled. Cornered by state police, Heddrick shot himself.

TO QUIZ POLICE IN DOG KILLING

James M. Clark, director of public safety, has called a public hearing for 11 a. m. next Wednesday in his office, to investigate charges that two policemen beat a dog to death several days ago in Montour Way. Oliver J. Keller wrote the director a letter protesting against the manner in which the dog was killed. Edward Graney, cornerman, and William Cheetham, mounted patrolman, figured in the affair.

Graney asked Cheetham for his riot club, he says, because of reports that the dog was mad. He says he did not wish to fire and injure a pedestrian. He first struck the dog, then dragged it into Montour Way and fired a shot into the animal.

PITT UNDEFEATED IN GAMES ABROAD

Dr. J. B. Sutherland

WITH THE PLAYING of tomorrow's game against hio State in Columbus, Pitt's football team will complete the ngest road schedule ever carried out by a Panther eleven. For the first time in their history as major collegiate pigskin performers, the Blue and Gold gridders this year contracted to play a greater number of contests abroad than at home. Five tilts were booked for foreign fields against only four on native soil, a program that put Dr. Sutherland's athletes in a position to rival Notre Dame for the title of Ramblers. The Irish this season also scheduled five engagements abroad, but carded one more home event than the Panthers.

The Columbus number will wind up Pitt's foreign operations for the year, and if the Sutherlands win or draw they will gain the record of having come hrough their hardest road season without a defeat. Of the ur games already played away from home they won three nd tied one. They defeated West Virginia in Morgantown, 16 o 0; Western Reserve in Cleveland, 52 to 0; Syracuse in yracuse, 14 to 0, and got a scoreless tie with Nebraska in incoln.

THERE IS A good prospect that the Panthers will keep the road ate clean by taking the measure of the Buckeyes. The latter put er an impressive victory last Saturday by crushing the Navy, 27 to after losing to Northwestern and Michigan and playing to a tie ith Wisconsin, but Sutherland teams are seldom defeated in No- mber, and this is not likely to prove one of the rare occasions.

While Pitt is playing Columbus, Carnegie Tech will take a day f and the Dukes will meet Geneva in Beaver Falls. Though they ave never defeated Geneva on its own field during a period of com- tition that started 28 years ago, the Bluff- es have a good chance to break the ice this me. With all the home gridders absent idle, Wash-Jeff and Bucknell will furnish e week-end football entertainment for cal fans at Forbes Field. W. & J. has ever lost a game to Bucknell, but will find a hard job to keep that record intact in a ar that sees Bucknell represented by one f its best teams.

Ralph Kress

Joe McCarthy isn't getting off to a nooth start in the American League. The ew manager of the Yankees already has a ttle difficulty on his hands as a result of is recent remark that he would like to get nfielder Ralph Kress from the St. Louis rowns.

Mound City critics and fans are accusing McCarthy of tampering, pointing out hat a public expression of that nature by he Yankee manager might easily have the ffect of causing Kress to become dissatisfied with his present berth, hus lessening his playing value.

TO KEEP KRESS from getting the idea that he was slipping as a Brown and was about to be discarded, the owners of the St. Louis club have made haste to sign him to a new contract for 1931. They deny the report that he is on the market, though admitting he is no longer to play shortstop. It is their plan to convert him into a third baseman next year, and he is to be succeeded at shortstop in the Brown lineup by a boy who is now playing independent football here—Jimmy Levy, of the Majestics, a member of the Wichita Falls club, the Browns' Texas League farm, during the baseball season of 1930.

WITH THE PIRATES right now it's just a case of cleaning ouse, President Barney Dreyfuss explains, referring to the numerous eleases handed out at Buccaneer headquarters recently. He says he ould see no good reason for delay in the dropping of players whom Manager Jewel Ens decided he would not be able to use to advantage next year.

Heads have been falling right and left in the Rovers' camp since the 1931 managerial question was settled and Ens began to swing his ax. Within the last 18 days, Shortstop Dick Bartell has been traded to the Phillies, Catcher Al Bool has been transferred to the Braves, Max Carey has been dismissed as coach, while Outfielders Dennis Southern and Foy Frazier and Infielder Charley Engle have been shipped to the minors.

WHETHER ANY OTHERS will be added to the outgoing list later will depend upon developments. It is believed that the roster still includes one or two players with whom the management would not be averse to parting if an opportunity to use them in deals were to present itself.

For the present the only dickering planned has to do with the acquisition of a couple of new catchers. It may be necessary to go to the minors for them, as none of the major league clubs appears willing to put a price on a seasoned receiver.

Ed Baecht

WHAT WAS THE agency that caused Ed Baecht to develop suddenly from a pitcher who had failed to prove good enough for even the Phillies into a twirler capable of winning 26 games against 12 defeats for Los Angeles? That question is being asked by many baseball fans following the announcement that Baecht has been called to the Cubs for next year from the Angels. The Phils did not drop this pitcher hastily. They shifted him around from Pittsfield to Portland, to Rochester, to Toledo in an attempt to develop him, but at no time when they called him back did he show enough ability to warrant his being retained. Now he bobs up with one of the best records in the Double A loops.

NIGHT BASEBALL MAY be the answer. According to one well-informed scout, Baecht has no great amount of pitching stuff aside from a fast ball. That's not enough in the majors, but perhaps it explains the new Cub's success in winning 26 games on the coast. They play night ball out there, and a batter hasn't got much chance against a speed pitcher under artificial lighting conditions.

The same scout says night ball has boosted the records of other pitchers on the coast, and declares that after looking over the entire field there isn't a hurler in the league whom he would recommend for service in the big show. That's another angle that makes night ball objectionable to major magnates. They can't tell whether a pitcher on the Mazda circuits has been winning through his own ability or because the floodlights handicap the hitters, so that buying such a flinger has become more of a gamble than ever.

IN THIS CASE, William Wrigley, Jr., won't lose much more than Baecht's railroad fare if the former Phil fails to make good. It was

LONDON SEXTET HAS EDGE IN CLOSE FIGHT

By CARL W. SHATTO.

A fine display of the "old fight" in a gallant attempt to rally and pull the game out of the fire in the closing period eased the sting of defeat as Pittsburgh's Yellow Jackets lost to the London Panthers, 3-0, in ushering in the International Hockey League season at Duquesne Garden last night.

A capacity crowd turned out to compare the new International loop variety of hockey with the discarded National League brand and to compare Roy D. Schooley's new ice machine with the departed Pirates, and the Jackets did not appear to suffer in the weighing.

Local fandom's readiness to turn thumbs down on a loser is well known, and it may be that the Jackets now will have to fight their way into a place in the sun of popularity here. The fighting spirit which they evinced in the closing period last night indicated that they are well equipped for such a skirmish.

THIRD PERIOD THRILLER

The greater part of the action in the inaugural battle was confined to the closing period. Both the locals and the visitors refused to "open up" in the first stanza, in which most of the shooting was of the long-range variety. "Safety first" tactics remained in vogue during the first 11 minutes of the second period, but at 11:35 Goldsworth, Panther right wing, eluded the Jacket defense and let go a hot shot to the upper strands of the net a fraction of a second before he was knocked to the ice by the pursuing local backfielders.

The remainder of the period found the Jackets attacking with more vim and abandon, and in the third stanza they provided the furious action which local fans had expected, only to be outscored through the individual brilliance of Grosvenor, London center. About mid-period the Panther pivot outmaneuvered the Jacket defense and passed Goalie Bud Fisher with a close-in stinger, and a minute later he repeated the performance, this time skating right between Green and Yankoski, at the defense points.

TEAMWORK IMPROVES

The teamwork of the local front lines showed improvement from period to period, and it was this improved passing which gave Gregg, Fields, Proudlock, McBride and Smith exceptionally good scoring opportunities. Fields missed when he lost possession of the puck after feinting Goalie Stewart out of position, and the others were thwarted by the visiting net guardian's wizardry. Had Stewart not had an "on" night the decision easily might have been swayed to the locals. No Panther score was due to Fisher's inefficiency, and the local defense probably will receive much of Coach Charles Reid's attention for the next few days.

Although Schooley and Reid experimented considerably with their front line combinations, no individual was a standout. McBride proved to be a capable defense man, and his fine stick handling enabled him to break through the Panther defense repeatedly. He outclassed any backfielder on the ice as an attacker.

VICTORS LEAGUE'S BEST

The conquerors of the Jackets are reputed to be the strongest club in the circuit, and the locals expect to have a few victories under their belts by the time they meet the title favorites again. Five former National Leaguers are on the London squad.

Stiff body checking was much in evidence, and several times fist fights were narrowly averted. Jerry LaFlamme, National League referee last season and apparently a fixture as a referee here, handed out five penalties in the last stanza.

Charles L. King, International League president, faced off the puck to open the game. A heavy fog clouded the ice throughout the fray.

Although outscored, the locals were not greatly outplayed, and their title hopes are far from dead. The lineup:

Pittsburgh—0.		London—3.
Fisher	G.	Stewart
Yankoski	D.	Reise
Green	D.	Holway
Fields	C.	Grosvenor
Proudlock	W.	Briden
Gregg	W.	Goldsworth

Pittsburgh spare — Berlett, McBride, Moore, McLeod, Halliday, Laroche, Ouelette, Smith, M. Moore and McIntyre.

London spares—Laughlin, Renikka, Groh, Quenneville and Jenkins.

First period—No scoring. Penalty—Green, tripping.

Second period — Scoring — Goldsworth, London, 11:35. Penalties—Green, tripping; Quenneville, tripping; Goldsworth, cross-checking.

Third period—Grosvenor, from Goldsworth, 11:23. Grosvenor, 11:35. Penalties—Briden, fighting; Fields, fighting; Groh, roughing; Holway, fighting; McBride, fighting; Ouelette, roughing; Laughlin, roughing.

Referee—Laflamme,, Montreal.

PLAY 0-0 TIE

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The New York Americans and Toronto Maple Leafs played the first scoreless tie of the new National League hockey season in the local opening last night.

DETROIT VICTOR

DETROIT, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Detroit's Falcons opened the National Hockey League season here last night with a 1-to-0 victory over the New York Rangers, and 11,000 spectators saw one of the fastest exhibitions of skating in many a day.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: DANIEL FOSS—Foss, a native of Elkton, Md., was the only person saved from the ship "Negociator," of Philadelphia, which went down in the Pacific Ocean, November 26, 1811, bound for the Friendly Islands. Foss was cast upon a desert island and lived for five years on seal meat and rain water. (Reference: "Nautical Lines," Vol. 12 (New York Public Library) and Relics in Philadelphia Commercial Museum.) HORSE SHOD WITH GOLD—Miss Edith Thompson, an eccentric American living at Edinburgh, Scotland, had her pet horse shod with horseshoes of solid gold, to the indignant surprise of the thrifty inhabitants of that city. TOMORROW—THE LONGEST FORWARD PASS.

WANER REGAINS HIS HEALTH

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

A real note of optimism was sounded in the Pirate family today with the announcement that Outfielder L. Waner's health is better than it has been for years.

The good news was contained in a letter received by the mother-in-law of Brother Lloyd, Mrs. Lydia Snyder, who is the owner of an Oakland flower store.

Lloyd Waner

The ailing centerfielder and his wife left for Lloyd's Oklahoma home when the Pirates closed their season about six weeks ago. He played a few exhibition games for the edification of the home folks and then apparently went into seclusion.

Lloyd felt that a long rest would be just the sort of a tonic needed. Little was heard of him in the interim, but now comes the news telling of his response to rest. Pirate officials were elated over the message.

President Barney Dreyfuss was ready to write Lloyd regarding his condition when he received the welcome news.

BENEFIT GAME SET

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 14. — West Liberty College and Salem College will play a charity game here on Saturday night, November 22, under the auspices of the Wheeling Den of Lions, the proceeds of the game, over and above the actual expenses of bringing the Salem College Tigers to Wheeling, to be turned over to the Lions Club to relieve suffering among the needy and unemployed during the coming winter. The decision to sponsor the charity game was decided at a special meeting of the Lions Club directors on Thursday afternoon.

PITT IS 10-8 FAVORITE

By JESS CARVER,

Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—For a town that goes consistently for football in the big way this one does, and has been accustomed to colorful gridiron pageants such as attend the visits here every year of teams such as Michigan and Illinois and other Big Ten teams, Columbus is outdoing itself in smoking up tomorrow's game with Pitt.

The fact that the Panthers are making their first invasion of a Western Conference stronghold has something to do with the peppery way in which Columbus is anticipating this game, of course, but even so interest is keen enough and the ticket sale fast enough to warrant the prediction that better than 50,000 persons will view tomorrow's clash.

PANTHERS FAVORED

Pitt is repaying Ohio State's visit to Pittsburgh of last year. Ohio State hopes to repay Pitt for the 18-2 setback the Golden Panthers served the Bucks by taking 'em over tomorrow, a feat the gamblers think cannot be done to the tune of about 8 to 10. Those are the odds the boys want on Ohio.

The Panther varsity squad is due to arrive here from Pittsburgh early this evening, and will be quartered at a nearby country club, the name of which is being withheld. The influx of Pittsburgh rooters and students began this morning, will continue throughout the night as one special train and hundreds of private cars roll into the city, and reach its peak tomorrow a. m. as the main body of the 8,000 or more supporters of the Gold and Blue strike town.

The game itself has the boys guessing. There will be a game, of course, but close observers are afraid it may turn into the same

BUCKNELL DRILLS HERE

BISONS PRIMED FOR W. & J. TOMORROW

Bucknell University's gridiron host, primed to the minute for the battle in the Pitt Stadium tomorrow with Wash-Jeff, arrived on the scene of battle from Lewisburg this morning. Detraining at the Union Station, the squad was taxied to the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, where Bucknell headquarters have been established.

The Presidents will wind up their drills for the game with the Bisons on their home grounds at Washington, Pa., today and will not come to Pittsburgh until shortly before game time tomorrow.

WORK AT STADIUM

Bucknell worked out on the stadium turf this afternoon, the final polishing up drill prior to the battle.

Interest in the game between the Bisons and the Red and Black has been mounting steadily. Officials of the two institutions report a fair advance sale, and are hoping that a fair day tomorrow will bring out a good-sized crowd.

Tonight a smoker for alumni of both schools will be held.

Elmer Layden put his Dukes through their final drill in preparation for the all-important tussle with Geneva this afternoon. The Dukes have put in a busy week prepping for the Covenanter clash, a battle Duquesne is very anxious to win. In addition to attempting to make it two in a row over the Beaver Falls team, the Dukes hope to ring up their first victory over Geneva on the latter's home gridiron.

DUKE STARS RETURN

Duquesne stock has taken somewhat of a boost following the return to the lineup of Sammy Pratt and Joe O'Donnell, injured end and tackle, who were unable to play against North Dakota last week. Kass Kovalcheck, the hard-hitting fullback, still is on the shelf and is not being counted on for any future service this season.

Special trains, buses and private automobiles will carry a host of Duquesne rooters to Beaver Falls tomorrow for the game. Geneva authorities anticipate a record-breaking crowd for Reeves Stadium for the battle. The probable lineup for the W. & J.-Bucknell game:

W. & J.		Bucknell
McNeil	L.E.	Stonebraker
Levine (C)	L.T.	Trudnak
Cochrane	L.G.	Mutzel
Rigney	C.	Crowe
Demas	R.G.	Hock
Lipman	R.T.	Marter
Harris	R.E.	Nikodem
Shaffer	Q.	Vetter
Smith	L.H.	Brumbaugh

ROCKNE SEES PITT DEFEAT

By KNUTE ROCKNE,

Member All-America Board of Football.
(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

Minnesota and Wisconsin hold the key to the Big Ten championship, the Gophers being one of the two remaining barriers for the Wolverines, while a fighting Badger crew invades Evanston determined to upset the Purple's title hopes. Anything may happen. Minnesota may take Michigan, but I doubt it. Wisconsin may best Northwestern, but it is improbable. Northwestern has too much of a ball club.

Knute Rockne

Rentner and Russell both are powerful line-plungers. Bruder is a great interfering back and end runner, while Rentner's passing is as good as the best in this part of the country. Behind a big, husky, powerful line it looks like a great team. Northwestern appears just a little too strong for the very fine Wisconsin team which Glenn Thistlethwaite has brought along.

The Illinois-Chicago game should be fairly close, as Chicago showed nice improvement last week-end. However, Illinois has too many fast backs for the Maroons.

I believe Ohio State will take Pitt, but it will be nip and tuck. Iowa looks little better than Penn State, while Purdue eases off against Butler preparatory to their final game against Indiana next week.

The most important game in the Big Six country will be the fracas between Oklahoma and Kansas. The big Kansas team apparently has wilted and the chances look ripe for Oklahoma cinching the championship. I believe the Kansas Aggies will take Iowa State and that Nebraska will take Missouri.

The undefeated Marquette team takes on Detroit in what should be a very fine afternoon of football. Detroit has been playing some very good ball, but Marquette has a slight edge. I look for Wabash to take Franklin, Boston College to defeat Loyola, Coe to nose out Knox, Dayton to Many interesting soccer battles are carded for this week-end, with cup ties and league games on the schedule. The national amateur cup holds the spotlight.

There is a wail from managers paying linesman for games in the cup ties. At Curry, with gate receipts around $43, $17 was appropriated for officials. In some games, the one at Leslie Field featuring the Celtics, did not have three officials.

The Celtics at Crafton, Pierpoints at Douglas and Union Switch meeting the Rovers at Leslie Field, are all carded tomorrow.

Morgan meets Houston in the Keystone League, and Manager Howard Mangus should get in touch with the Houston manager before the game. The Pintex team ' Castle Shannon will clash with Cecil on the latter's grounds.

On Sunday, Bridgeville goes to Primrose, and Hays or Curry goes to Dunlevy. The usual heavy schedule of games in the Panhandle and Mon-Yough leagues will be played.

DUKES PLAN BANQUET

CITY SCHOOLS END SEASON TODAY

GAMES TODAY

CITY LEAGUE

Section I

Schenley at Peabody

South at Fifth Avenue

Westinghouse at Allderdice.

Section II

South Hills at Carrick

Allegheny at Oliver.

Another City League gridiron season will be wound up with a full card of contests today. After today's encounters, all that remains is to decide the league title, with Westinghouse, rulers in Section I, and likely South Hills, leaders in Section II, clashing for the honor.

The season has been a fine one, with a long-ruling champion displaced and a team long noted for the ineffectiveness of its play, up among the leaders. Schenley, thrice section and league champion, was knocked out of the running early in the campaign by South High, a team usually regarded as a setup.

Westinghouse, which brings its season to a close today against the comparatively weak Allderdice eleven, has won the section crown and will go into the final against the Section II champ, hoping to keep the league title in possession of Section I. Westinghouse has shown a well balanced eleven all season, is undefeated in league play and will rule a slight favorite in the intersectional tussle.

SOUTH HILLS IN FRONT

In today's feature game, in Section II, South Hills will attempt to sew up the sectional gonfalon by defeating Carrick High, where Ted Lyons has a well-drilled eleven awaiting to test the prowess of Majeskie's charges. South Hills appears to have the stuff to beat Carrick, but the Lyonsmen will fight and may be able to spring an upset by tying or beating the Tunnelites.

In a second Section II tussle, Oliver and Allegheny clash on the Oliver gridiron. The outcome of this contest remains a toss-up.

In division one, Schenley and Peabody wind up their more or less drab campaigns with a battle at Peabody. South tackles Fifth Avenue at Malone Field and the Westinghouse-Allderdice tussle completes the program.

The W. P. I. A. L. card for the day is comparatively light. One night game is to be played, Jeannette and Charleroi clashing under the lights at Charleroi. Ben Avon and Bellevue, Dormont and Mt. Lebanon, Monessen and Duquesne, Crafton and Bridgeville and Verona and Oakmont tangle in neighborhood features of old standing.

WEST, FIRPO CLASH AT MOOSE

By HARRY KECK,

Sports Editor.

Tiger Joe West, of Charleroi and Donora, the man who would fight Mickey Walker, goes to the post in a test match in the windup at the Moose Temple tonight, facing Henry Firpo, of Louisville, an old acquaintance, who knocked him down in the first round and won the decision over him in a bout at the New Castle Jolly Bowl more than a year ago.

West is getting from Promoter Apples Meyers a chance that has been denied him by other promoters to prove his worth. He already has beaten Harry Harris, of Bellaire, O., at the Moose, and if he gets safely past Firpo, a tough, semi-bald hombre who can punch, he will be sitting right for some top matches in these parts this winter.

ANNARINO IN SEMI

A good preliminary card backs up the West-Firpo engagement. Georgie Annarino, of Newark, O., makes his local debut, and a much heralded one it is, too, against Anastasio Vacquerio, the Panamanian, in the six-round semi-final. In two six-round preliminaries, Frank Novak, North Side heavyweight, boxes Walter Gallagher, of Dormont, and Al Munro, of the Hill, meets Marty Gornick, of McKeesport.

Firpo weighed 158 pounds and West 157 at 3 p. m., today. Annarino scaled 117 and Vacquerio 113½. Novak tipped the beam at 192½ pounds and Gallagher at 199, while Munro weighed 142½ and Gornick 138.

The first bout is set for 8:30.

Between Rounds

The card has been completed for Monday night's show at Motor Square Garden with the signing of Marcus Noll, hard-hitting Negro southpaw, formerly of Detroit, now of Pittsburgh, to box Al Becker, of Sheraden, in the second bout. Joe Glick and Tony Herrera meet in a return bout in the 10-round main event; Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O., and Eddie Brannon, of the Hill, box the eight-round semi-final, and Johnny Montebano, of Braddock, and Steve Senich, of Homestead, furnish the opener.

Harry Ebbets and Ben Jeby, middleweight rivals, box the 10-round semi-final to the Al Singer-Tony Canzoneri 15-round bout for the lightweight championship in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight, with Jimmy McNamara and Sally Schwartz in another 10-rounder. The windup will be broadcast by radio over WCAE, beginning at 9:30 p. m.

Dick Daniels and Charley Belanger box at Minneapolis tonight. Sindulfo Diaz meets Johnny Vestri in a 10-rounder in Brooklyn; Gene Moretti boxes Jimmy Smith and Al Ettore engages Bob Schilling in Philadelphia; Ray Kiser meets Carlos Garcia at Laredo, Tex.; Tommy Herman battles Louie Mays and Roy Williams takes on Tiger Jack Payne at Des Moines, and Ray Alfano and Sammy Offerman clash in St. Louis. An amateur show under the auspices of the Bender A. C., will be held in Turner Hall, Monessen.

TECH TO PLAY IN BENEFIT

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Two football games for the benefit of Philadelphia's large list of unemployed were agreed upon today at a conference in Mayor Harry A. Mackey's office.

Carnegie Tech, of Pittsburgh, and Temple University, of Philadelphia, meet in one of the games, and Villanova College and Washington State College, leader of the Pacific Coast Conference, will meet in the other. Both games will take place on Franklin Field, the University of Pennsylvania's home grounds, which have been donated for the purpose.

Carnegie and Temple will meet on November 22, and Villanova and Washington State a week later.

IS SCHEDULED GAME

The Carnegie Tech-Temple game at Philadelphia is a regularly scheduled game. Tech will donate its share of its game with W. & J., at the Stadium here on November 29, to the local fund for the unemployed.

BAER MEETS BRADDOCK

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Max Baer, sensational California heavyweight, will meet Jimmy Braddock, of New York, in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden December 19, it was announced here yesterday.

sort of an affair other Pitt and Ohio State tussles with other foes have this year. Pitt has played about one-half of a good game, and Ohio had a good afternoon only once, and then against a weak opponent, the Navy.

Local folks are banking strongly America Wesley Fesler to either hold or beat Pitt. Fesler is both an offensive and defensive star. He's a good enough kicker, and accurate passer and good enough on the defense to rate all-America spots two years in a row. He's being used at end on the defense and in the backfield when Ohio has the ball.

Unfortunately for Pitt, the Panther will be unable to snap at the Buckeye in the best of trim. The center of the Pitt line, meaning Daugherty, the snapper-back, and Lewis and Milligan, the two guards, have been pounded and pounded in the last three games. The situation will be somewhat alleviated if Hart Morris is able to go in there and stay. He played most of the fourth period against Tech and came out of the game without aggravating the injury to his shoulder.

BACKS IN SHAPE

Sutherland's backs, with the single exception of Bulldog Reider, are in good trim and ready to go. Reider is still the most bandaged member of the hospital list and does not figure to start tomorrow. Josh Williams, the veteran Farmer Boy of Mars, Pa., will be back at right halfback, paired off with Warren Heller.

Capt. Eddie Baker at quarterback and Jimmy Clark, at full, are the other backs certain to start; Baker will do the kicking off and the punting.

There is some doubt in the Ohio State ranks as to the physical fitness of Stu Holcomb, Erie (Pa.) halfback, who turned up Wednesday with a slight boil on his right hand.

Yesterday he reported with the rest of the squad, but merely walked around the practice field and took no part in the more strenuous work of the afternoon.

Dr. Walter Duffee, team physician, and Trainer Tucker Smith, both say Holcomb will be able to start the game, but Coach Willaman is not counting on his presence.

All Ohio State fraternities and sororities have declared open house over the week-end and plan to make the stay of the Pittsburgh contingent an enjoyable one.

WHEN we searched England this year for the newest Styles to show you this Fall, we discovered that Bartley & Sons and G. W. Bunting Ltd., two of the most prominent Royal Bootmakers, were both using Martin's of Glasgow Scotch Heather Grain in their most popular models, which we purchased to reproduce for you.

Now there is only One Genuine Scotch Grain. There is no substitute. It is made from the finest selection of Calfskins in Europe and tanned by a secret process, known only to W. & J. Martin of Glasgow.

There was only one way to reproduce these wonderful shoes made by Bartley and Bunting,—and that was to purchase identically the same expensive Leather that they used.

And that is exactly what we did. Our representative went immediately to Glasgow to see Mr. Martin personally, and we placed orders for 200,000 square feet of the same identical tannage that he supplies the Royal Bootmakers.

It is the largest order Mr. Martin ever received. Today we own more of Martin's Genuine Scotch Grain Leather than any American Manufacturer and all of the Custom Bootmakers in England and America combined, and we are showing in our windows today, more Scotch Grain Shoes than anyone else, at any price.

If you want to see the Original $35. hand made Scotch Grain Wing tip Oxford by Bunting or the Original $30 Blucher Brogue made by Bartley, look in our windows today, and right side of each Original shoe you will see the Regal Reproduction for $6.60.

And if you step into the store, we will be glad to show you 25 other Styles made of Martin's of Glasgow Genuine Imported Scotch Grain.

SANDLOTTERS IN BIG GAMES

OLYMPICS OUT TO KEEP HOLD AT TOP

By TOM BIRKS.

Fred Iverson's Olympics will be fighting to hold their first place berth in the independent gridiron conference Sunday afternoon when they meet the Mystics at Ambridge.

The Olympics went into undisputed first place last Wednesday evening when East Pittsburgh lost in the final minutes of play to the Olympics, and while the Tube City gridders are fighting to stay on top of the heap, West View, Burns and the Majestics will be battling to overcome the slim lead of the Black and White.

West View and the Majestics are going to park in the cash customers. These are old rivals and the fans go for these games in a big way, knowing that plenty of football will be on tap.

Burns clashes with Joe Wambaugh's outfit at the Quarry Stadium, and, seeing that the Firemen are the most improved team in the conference, lots of things should happen. Burns is confident of winning the title, and has the easiest schedule of all the clubs to play in the next three weeks.

MY FIFTY YEARS IN BASEBALL

By CONNIE MACK,
Manager, World Champion Philadelphia Athletics

INSTALLMENT NO. 59.

When I returned to the Edgewater Beach Hotel after Ehmke's astonishing victory, I was so fatigued from the strain of the afternoon that I decided to cloister myself in my room.

I knew if I appeared in the lobby or in any public place I soon would be exhausted from answering questions and receiving congratulations.

Connie Mack

It was the best policy to hide.

On reaching the hotel I immediately went to my room and instructed the telephone operator not to connect any calls with me.

I stayed in that room until the next morning.

I learned later that guests of the hotel cheered Athletic players as they filed into the dining room and that Ehmke was obliged to go on the stage and make an address.

After the game, scores of telegrams were slipped under my door and in fact there were so many that it was impossible to read them at the time. I carefully saved them to reply to them at the end of the series.

I did not have to devote any thought to my pitcher for the second game. My choice was as clear as a crystal. It was to start George Earnshaw and have Grove in the bullpen ready to relieve him.

Pat Malone was the Cubs' selection and he started by fanning the entire Athletics side in the first inning.

In the third inning, Malone began to slip. Two were out when Cochrane whaled him for a single and Simmons walked. Then Jimmy Foxx made Athletics followers happy by clubbing the ball over the left field wall for a home run and put us out in front.

In the fourth inning we were after Malone again and hammered out three more runs on hits by Dykes and Simmons and passes to Bishop and Cochrane and an error by English on Earnshaw's grounder. Blake replaced the battered Malone in this rally.

With the score 6 to 0, the Cubs rallied in the last half of the fifth, when they did all their scoring. Earnshaw lost control and also was hit hard, and, with three runs home, two on bases and two out, Grove went in and fanned Pinch-hitter Hartnett to get the side out.

GROVE IS VICTOR

Grove continued his high pressure pitching and blanked the Cubs for the remainder of the game. In the seventh, Blake became wild and was relieved by Carlson, who was hit freely, the Athletic scoring one run in the seventh and two more in the eighth. Nehf finished the game without the Athletics scoring, so we won, 9 to 3.

In this game, Earnshaw had fanned seven opponents in four and two-thirds innings, while Grove struck out six in four and one-third innings for a total of 13, or a total of 26 for the first two games, setting a new world series record.

Immediately after the game, there was a lot of hustling to get away for Philadelphia, where the next leg of the series would be played.

One day was allowed for traveling and three games, if necessary, were scheduled for Shibe Park on the following Friday, Saturday and Monday.

It was a happy crowd of players that boarded our de luxe special. A lot of friends of the team, including Mayor Mackey, of Philadelphia, were along and the players felt like a football team just after it had won its big game of the season, although they still had hard work ahead of them.

To everybody it was plain what a commanding position we held in the series.

We had beaten the Cubs twice on their own grounds, where they had been regarded as unbeatable because of the peculiar construction of the field.

All we had to do was to win two out of three games in Philadelphia and the series would be ours.

For the Cubs to win, they had to take two out of three games in Philadelphia and then go back to Chicago and win two straight. That seemed a large order for a team beaten twice so handily on its own grounds.

We arrived at the North Philadelphia station Thursday afternoon and found several thousand fans waiting for us. The boys received a noisy and whole-hearted reception.

"End the series in Philadelphia," was the cry of the milling mob of enthusiasts, and this my players promised to do.

As a matter of fact, that thought sank deep in their hearts all through the train ride home.

Not one of them wanted the series to go back to Chicago.

SCOVILLE WINS LOCAL BILLIARD ELIMINATION

Frank Scoville, of Buffalo, emerged the victor in the national three-cushion billiard elimination play, concluded at the Ellis Recreation Parlors last night. He finished the round-robin tourney with four victories and no defeats, and Charles Ellis and Billy Greenwood, local aces, were the victims in his last two triumphs.

In the first match last night, Greenwood bowed to Scoville, 50 to 34, and in the final match for the laurels, Ellis lost, 50-44.

Scoville will oppose Alfred De Oro, winner in a like elimination in Boston, at New Haven, Conn., on November 19, 20 and 21, and the winner will represent the East in the annual tourney.

I. K. S. TO MEET TEMELES

By JULIUS LEVIN.

Coach Ziggy Kahn's 1931 edition of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House team, including several newcomers, will make its official start on Friday evening, November 21, when it opposes the well-known Temeles, of Weirton, W. Va., on the Center avenue floor. In the preliminary game, the I. K. S. Reserves meet the Temeles' Reserves.

The Settlement House passers have been working for several weeks in preparation for one of the toughest schedules ever arranged for them by Manager Sam Spokane. Besides arranging games with the leading amateur teams of Western Pennsylvania, Manager Spokane has closed negotiations with the officials of Duquesne University and Geneva College for contests on the local floor late in December. The Dukes will be the first college quintet to appear at the I. K. S., meeting the Kahn passers on December 19. One week later the Covenanters will be the attraction here.

The W. U. Hoyles, who were runners-up in the amateur tournament last year, will appear on the Center avenue floor on November 28. The Hoyles will be out for revenge against the I. K. S. inasmuch as the Kahn quintet was the one that eliminated it from the running for the amateur championship at the Y. M. H. A. floor last winter.

The Y. M. H. A. quint opened its season last night with a 37-17 win over Hilltop Y. M. C. A. The lineup:

Y. M. H. A.—37.		Hilltop Y—17.
Alman	F	Carnahan
Klateman	F	Jones
Greenberg	C	Port
Closky	G	Linsley
Malamude	G	Hassenfritz

Substitutions—M. Paris, Lubic, Phillips. Field goals—Alman 3, Klateman 2, Greenberg 2, Closky 2, Malamude, M. Paris, Caranhan 2, Jones, Hassenfritz 2, Lubic 4, Phillips 3. Fouls—Y. M. H. A., 7 out of 10; Hilltop Y., 1 out of 7.

Floor Notes

The Duquesne Lafayettes, of the Allegheny County League, are making an effort to sign Eddie Lowman, former center at Duquesne University and later with the Fintex quintet.

Ward Murphy, star of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House quintet, is working out with the Fintex team. Murphy is one of the most promising centers in local basketball circles.

The Goldenson Vanities, champions of the tri-state district last winter as a result of winning 27 straight games, including a tournament in Cleveland, is open for games abroad with first-class girls' teams. Dates may be obtained by writing the Goldenson management, 1214 Carson street.

FARR VICTOR

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Johnny Farr, of Cleveland, fought a fine battle to win in 10 rounds over Freddie Miller here last night.

PEREZ KNOCKED OUT

MIAMI, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Tommy Cello, California star, knocked out Louis (Kid) Perez, Cuba, in the second round here last night.

Sport Vignettes

In case you didn't know, Nate Lippe, brother of that other Nate (how odd!) Lippe, former Geneva College star and now coach at Aliquippa High School, is a member of the freshman basketball squad at Ohio State, and is regarded as a great prospect there. . . . He formerly played for Harding High School in Aliquippa and for the Irene Kaufmann Settlement here. . . . Brooks Paulsey, of Youngstown, who played on the basketball team at Geneva College two years ago, may be the regular varsity basketball center at Ohio State during the coming season. . . . He weighs 180 pounds and stands more than six feet in his socks.

Dr. J. C. Heller, the well-known dentist, still enthuses over Pitt's victory over Tech last Saturday, Pitt being his alma mater. . . . Andy Gustafson, former Pitt fullback and now backfield coach of the Panthers, might be tempted to speak words of praise for Bulldog Reider, the Pitt halfback. . . . Dick Larkins, end, is president of the senior class at Ohio State University; Bob Haubrick, tackle, is ditto of the junior class, and Marty Varner, halfback, the same of the sophomore class. . . . Larkins, incidentally, is the only married man on the squad.

The East will see a pretty good football team from the Pacific Coast in action tomorrow, when the eleven of little St. Mary's College, of Oakland, Cal., stacks up against the undefeated Fordham Rams in New York . . . St. Mary's, coached by Slip Madigan, a former Notre Dame star, has done a lot of things to the big Coast teams in recent seasons and has won all of its games so far this year with the exception of a 7-6 battle with California . . . Despite the long trek across the country, it figures to give the Fordham aggregation all it can handle . . . The best battle of the day in this sector tomorrow should be that Duquesne-Geneva clash at Beaver Falls, with Howard Harpster, former Carnegie Tech ace, vieing with Elmer Layden, erstwhile Notre Dame Horseman, on the coaching lines . . . Geneva has lost only to Bucknell in an early-season engagement and is keyed up for the attempt to take over the team that outgrew the Tri-State Conference.

Unless the Jimmy McLarnin fight took even more out of him than was apparent on the surface, Al Singer ought to be able to survive his 15-round lightweight championship battle with Tony Canzoneri in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight without losing the title . . . Canzoneri is a great little showman, but Singer appears to pack too much class and punch for him . . . There is a lot of rivalry between the two sides of the Fordham line to see which can keep from being scored upon first . . . Conroy, Foley and Tracey make up an Irish side and on the other side are three Poles, Elcewicz, Miskinis and Wisniewski . . . The line hasn't been scored through all season . . . Horace Grube plays end on the Temple University eleven against Lafayette tomorrow and the end coach of Lafayette is Frank Grube, former Lafayette star . . . Just another brother act.

HARRY KECK—

Nittany Lions Off For Iowa State

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The Penn State football party, consisting of 25 players, with their coaches and managers, left here last night for Iowa City, where Iowa State will be met tomorrow. Edwards, a regular backfield man, joined the squad in Pittsburgh, where he went for treatment of minor injuries.

The players making the trip, beside Edwards, were: given out that the Cubs had paid the fancy price of $20,000 and seven players to Los Angeles for Baecht, but that only gives the fans a laugh in view of the fact that Mr. Wrigley owns both clubs.

Capt. Diedrich, French, Evans, Livezey, Hoquet, Laisch, Miller, Snyder, Yost, Kaplan, Martz, Grimshaw, Brewster, Shawley, McMillen, Stembeck, Duvall, Curry, Gillard, Zorella, Toran Decindis, Kane, Bauman and Hi ler.

Probably the St. Louis Nationals will follow with a similar story telling of the huge sum they paid the Rochester International League club for First Baseman Jim Collins. The men in control of the Cardinals own the Rochester club just as Wrigley owns the Los Angeles plant, and the acquisition of Collins cost them exactly nothing.

Jim Bottomley

THE ATTEMPT OF the average baseball chain store operator to make himself look like a liberal spender by plastering a price of five or six figures on every player he calls in from one of his own farms has become one of the game's biggest jokes. The day is long past when the fans could be fooled with that sort of bunk. The side of the Collins transfer that really interests them is that it appears to confirm reports of the last three months that Collins is slated to play first base for the Cards next year and that Jim Bottomley is to go. After the feeble showing he made in the late world series, the Redbird chiefs may find it difficult to get as good terms for Bottomley as they originally anticipated, but that he will go to another National League club in some sort of dicker there is hardly any doubt. Chicago still looks to be his most likely destination.

EVEN THOUGH IT had one unwelcome note in a 3-to-0 defeat for the new home team at the hands of the visitors from London, Ont., International League hockey must be said to have got away to a promising start in Pittsburgh. The capacity attendance and the enthusiasm with which the Yellow Jackets were greeted in their first appearance were convincing evidence that the new venture here has the approval and support of fandom.

The failure of the Jackets to make a better showing in the opening game may well be overlooked. The club is a brand new one that must feel its way and do considerable experimenting for a time before the best combination of players possible can be found and before the right degree of teamwork can be developed. Opposed to a set and established team, the performance was by no means discreditable. One game doesn't make a season.

Chrysler, Long Cautious, Now Starts Buying

By B. C. FORBES

DETROIT, Nov. 14.—Walter P. Chrysler, among the few American industrial leaders to foresee and prepare for the storm which burst last fall, and who has followed a very cautious policy ever since, said to me:

B. C. Forbes

"I have now changed my attitude. I am placing contracts for materials and commodities because I have become convinced that prices for all of them are now extremely low.

"I feel that any user of commodities and materials who neglects the present opportunity to lay in supplies will have occasion to regret it.

"The same thing is true of stocks—with a few exceptions, among high priced, rather than low-priced issues."

THIS TRANSFORMATION in Mr. Chrysler's attitude will interest many because of his reputation, both inside and outside of the motor industry, for sound judgment and ability. When the crash came last year, one of the most influential motor giants in America told me:

"Walter Chrysler foresaw sooner than the rest of us what was coming and began putting his house in order ahead of any other automobile companies. The result was that, when the collapse came, he was sitting in a very pretty financial position. I know that when pandemonium was raging in Wall Street, Walter was actually lending millions on call."

HAVING VISITED New York this week, Mr. Chrysler told me:

"Some of my friends in New York are buying now for the first time this year. They are satisfied that quotations for the great majority of stocks won't go substantially lower. Of course, nobody can tell whether they may sink a point or so, but it is extremely unlikely that the low-priced and medium-priced stocks these men are buying will dip appreciably under the lows touched within the last few days.

"Personally, I no longer feel bearish. I am optimistic now."

"SOME OF THE lower priced stocks are extraordinarily cheap. They are cheap even on present low earnings; that is, they are selling at a relatively low number of times their net profits."

MR. CHRYSLER said he has little patience with the Chicago and New York bankers who pessimistically compare conditions now with those in 1920-21. He exclaimed:

"Heavens on earth! The bankers apparently forget that they then had to take over many concerns because they were up to their eyes in debt and couldn't meet their obligations. Business concerns have not had to be taken over wholesale by bankers this time. Money was then scarce and dear and inventories were embarrassingly heavy. Money, as everybody knows, is now going abegging at the lowest rates seen in a generation. Inventories certainly are not top-heavy. Bankers do not have to take over this, that and the next concern in order to run it and get their money back.

"Then there is another very important consideration. Look how wealth has been created and distributed all over the country in the last 10 years. There is no comparison between conditions now and then. So whenever I hear bankers whining, I try to refresh their short memories."

CONCERNING THE outlook for 1931, Mr. Chrysler said:

"Understand, of course, that I am not looking for any startling recovery this week or next week. We may continue to move along without any great betterment until after the turn of the year. I figure, however, that the improvement in commodity prices, in stock prices and in other directions will become sufficiently convincing to the public at large that around the first of March the change will begin to gain some speed.

"Don't get an exaggerated idea of what I expect. Frankly, I don't believe that 1931 will be a really good year. The total for the year may only approximate the 1930 total. The first half is unlikely to equal the first half of 1930, but the last half, in my judgment, will be distinctly better.

"While I don't look for average gross business to show any substantial increase, I do certainly expect net earnings in 1931 to be distinctly better because everybody has been exercising the most vigilant economy and is operating more efficiently. When volume expands, net will show very fine gains."

AFTER AGAIN emphasizing that he had started in confidently to buy commodities and materials, Mr. Chrysler's parting remark was:

"Yes, I now feel sure that the whole thing is about over."

Pennsylvania Yields 6.6 Per Cent

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

PRICED TO YIELD 6.6 per cent, the stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has become one of the most attractive investments in the class of high-grade railroad equity securities. The stock is currently selling in the vicinity of 60. This represents a moderate recovery from the recent low of 55½ made during the general decline in the market.

While earnings have been sharply reduced, net income after all charges will cover dividend requirements of $4 a share by a very substantial margin this year. With its long record of uninterrupted dividend payments and its demonstrated ability to show satisfactory profits in both good and bad times, the carrier is one of the outstanding systems among the strong Eastern trunk lines.

Sells for 8.4 Times Earnings

IF 1930 EARNINGS are estimated at $5.90 a share, average earnings for five years would be $7.13 a share. At present prices the stock is selling for only 8.4 times this amount. In 1929 Pennsylvania Railroad earned its dividend requirements more than twice. Net income after all charges was $101,487,062, or $8.83 a share on 11,495,128 shares of stock. This compared with $82,460,942, or $7.34 a share on 11,233,479 shares in 1928 and with $68,217,256, or $6.83 a share on 9,985,314 shares in 1927.

Reflecting the business depression, gross railway operating income in the first nine months of 1930 declined 15.4 per cent to $441,913,776. This was accompanied by a drop in net railway operating income of 33.3 per cent, which carried this item down to $71,475,385. In the month of September gross operating revenue was $48,501,127, a decline of 20.6 per cent. Net railway operating income for the month was $8,609,896, a decrease of 37 per cent from a year ago.

Facilities Improved

THE RAILROAD HAS been making large expenditures to improve its operating facilities since the termination of Federal control following the war. Among the most important parts of the improvement program are the electrification of eastern portions of the line, improved freight and passenger terminal facilities and the construction of new trackage to facilitate the movement of freight in congested districts. The improvement program is being carried on in spite of the business depression.

The Pennsylvania's principal lines are strategically located in some of the most highly developed traffic areas in the East. The constant improvement of physical properties and rolling stock insures the fact that the line will be able to maintain its present strong position.

Future of Railroads

WHILE THE POSITION of railroad investments may be somewhat impaired in the near future by increasing competition from other forms of transportation and the gradual whittling away of freight rates, the strength of the Pennsylvania gives the line a margin of safety which should be sufficient to absorb losses of revenue likely to result from these changing conditions.

Rubber Consumption Gains in October

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Consumption of crude rubber by United States manufacturers in October totaled 27,271 tons, an increase of 8 per cent over September.

October imports of crude rubber were 43,729 tons, against 39,467 tons in September and 43,725 tons in October, 1929.

Stocks on hand October 31 were 184,701 tons, an increase of 9 per cent over September 30, and comparing with 88,483 tons on October 31, 1929.

National Biscuit Co. After Wheatsworth

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Frederick Beers, president of the National Biscuit Company, has confirmed reports that National Biscuit is negotiating for the purchase of the business of Wheatsworth, Inc., manufacturers of biscuits and wholewheat flour. He declined, however, to express any opinion as to when a definite announcement might be expected. An official of Wheatsworth also admitted that conversations were in progress, but would not comment further.

A. & P. 10-Months' Sales Exceed $900,000,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's October sales amounted to $100,960,189, against $105,995,108 in October, 1929, a decrease of 4.7 per cent.

Sales for 10 months totaled $901,129,179, compared with $856,940,565 in the corresponding 1929 period, an increase of 5.1 per cent.

Woman Fools Police In Sob Story Racket

NEW YORK—(INS.)—The unemployment wave has produced a new "racket," police have learned to their chagrin.

Moved by the heart-rending tale of a woman who gave the name of Mrs. Celia Becker, police subscribed $25 to buy food for her and her 8-months-old baby and rented a room for them across the street from a police station. Twenty minutes later they called at the room to find the woman and her child gone.

This compares with $2,454,000,000 in the preceding week, and with the high record of $6,804,000,000, recorded October 2, 1929.

STOCKS CLOSE 1 TO 5 POINTS HIGHER

Advance Lacks Vigor Till Final Hour, When Shorts Rush to Cover; Coppers Up

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The stock market closed higher for the fourth successive day today—the first time the market has made such consistent progress since May.

The advance, however, lacked vigor until the last hour, when nervous shorts who had been playing for a reaction hurried to cover. Final prices were 1 to 5 points higher.

Coppers again rallied briskly as it was reported late in the day that some producers were asking 12 cents a pound for the red metal, making a total advance this week of 2½. The copper market was confused, however, some dealers reporting no takers at 11½.

GOOD GAINS MADE

Union Pacific gained 5 points, American Telephone and Granby Copper 4, and shares finishing 2 to 3 higher included Anaconda, American Smelting, Howe Sound, American Water Works, American Tobacco B, New York Central and Goodyear. U. S. Steel, Standard of New Jersey, General Motors, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco and Bethlehem Steel gained 1 to 2 points. Trading was light until the last hour. Sales aggregated 2,500,000 shares.

The most reassuring item in the day's news was probably the tumble of $219,000,000 in brokers' loans for the trading week ended Tuesday. This further drop reduced the loan figure to $2,235,000,000, the lowest in the four years that the Federal Reserve tabulation has been kept, and less than one-third of the total of September, 1929. In connection with this deflation, it is notable that many stocks are now selling at levels where they can be bought outright for what it cost to buy them on margin 14 months ago.

LOANS INCREASE

The weekly bank statements indicated that the loans on security collateral by New York banks to others than brokers again increased moderately. Some observers feel that it indicates purchases of securities by strong interests. The statements also showed that the Federal Reserve had added about $21,000,000 to its holdings of bills. One theory advanced for this was that sterling bills had been purchased to support the exchange rate and prevent embarrassment to the Bank of England by keeping the rate above the gold point.

Call money remained at 2 per cent, with plenty available at substantial concessions in the outside market.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Sensitive to purchases that were ascribed to government-sponsored sources, the Chicago wheat market developed notable irregularity today. The December delivery scored price advances at times, whereas quotations on other deliveries dropped. A general depressing factor was an official estimate that Canada's 1930 wheat yield was 11,000,000 bushels larger than was forecast in September.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

LOCAL MARKET STEADY AND NARROW

Leading Fuels Hold Near Previous Closing Levels; Industrial Issues Quiet

Trading volume tapered off slightly on the Pittsburgh Stock exchange but prices maintained a steady to firm tone under the influence of the continued rise on the New York market.

The leading fuel issues started the session at practically unchanged figures, but as trading progressed it became apparent that the supply of stocks around the recently prevailing levels was steadily diminishing, and buyers were forced to raise their bids. The industrials showed only small changes. The market was confined to a comparatively few issues, most of which have been more or less active in the daily dealings for the past week or so.

Lone Star Gas maintained its position a little above 24, the price to which it rallied following the sudden downward swoop at the beginning of the week, when it reached a low of 20½, the bottom figure of record for the shares as set up at present.

Most of the heavy industrials here appear to be pretty well liquidated, but buyers have not as yet displayed any inclination to bid actively for the stocks.

COPPER RAISED TO 12 CENTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—All producers are asking 12 cents a pound delivered for copper to the end of March with some asking that for November and December. Some sales have been made at that price. This is a rise of 2 cents a pound in two days. An advance of ½ cent in the domestic price to 10 cents a pound, delivered, Wednesday, marked the first price rise in the metal for several months. Copper wire and brass products have been advanced in line with the metal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Companies producing 90 per cent of the world's copper have reached agreement to voluntarily reduce output 20,000 short tons a month.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—General Cable Corporation and Revere Brass Corporation, in reflection of the better price trend in the copper market, have been booking a substantial volume of new business in the last few days.

Copper Shares Enjoying Market Prominence At Moment.

Not since the days of 18 and 24-cent copper some two years ago, have the red metal shares enjoyed the prominence marketwise which is theirs at the moment. The fact that surplus stocks on hand in the western half of the world, totaling 605,000 tons at the end of October, were the largest in years if not for all time seems lost to sight. Traders are concerned now only with the trend of the metal price, and with copper reported to have been sold at 11 cents for domestic delivery here today, talk was current of an early rise to the 12-cent level. Opinion seemed to be that the latter price would probably prevail on metal for domestic delivery early next week. Fabricating companies made adjustments to correspond to the changed price level in the domestic market during the day.

Things have been developing in the copper situation in the last fortnight with leading world producers after a series of conferences having agreed on plans for curtailment of output to the extent of 20,000 tons a month. In other words output is to be brought approximately in line with consumptive demand. Since the beginning of the week the price in New York and at London has been rising. But the upturn has been caused chiefly by the withdrawal of leading producers from the market at certain levels and seemingly not by any concerted rush of consumer buying. The fact of the matter is that several of the largest American consumers are understood to have covered their needs for the next four to six months. Thus it appears the real test of the price situation will come when leading producers offer the metal freely.

With results for the year to date showing both sales and profits ahead of 1929, Reynolds Tobacco Company probably will show earnings for the current year considerably in excess of the 1929 record. It will be the tenth consecutive year in which Reynolds has shown an increase in earnings. In 1929, earnings reached a record high of $32,210,521. Indications are net income for 1930 will total around $36,000,000, equal to $3.60 a share on the combined common and common B shares.

Three mild rallies do not make a bull market, neither do they give definite indication that the end of the 1930 bear market is at hand. Weak spots may yet be uncovered, and pitfalls removed by powerful banking aid. However the bear market has succeeded in forcing down prices of many giltedge stocks like "gas, telephone, steel and can" to a 5 per cent dividend basis (including extras) thus inviting discriminating investment buying.

One of the most favorable factors in the automobile situation is the low ratio of stocks on hand by dealers. Reports indicate that Chevrolet with 11,000 outlets has stocks worked down to about 3½ cars per dealer; Hudson, with 3,800 outlets, has stocks worked down to about 1.4 cars per dealer; Chrysler reports stocks 75 per cent below the level of a year ago, and all along the line similar evidence is found.

A group of representative public utility stocks are now appraised at approximately 13.9 times latest available per share earnings, according to a study by a stock exchange house. This compares with a peak of 35 times earnings in September, 1929; 12.7 times at the 1929 low prices, and 11.5 times in March, 1926. The current cash dividend on these stocks is about 4.76 per cent.

Net income after interest and preferred dividends was $2,133,358, compared with $1,114,849, an increase of nearly 100 per cent.

Briggs Manufacturing Company for the September quarter reported net profit of $1,001,723, equal to 50 cents a share, compared with $887,724, or 44 cents a share, in the September quarter of 1929.

International Nickel Company of Canada third quarter net equals 10 cents a share on 14,584,025 common shares, against 20 cents a share on 13,758,208 shares in the preceding quarter and 37 cents a share on 13,758,208 shares in the like 1929 quarter. Nine months' net equals 58 cents a share on 14,584,025 shares, against $1.11 a share on 13,758,208 shares in the 1929 period.

Pittsburgh Brewing Company for the fiscal year ended October 31, 1930, reports net profit of $36,488, the first year in which a profit has been shown since 1919. This compares with a net loss of $45,521 in the previous year. Net income this year is equal to 30 cents a share on 122,002 shares of preferred stock outstanding. Accumulated dividends on which December 1, 1930, will amount to $35.87½ per share.

Martin Parry Corporation reports for year ended August 31, 1930, net loss of $442,802 after interest, miscellaneous charges, etc., against net loss of $590,372 in the previous year.

DAILY TRUE STORY

The Tenth Point

"Possession," said Douglas Evans Waithe, attorney-at-law, to his charming wife, "is nine points of the law."

"Oh, Douglas," Mrs. Waithe wailed, "don't stand there and talk law to me—that won't get Rosie back."

"My dear Muriel, there are other cooks—"

"Not like Rosie. Good lawyers may be plentiful, but not good cooks. Can't I do something?"

"Why yes. I was going to suggest something."

"Good. That's splendid! I was just thinking that it seemed a shame to have a husband who was a noted lawyer and not have him able to twist the law about so I could prevent a catty, despicable, nosy neighbor from hiring her away from me. Now you just start your law machinery going and get Rosie back."

"Alas, Muriel, the law doesn't stretch out with quite so much power as that."

No Legal Way

"Law—the law! If that unspeakable Mrs. Longchamps has cornered nine points of law by possessing my Rosie, then you dig up a tenth point of law that will knock Mrs. Longchamps' nine points—er—er—"

"But there is no legal way to get Rosie back. We are striving to find a way to get her back. Then we will have nine points of the law in our favor."

"Get her back by hook or crook, Douglas. The law is nothing but trickery—you outsmart that despicable, unspeakable, odious Mrs. Longchamps."

Mrs. Waithe kissed her husband and went to her room.

Dennis Marley tapped at the library door.

"'Tis me, Mr. Waithe. Shall you be needin' the car again tonight?"

"No, Dennis. By the way, have you seen Rosie since she left us?"

"Why—er—a couple times, sir."

Mr. Waithe nodded slowly. Dennis Marley, the Waithe chauffeur, felt his face burn. He had always liked Mr. Waithe. He wondered what the devil business it was of his whether he, Dennis, saw Rosie or Violet or Lily or any other girl, so long as he was on the job.

"I was going to suggest that you might like to use the car tonight, to take your friend Rosie for a ride."

Chauffeur Embarrassed

"Why—why thank you, Mr. Waithe."

"She is your friend, isn't she?"

"Yes sir, we're quite friendly."

"I believe that I noticed signs of friendship before the girl left us—and—er—by the way, Dennis, I am adding ten a week to your wages."

"Now that's grand of you, Mister Waithe."

Dennis beamed.

"And—er—by the way again," Mr. Waithe said after Dennis had thanked him profusely and started to go, "here's a little something. If you are taking Rosie out for a ride tonight, you might like to take her in some place up the road—dancing and supper—it all costs, you know. But girls appreciate it."

Dennis accepted the money, thanked Mr. Waithe in a daze, and started to back away.

"Er, Dennis, I don't mind your telling Rosie that you have a $10 raise, starting this week, but I suggest that you make no mention to her about this little tip and my advice to stop at a roadside cafe, or about my other suggestion, that you take my car and give her a ride. Er—she might think I was trying to sort of bribe her to come back to us."

"I got you, sir—thank you, sir."

Dennis departed for the garage to telephone Rosie.

But he hadn't "got" Mr. Waithe, he wasn't within miles of getting the gist of it all.

Several nights a week Mr. Waithe let Dennis use the car. Now and then he handed him an extra tip and murmured something about a shore dinner up the road with Rosie, or trying out the new dance pavilion at the beach.

Three more weeks went the way of all weeks.

"Have you done anything about scaring that awful Mrs. Longchamps into letting Rosie come back to cook for us, Douglas?" Mrs. Waithe asked.

"I am working on that tenth point of the law, my dear. Legal matters require time, you know."

Mrs. Waithe sighed.

"When you talk a lot like that it is because you wish to avoid saying things or to cover up things. I'm becoming discouraged about ever getting Rosie back."

Mr. Waithe strolled out to look at the roses. He went over to the big garage and looked at the vines. He went in to chat with Dennis, who was polishing the big car.

Suggests Marriage

"Dennis, do you know, if the three upstairs rooms were nicely furnished, it would make a splendid home for you—for any chauffeur—in the event he married."

Dennis dropped the chamois polishing rag and stared at his employer.

"If ye'd furnish it up, I'd be bringing along a bride—I'm ready now to ask her—I have a guess she'll take me, sir."

"Er—do I know the fortunate lady?"

"Rosie, sir. Miss Rosie, who cooked for you once."

"Indeed. Well, suppose you let Rosie select the furniture she would like for the rooms over the garage, curtains and all, and send me the bill—and there'll be a substantial wedding present. Er—of course, if Rosie became your wife, you wouldn't want her to be living over at Mrs. Longchamps', on Walnut street?"

"Sure not, sir."

"If she cooked here and you two lived in the pretty quarters over this garage—er—ideal, I should say. Why not take one of the cars and run around and talk it over with her?"

Dennis drove away an hour later.

The next day Mr. Douglas Evans Waithe was able to inform his wife that Rosie would return on the fifteenth after she was back a week from a week's honeymoon with Dennis.

"You darling—now I know that you are smart despite being a lawyer," his wife cried, embracing him.

"Tut—tut—this was purely legal—it enabled me to win the tenth point. Law, my dear, is a wonderful thing."

"You and your silly tenth point—it is you who is so wonderful!"

Mr. Douglas Evans Waithe quite agreed with his wife on this point, but was too diplomatic to tell her so.

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

(Copyright, 1930.)

Citizens of Chicago's aristocratic suburb, Evanston, are organizing pistol clubs and taking lessons on how to disarm hoodlums.

Gangsters should retaliate by organizing bridle path clubs.

We do not like to throw a wet blanket on worthy impulses but we can't help but suspect that the undertakers are behind any movement to encourage gentle people to try to disarm gunmen.

* * *

If Evanston's nice people want to combat racketeers they should fight fire with fire. For example, put slot machines in women's clubs.

And encourage respectables to make their own gin.

"A sap," says Genevieve, the kitchen cynic, "is a guy with a penny dance income and a night club outgo."

(News Item.)

"Alta and Irma Bihler, who play in the Gerber Silver Saxophone band of twenty-nine, are complaining that their wrist watches stop during rehearsals and start again as soon as they stop playing. There are two theories for the phenomenon. One is that vibration is the cause of the stopping."

And give a book a bad name and it's a movie.

And it seems to be generally agreed among the legal fraternity that a man has a right to be considered insane until he has been proven not guilty.

Honorable Mention

We are a little more than pleased to give Special Mention today to Codliver O. Doakes, rapid calculator, who has done a great deal more than lots of other people we might mention to relieve the unemployed. "C. O. D.," as he is called by those who have learned to love him, calculates that if employers will merely shorten working hours short enough, the unemployed will be perfectly contented because there won't be much difference between working and not working.

And this country won't get back on its feet so long as the gin holds out.

Milestone on the path to civilization—

(Brainerd, Minn., Tribune.)

The Cass County Fair promises to be out of the ordinary, as the folks have decided they are not going to turn over their fair to a lot of the city slickers with all their grafts on blankets and a lot of junk, which is disposed of at about fifteen times the actual value, nor pay for punk vaudeville acts which wore whiskers when Methuselah was a kid.

* * *

Anyway, you've got to admire Calvin Coolidge for—

1. Getting out of the insurance racket.

2. Refraining from opening a miniature golf course.

3. Selling his U. S. Steel stock.

4. Not wearing a beret.

Keep the Streets Clean

Director Maits Can Rest Assured the Public Will Approve His Campaign.

At the direction of Dr. C. B. Maits, director of public health, several persons have been arrested for dumping garbage and refuse in the streets. Dr. Maits announces he intends to proceed vigorously against persons who thus offend against cleanliness.

The director can rest assured the public will approve his campaign. It is commendable for esthetic as well as sanitary reasons. Garbage in the streets is a menace to health, particularly in sections like the Hill district and the Strip, where the practice is said to be most prevalent, and where the population is dense. But even if it were not a menace to health, the streets become unsightly and disagreeable if people are permitted to use them as dumping places for slop and trash.

There is nothing that contributes more to making a city attractive than clean, tidy thoroughfares.

They Promote Thrift

Building and Loan Associations Are An Asset To Every Community.

The meeting of the United States Building and Loan League, held in Pittsburgh, is a reminder that building and loan associations are exceptionally strong in this country, and exceptionally strong in Pennsylvania. It is a splendid thing for the country and for the state that this is so.

The American people are not noted for thrift. Their reputation is rather the contrary. But building and loan associations represent thrift, and we are so far ahead of some of the European countries in respect to them that a delegation of Britishers was over here only a few weeks ago to see if they could not get some pointers.

Americans own their own homes to a far greater extent than the people of most nations, and the credit goes in large measure to the building and loan associations. Many a Pittsburgh home owner would hardly have been able to finance the construction of his house if he had not had the assistance of his neighborhood building and loan association.

False Economy

Interest Saved by Postponing Auto Registration Does Not Compensate for Disadvantages.

Owners of only 118,437 of the 1,528,914 passenger automobiles registered in Pennsylvania have applied for their license tags for next year.

The delay of the majority in sending in their applications is being interpreted in various ways. Undoubtedly one of the important factors in the matter is the proclivity to put things off until the last moment. It is the same kind of proclivity that resulted in hundreds of autoists being fined this week for failing to get their cars inspected before November 1.

Benjamin G. Eynon, commissioner of motor vehicles, calls attention to the fact that the interest on the average license fee for two months does not amount to more than 10 cents. You may feel that you do not care to let the state have the use of your $10, or whatever the amount is, any longer than is necessary—that you will do better to keep the money for the two months remaining in 1930 and save the interest.

Well, 10 cents is worth saving. But the comfort in having the matter attended to, the comfort in the assurance that you are not going to be caught in a last-minute jam and fail to get your tags on time, is worth more than 10 cents to most people.

Increase in Rabies

Situation Demands That Dogs Be Kept Under Proper Control at All Times.

A few days ago a policeman clubbed a dog to death on Sixth avenue. Spectators, horrified, complained to the Mayor and the Humane Society. The policeman's defense is that he believed the dog to be mad, and clubbed it because he feared it might escape or a bullet might go astray if he shot before he had disabled the animal.

The evidence on which the policeman based his belief that the dog had hydrophobia has not been disclosed. Many dogs are suspected of being rabid which are not; but it is a fact that rabies has been on the increase in Pennsylvania. The Bureau of Animal Industry at Harrisburg reports that its records show 43 more cases of the disease this year than in the corresponding period of 1929.

Rabies is one of the most dreadful of diseases. In one of the current ''best sellers,'' the memoirs of a famous physician, he tells of his experiences in the Pasteur Institute in Paris. Read that chapter in ''The Story of San Michele,'' and you will agree that drastic measures are justified to stamp out the disease.

The protection of the public, and of the dogs themselves, demands that dog owners keep their pets under proper control at all times.

How to Answer Beggars

Tell Them to Apply to the Helping Hand Society, 439 Water Street.

If you stroll leisurely through the streets in the downtown section, stopping now and then to look into a shop window, you are almost certain to be accosted by beggars.

Some of them tell plausible stories of unemployment and destitution. You believe them and are inclined to help them.

Don't give them money. If they are impostors, vagrants or loafers who would not work if they had a chance, or professional mendicants, you will be encouraging them to continue their mendicancy.

Tell them to go to the Helping Hand Society, 439 Water street. The Helping Hand Society states it has facilities for lodging and feeding from 3,000 to 5,000 people, and will gladly provide for all needy persons.

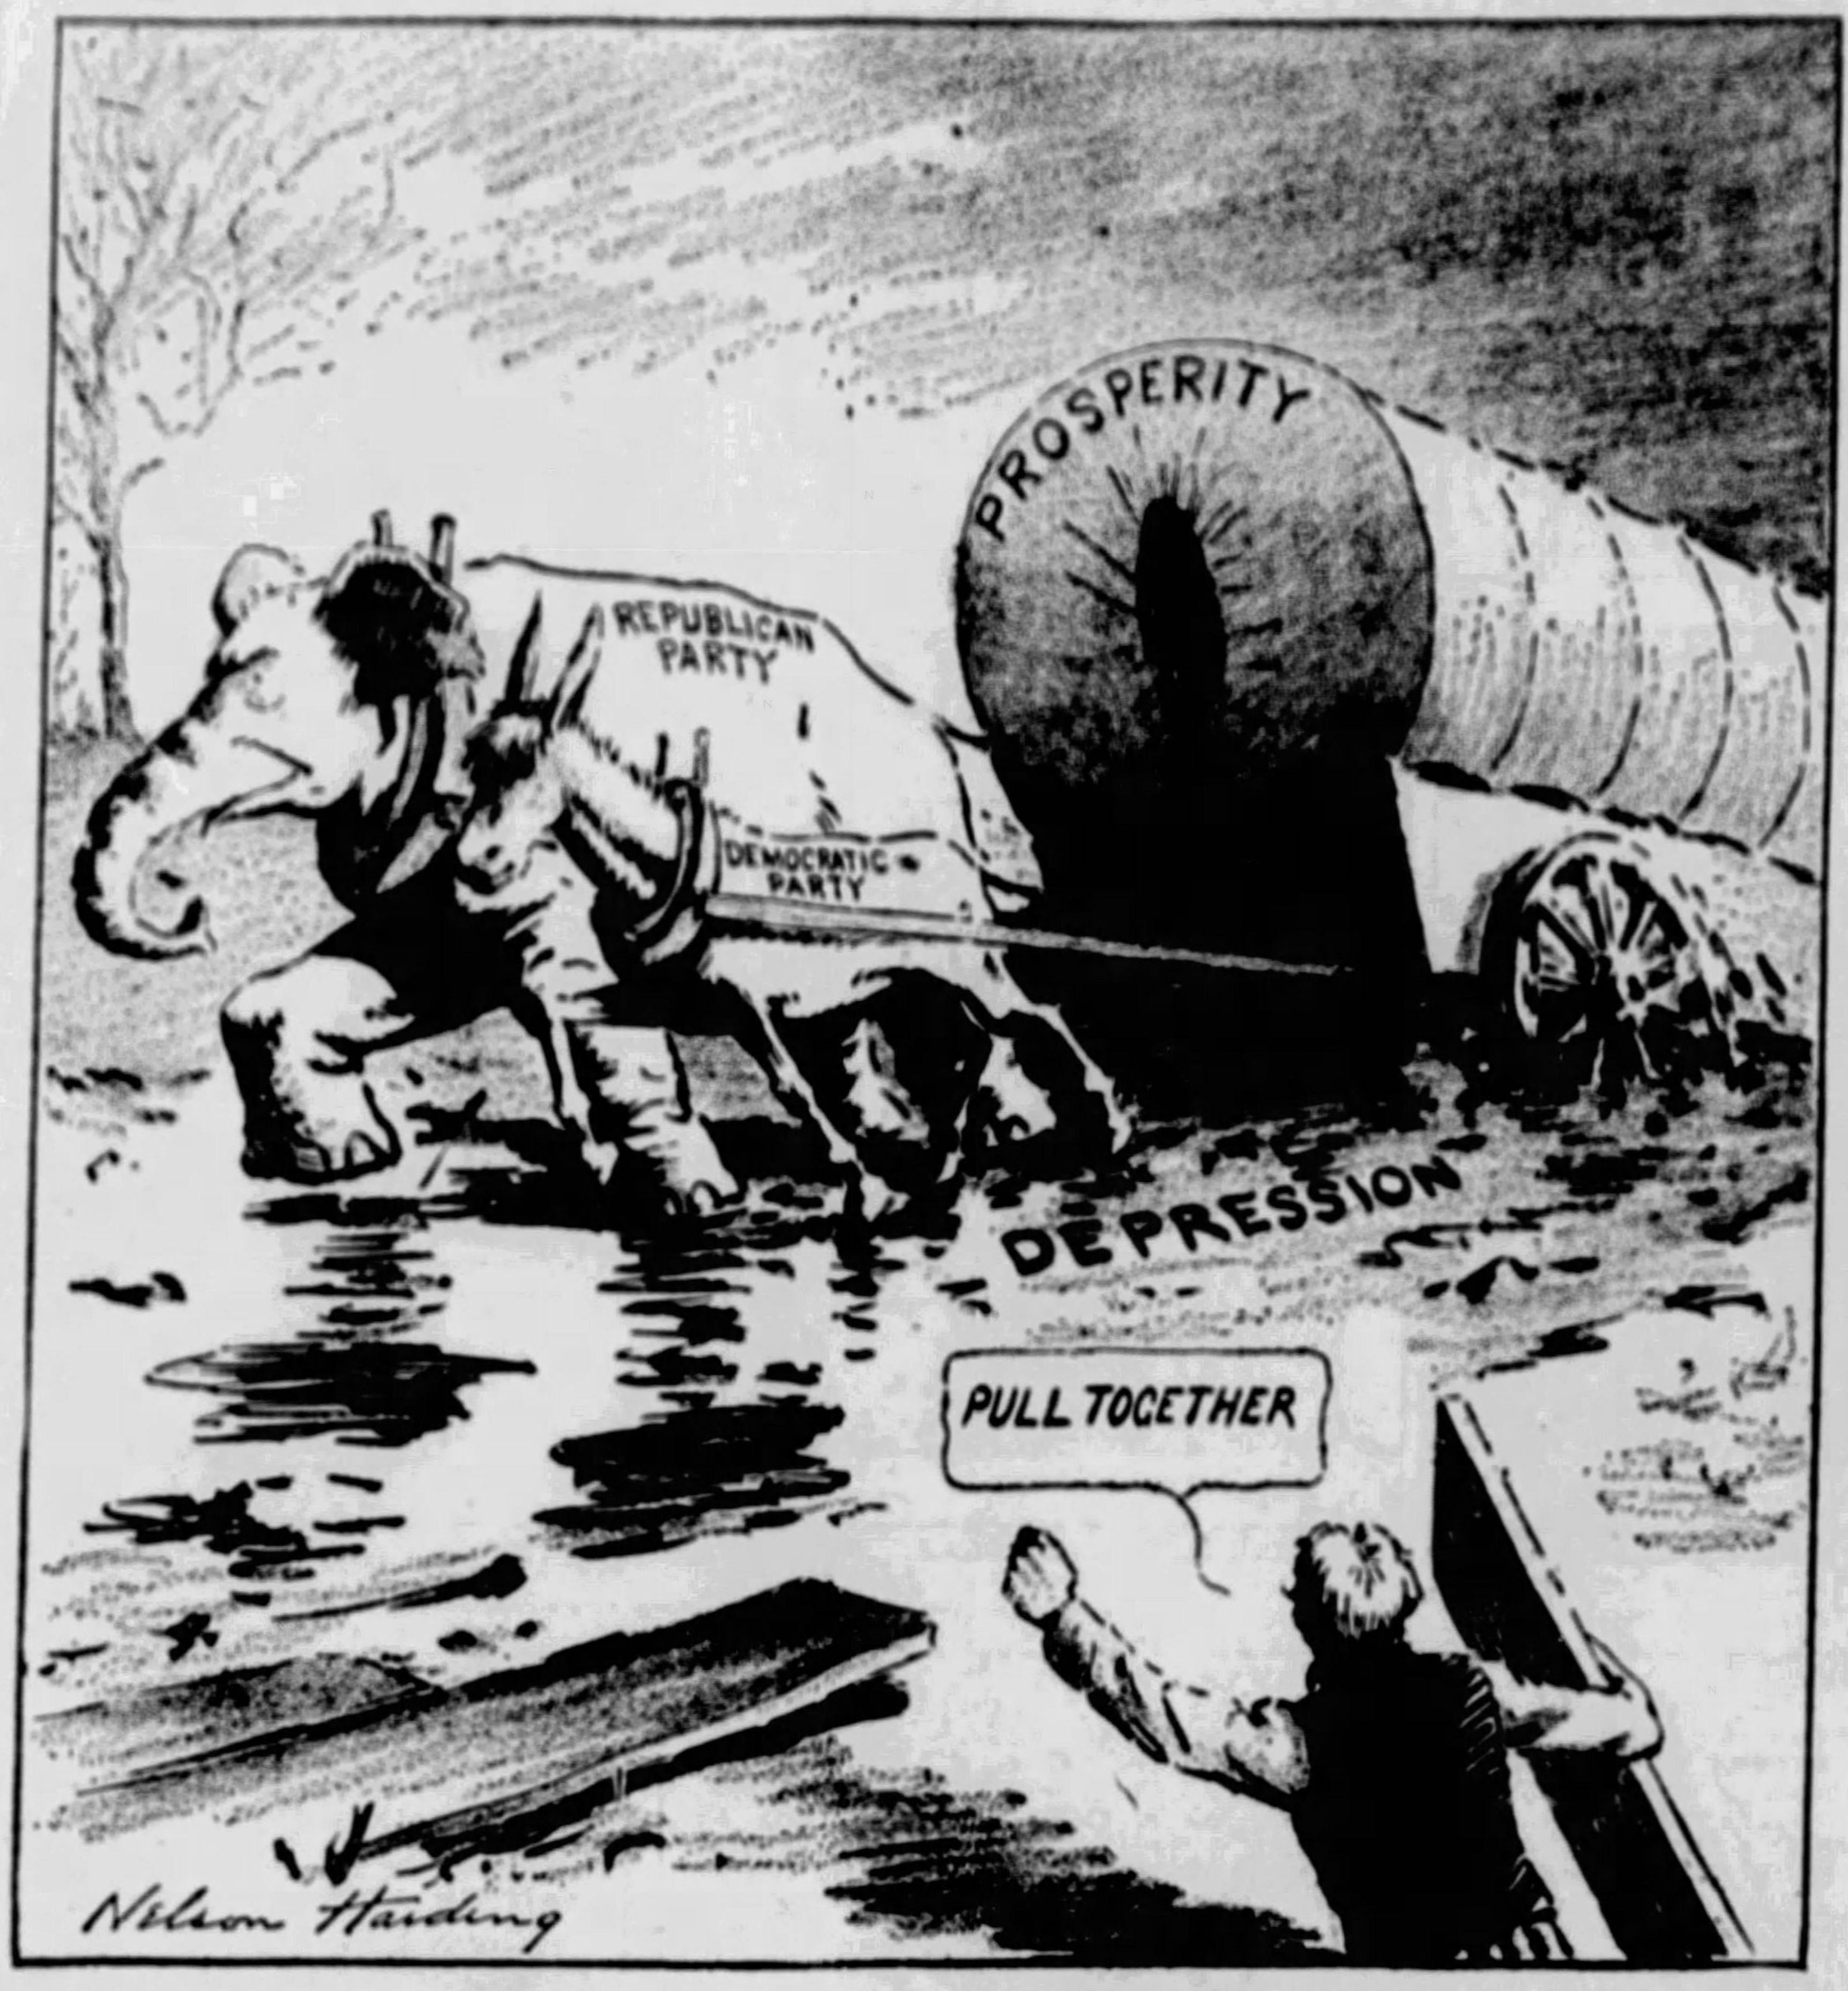
Right Kind of Political Pull

By Nelson Harding



The skeptical would scarcely think,
The cynical would never dream
Of seeing this embattled pair
Now pull together as a team,

The wagon mired in the ruts
Has been too long in trouble,
And teamwork may help get it out
With these two hitched up double,

"Bugs" Baer Says:

It Became a War Debt

There isn't much difference between a counterfeit and a good hundred dollar bill.

When you have either one you are an object of suspicion.

We saved up for seasons to accumulate one of those tasty bits of indorsed tapestry. Next to Mount Shasta it's the biggest lump we ever saw.

Then we tried to get it changed for the prestige it would bring us. All we wanted was a slight dash of prestige. We didn't care for it in habit forming quantities.

The result was that we were booted off street cars, out of stores, kicked loose from orange drink stands and graduated with contused honors from a lunch wagon.

When you shove a hundred dollar doily over the counter the cashier's eyebrows become petite pompadours. Her lips tighten up like brakes on a hill, and her nose dwindles to a very sharp point.

Then she pushes back the bill to you and snatches the cigar out of your mouth.

The biggest mistake was asking a friend to change the hundred.

He didn't have the change. But he tried to borrow seventy of it.

Here's some very economical philosophy. It will save you money in the long run if your feet hold out.

If your friend hasn't got change for a hundred dollar bill you are a sucker to let him know you have got one.

The reaction is too terrific. We finally took that bill back to the bank where we got it. The cashier looked at it, jumped away quick, blew a police cantata on a whistle, and then called a sudden directors' meeting on a miniature bankruptcy course.

The directors polished it with their glossy thumbs, patted it smooth with their influential hands, moistened it with their compounded breaths and dusted it clean with their recent merger of whiskers.

Those boys are braver than the man who lassoes guinea pigs for scientific barbecues.

They wouldn't take it unless we could get three reliable signatures. And everybody knows we must wait until the next administration for that.

We finally gave it to the landlord who raised the rent eleven dollars to eliminate the change.

THE PYTHAGOREAN SCHOOL

By Archibald Henderson

It is customary to speak of Pythagoras as a great teacher, the author of a famous theorem, and a forerunner of Euclid. But most important of all that can be said of Pythagoras is that he was the founder of a great school of thought. He and his followers made important contributions to mathematics, music, astronomy and other branches of knowledge.

They pooled their resources, so to speak, and contributed collectively rather than individually. It is Henri Poincare, the famous mathematician and philosopher, who well said, "Scientists know full well that all their forces put together are none too much for the stupendous task they have undertaken."

After all, science really means knowledge, in the original sense. But it means far more, it is far more intensified, than this. It represents a technic, a discipline, a mode of approach.

As Benjamin Ginzburg says in his fascinating work, "The Adventure of Science;" "The Greeks set the example of disinterested scientific research, and they 'carried on' without any of the material rewards which have fallen to the lot of modern science. Science was for them its own reward."

It may almost be said truthfully that Pythagoras founded the science of mathematics. So powerful was the effect of his forceful personality upon his followers that Empedocles, a Greek philosopher who lived half a century after Pythagoras, said of the latter. "He was a man of prodigious knowledge who acquired the profoundest wealth of understanding and was the greatest master of skilled arts of every kind; for, whenever he willed with his whole heart, he could with ease discern each and every truth in his ten—nay, twenty—men's lives."

Pythagoras was a great teacher, because he taught his pupils not merely so much knowledge, but something much more influential and far-reaching, a "way of life." In his scheme, as in our modern universities, great stress was thrown on physical culture, especially as he dwelt at Croton, famous for its athletics.

Education, with Pythagoras, did not connote merely training of the mind; it represented both physical and mental development.

Another basic element of this soul-training, for which the Pythagoreans strove, was music. It was regarded as a purifying influence, purging the soul of much perilous stuff and dissolving harmoniously the dissonances of life. It may be recalled that Socrates held an extremely lofty view of music; and once termed philosophy the highest music.

According to accepted tradition, Pythagoras was walking along a road one day and, on listening to the musical sounds made on a blacksmith's hammers, observed that the respective sounds were separated by an interval of an octave. His meditative mind prompted him to weigh the two hammers and he was delighted to find that the two weights were in the ratio of two to one.

By trying similar experiments by measuring strings which produced musical notes, he confirmed the principle. He also discovered that an interval of a fifth had a string ratio of three to two, a fourth, four to three.

Ginzburg says, if somewhat extravagantly, that this discovery of the law of simple numbers is perhaps the greatest scientific discovery that has ever been made—at least if considered symbolically.

Once it was discovered that even music, one of the most subtle and elusive of the arts, was governed by numerical relations, it was not a difficult step to the conclusion that "numbers rule the world." In the Pythagorean school, music was studied along with mathematics, philosophy along with religion.

The Pythagorean school was notable for inaugurating a systematic study of numbers.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

"To be in hell is to drift: to be in heaven is to steer," said Bernard Shaw.

You've proved that, haven't you? The hours, the days, the tragic years you've wasted, not knowing what you wanted to do . . . drifting this way and that—Of course you should have known. You hated yourself for not knowing.

Felt you were a fool, a hypocrite, a coward. Yet, sick as you were of indecision, decision wouldn't come. Round and round you went in the slow, stagnant current of uncertainty.

How you hated times like those! If hell holds any worse torment, you don't want to know it.

And then, in contrast, those few proud times when you did decide what to do and did it! Of course, the doing wasn't always easy. Sometimes it meant cruel sacrifice—bitter loneliness and real risk. But no matter how closely your decision, it never wasted and shamed you as indecision did.

And though sometimes those acts of decision left you poorer in pocket and weary in flesh, they made you richer in spirit. You felt a bigger man or woman after them.

If only you could be like that always! If you could be one of those strong, calm spirits to whom decision comes naturally.

Don't fool yourself! Decision never comes naturally to any one! No one is born calm or certain. Everyone is born aimless and frightened and confused. We must all learn to make up our minds—and we learn how to make up our minds by making them up.

Our minds, in the beginning, are as indefinite as our muscles. Uncertain films. With each motion—and in healthy life the motion is constant—the muscle hardens, thickens, becomes a more reliable tool. Exactly the same rule applies to the mind. With each thought—and in healthy life, thought is as constant as motion—the mind hardens, deepens, becomes a more reliable tool.

The muscle was not the result of one motion. It was the result of continual motion. Some of the motions were successes — some were failures—but they all contributed to the growth of the muscle.

The child did not wait to know whether it was right before it went ahead. It simply grabbed. And the unsuccessful grabs were as important as the successful grabs . . . they all contributed to growth.

That's the way muscles are made. That's the way minds should be made. Learn how to make your mind up by making it up. Do you say—"Well, I don't need to make up my mind now—I'll wait until something really important happens." If you wait you'll have no mind to make up when the crisis arrives. Make up your mind now.

Take some definite stand on each subject, each experience that presents itself, however small. Decide! Maybe you'll decide wrong. Maybe you'll wish you hadn't. But decide, nevertheless. For that is the only way to acquire the power of decision. And no matter how costly your blunder, it is better than spending your life in the hell of indecision.

WHAT CHANCE HAS HE GOT?

New York has a new monthly magazine, Alimony, published in behalf of ex-husbands who are still supporting their ex-wives.

This amusing cartoon is reproduced from its latest number by permission of the editor.

Good people, opposed to divorce and alarmed by its growth, will find much to think about in it.

One out of every six or seven marriages today ends in the courts. The speed of modern life, the loosening of home ties, the indifference of young people to religion, are among the causes.

A lesser cause is the ease with which a woman, if she is good looking, can work on the sympathies of jurors.

In such cases, as the unlucky husband says here, ''What chance does a fellow have?''

Alimony is justified in the majority of cases, especially those in which the divorced couple have children. It was designed to discourage divorce and protect the home.

In the hands of unscrupulous women and venal lawyers, however, it can become an aid to divorce and an enemy of the home.

That is one side of the divorce question that is seldom considered by judges, juries or newspapers.

There are other sides, of course, but for a change you may be interested in this one.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Thoughts while strolling: Who remembers when fast bicyclists were called ''scorchers''? And fast ladies called ''fly''? Snow white berets. Lee Olwell's blond eyebrows. That ''Beauty Parlor Dog Shoppe'' near the Ritz Tower. W. A. Brady is never without a cigar.

Idwal Jones, a San Francisco boy, who made good in the city. Japanese youths who go hatless. That Sealyham suggests Chief Justice Hughes. Henry Villar, the Ile de France's Chesterfield. Beer parlor fiddlers playing "Ach du Lieber Augustin." Cardini, the vaudeville magician, looks like Raymond Hitchcock.

Girls when stared at used to jeer: "See anything green?" Today they call you a soandso. And what became of prepared chalk ladies used to use for face powder? President Hoover is at home in newsreels with children. But fidgety with grown-ups.

The luncheon hour furore. Freshly done coiffures, orchids and artless prattle. Ted Saucier, the Waldorf press agent. New York seems becalmed between 3 and 4 in the afternoon. They always flock to good old Charlie Murray comedies. How old is Jules Glenzer?

Always a celebrity or so in Mrs. Lee's Chili Villa on West 49th street. Whatever became of Pauline, the hypnotist? Those garage touts who try to shoo you in their parking places. And hoot if you drive on. The late Walter Kingsley suggested Ziegfeld's line: "Glorifying the American Girl."

A curious knot around the hotel where Jack Diamond was shot. And they still stop to stare at the Joe Elwell residence. The Broadway wise insist five people know who assassinated Rothstein. I can never remember whether it is Fannie or Fanny Hurst.

That half-finished building at West End and 72d street. And did they ever finish the opera in Mexico City? Billie Burke and daughter motoring to Hastings. Statues all gone in front of the Amelia Bingham home. Who remembers barn door pants that buttoned on each side?

I was right in the middle of the romantic account of how I acquired my first job in New York—you know, Ragged Dick up from the gutter—when I chanced to peek at the right-side down figures of the luncheon check. The entire room shimmied, then spun and out of the fog a voice strangely my own was trying to carry on. I don't remember how it finished. It was all a lie anyway. But I do know it was my first luncheon party in 15 years and my last from now on.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You have been planning for years what you will do with money which you think some rich relative is likely to leave to you.

So confident are you that you will receive this inheritance that you have made little effort to prepare yourself for your future.

You may be greatly disappointed.

People do peculiar things sometimes in making wills.

You may be justly entitled to bequests from rich relatives, but it is unwise to count on them and regulate your living with this in mind.

What about your pride, or haven't you any?

Wouldn't you rather be independent of assistance from anyone?

Why depend so much upon gifts that may never come?

If you have conducted your financial affairs upon the basis of future gifts, your condition will be what if you never receive them?

Wouldn't it be more satisfactory to have a plan and carry it out by your own efforts with the desired result—old age independence?

It is easy to relax efforts and go aimlessly.

Many have learned too late that their dreams of being a "heir to" was a myth, and found themselves too old to do anything for themselves.
